

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OF THE

Auditor of Accounts

FOR

...VERMONT...

1901-1902.

Report of the Auditor of Accounts.

STATE OF VERMONT,
OFFICE OF THE AUDITOR OF ACCOUNTS,
BENNINGTON, VT., September 1, 1902.

To William W. Stickney, Governor:

Pursuant to Vermont Statutes, section 318, which provides as follows, the Auditor "Shall make a biennial report to the Governor, giving an abstract of the revenues and disbursements of the State for each fiscal year, properly classified, by whatever officer received or made, so that it will appear on what account they were received or made, and also a summary of the amounts allowed in each county, and shall suggest in his report such modifications of law as appear necessary to procure a faithful accounting of public funds," I hereby make to you my biennial report.

I do not attempt to comply with that part of the Statute which requires me to give an abstract of the revenues of the State. Under the law and the practice in this State this matter is especially within the cognizance of the State Treasurer, whose report upon that subject I believe to be correct.

I have attached hereto an abstract of the disbursements of the State for the two preceding fiscal years and believe the same to be correct.

I have drawn orders in the aggregate as follows:

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901..... $685,126 98 For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902..... 688,059 18

During the preceding biennial term orders were drawn:

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899..... $630,712 76

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900..... 614,617 19

For a tabulated comparative statement of the total expenses of the State for the four preceding fiscal years I refer you to the last pages of this report. From such statements it will be observed that the expenses of the State are increasing, and it will also be observed that the indebtedness of the State has decreased in the four preceding fiscal years $470,526.93, and at the close of the last fiscal year was $46,871.64.

The increase in the expenses of the State for the last biennial term over the preceding term is substantially in the following departments and of the amounts hereinafter stated:

Agricultural	$ 15,414 54
Educational	3,174 74
Military	11,595 34
Insane	67,760 95
Printing	7,393 85
Public Health	5,785 50
Special Commissions	3,828 98
Sergeant-atArms	4,496 93
Administration of Justice	8,729 49

Several of the departments show a decrease of expense in the last biennial term over the preceding, notably:

Penal.	$ 28,554 92
Soldiers' Home	6,340 00

$34,894 92

$128,180 32

To one item which shows an increased expense I desire to call especial attention, and that is the item of printing. In connection with this I also call attention to the matter of stationery and blanks, which does not appear in any separate account, but items of which are in the account of almost every department. These two items approximate $20,000 annually, and each year are likely, under present methods, to increase. While it is probable that there is a legitimate excuse for some of this, yet I believe if the matter of printing and stationery were in the hands of a competent individual to manage in a business like manner better results to the State would be obtained, both financially and otherwise, and the likelihood of a future increase of expense in this line be prevented.

My observations for the last four years convince me that there is a tendency to some increase in nearly every line of the State expenses—in some instances warranted and in others unwarranted. But it is not the province of the Auditor of Accounts to suggest legislation upon any of these subjects. If any suggestion can be made as to the perfecting of the machinery of the Auditing Department, to the end that all money may be spent as the law provides and none expended that is not authorized, my duty in this behalf is performed.

Section 5430 of Vermont Statutes provides that the fiscal year shall close on the 30th day of June of each year, and also provides that the accounts of the May and June terms of court shall be carried forward to the succeeding fiscal year. In other words, there is one fiscal year for one part of the State expenses and another fiscal year for the other part. In my judgment this produces confusion in the keeping of accounts, is liable to lead to errors and should be changed so that there will be but one fiscal year for all the departments of the State.

Many of the regular appropriations are made for calendar years, and the Auditor's accounts must be so kept that the account of each department entitled to such appropriations will show its account by calendar years. The amount of these appropriations is frequently changed by the Legislature. If appropriations could be made for fiscal instead of for calendar years another source of confusion and liability to error in the keeping of accounts would be avoided.

Without going into the matter in detail, as in my report of two years ago, I beg again to suggest that the present method of compensating county clerks for their services is bungling, unsatisfactory, antiquated and ought to be superseded by an intelligible, fair and modern method. A disagreement has existed between some boards and the Auditor as to whether the individual members of these boards were entitled to receive a per diem and expenses while attending certain gatherings of a public kind, although to such members of an instructive nature, in other States. I have uniformly held that the law did not authorize the Auditor to pay either the per diem or expenses of the members of boards for such service, believing the Statute does not contemplate their education at the State's expense. If the law upon this subject could be made more certain than it now is I believe it would be of advantage.

For an annual expense of about $3,000 the State of Vermont expects a careful and accurate auditing of an annual expenditure of from a half to three-quarters of a million of dollars, and in connection with this work requires the Auditor to visit each county twice a year, each probate court once a year, and to make annual settlements with all officers, boards, institutions and commissions who receive or disburse the moneys of the State. He must also examine thousands of claims against the State of Vermont annually, and is charged with keeping books of account relating to all transactions of the State of which he has jurisdiction.

For a full enumeration of his duties, as the foregoing are not all of them, I refer you to chapter 24 of Vermont Statutes.

In my judgment one person, with such clerical assistance as is allowed the Auditor under existing law, cannot fully and with the best results to the State perform all the work that is cast upon this office.

I do not think financial loss has accrued to the State by reason of the present condition, except such as is liable to occur when auditing is not conducted with close attention to details, yet I feel constrained once more to go upon record by calling attention to the fact that a revision and readjustment of the law relating to, and the duties cast upon, the office of Auditor is required; that unless this is done, sooner or later the State may meet a substantial financial loss which can easily be prevented by attention to the matter at the present time.

In closing this my second term of office I desire to thank most heartily all those with whom I have had official relations, and to be speak for my successor in office the same courteous treatment that has been accorded to me.

Respectfully submitted,

ORION M. BARBER, Auditor of Accounts.

AUDITOR'S ORDERS.

Since entering upon the duties of this office but one series of order books have been used and all orders drawn by me have been numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the last order drawn by my predecessor, Hon. Franklin D. Hale, whose numbering for this series of orders began with the first order drawn after June 30, 1898, and was numbered 1.

NOTE. In the foregoing summaries and recapitulations there is included for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1901, $590.41, and for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1902, $225.70, paid to the clerk of Bennington County Court for completing certain records of said court under the provisions of Number 289 of the Acts of 1894.

In the foregoing accounts, relating to court expenses, it will be observed that the itemized statements for some of the counties for certain terms are not completed. This arises from the fact that at the expiration of the last fiscal year the accounts that are thus incomplete had not then been settled and audited, but as certainty in book-keeping can only be attained by letting the accounts, as stated in this report, appear as shown by the Auditor's ledger at the close of each fiscal year, no attempt is made to include in this report accounts not settled and audited until after the close of the fiscal year. The items not shown as above will appear in the next Auditor's report.

STATE'S ATTORNEYS.

This account, as will appear, includes in a few instances fees paid to a state's attorney's clerk before the grand jury, and also attorney's bills in insane pauper cases, paid to state's attorney's substitutes.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

TREASURER

TO THE

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

OF THE

STATE OF VERMONT

FOR THE TWO YEARS ENDING

June 30th, 1902.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

STATE OF VERMONT,

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, July 1, 1902.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to submit herewith my report of the operations of this office for the biennial period ending June 30, 1902, as required by section 28 of chapter 2 of the Constitution of Vermont.

The total cash on hand at the commencement and close of the period, and the receipts and disbursements for each of the years composing it, are as follows, viz.:

Cash on hand July 1, 1900 Receipts, year ending June 30,	$117,161 20
1901	1,166,808 80
Total	$1,283,970 00
Disbursements, year ending June 30, 1901	1,182,410 07
Cash on hand July 1, 1901 Receipts, year ending June 30,	$ 101,559 93
1902	1,485,088 46
Total	$ 1,586,648 39
Disbursements, year ending June 30, 1902	1,261,679 11
Cash on hand June 30, 1902	$ 324,969 28

From this last amount are payable the State school and highway taxes, aggregating $233,639.07, apportioned for distribution to the several towns and cities.

TEMPORARY LOANS.

No temporary loans were outstanding at the commencement of the period covered by this report. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, $260,000 was borrowed for the use of the State ($110,000 under act of 1898 and $150,000 under act of 1900), of which $160,000 was paid during the same year, leaving $100,000 outstanding July 1, 1901. To this balance was added in the ensuing year $275,000, but all loans of this character were taken up prior to June 30, 1902. The interest payments on this class of obligations were: $3,094.51 for the first year of the period and $6,741.36 for the second.

The total expenditures for interest of all descriptions were $24,727.37 and $27,724.13, for the respective fiscal years.

TRUST FUNDS.

The deposit under section 4216, Vermont Statutes, by the Vermont Life Insurance Company of Burlington (reinsured in March, 1900, by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York) is still held with other funds in this office, no decision yet having been rendered by the Supreme Court as to the right of the reinsuring company to withdraw it.

CORPORATION TAXES.

The receipts on this account show considerable increases over preceding years, the totals received from the various classes of corporations assessed on deposits, appraisal or gross earnings for the years ending in 1901 and 1902 being $453,543.42 and $462,816.62, respectively. The increase in license taxes paid (based upon the capital stock or deposit of corporations doing business in the State) during the year just closed is especially noteworthy, the amount received being $16,418, or over $4,000 more than ever before. For this credit is due Hon. J. E. Cushman, Commissioner of State Taxes, who has added to the list of corporations chargeable with this tax a large number who were never before assessed.

CLAIMS UNDER NO. 86, ACTS OF 1898.

No change has occurred in the status of these claims, which were presented to the U. S. Government for allowance in 1900. They consisted of amounts paid members of the First Vermont Volunteer Infantry (war with Spain) for medical expenses incurred. A measure making provision for the payment of medical expenses of officers and enlisted men on leave or furlough during the Spanish-American war was passed by the U. S. Senate at the session of Congress just closed, but failed to become a law. There is therefore no prospect at present of receiving reimbursement for the amounts expended under this act or No. 73 of the Acts of 1900, which extended the provisions of the previous enactment to include amounts expended in excess of $100 in each case.

Very respectfully,

Very respectfully, JOHN L. BACON, State Treasurer.

STATE OF VERMONT,

In Account with John L. Bacon, Treasurer. CREDIT.

STATEMENT OF THE SEVERAL FUNDS HELD IN TRUST BY THE STATE TREASURER, JULY 1, 1902.

FUND.	Amount.
Agricultural College Fund. This fund is all in registered bonds of the State, payable in 1910	$135,500 00
Legislature of 1880. This fund is deposited in bank, drawing interest at 3 per cent	1,065 00
12, 1874. This fund is all in United States 4 per cent. registered bonds, due 1925	100,000 00
12, 1874, consisting of United States 5 per cent. registered bonds, due 1904	100,000 00 26,150 00

UNITED STATES DEPOSIT MONEY.

This fund, amounting to $669,086.74, was received by the State in 1837 as a deposit of her share of moneys accumulated in the national treasury and not needed for the support of government. It is apportioned to the several civil divisions in proportion to their population, the income to be devoted to the support of schools.

Below is given a table showing its reapportionment, by the Treasurer, according to the census of 1900, and the loss and gain by towns and counties as compared with the amounts previously held by them under the apportionment of 1891.

The sums shown as distributed in 1900 are now in the hands of the trustees of public money of the several towns and cities, except the following amounts due to towns not electing trustees and to unorganized towns and gores, which are retained in the State treasury:

Averill	$ 35	05
Avery's Gore (Essex county)	3 3	10
Bethel	222	22
Bloomfield	577	69
Buel's Gore (Chittenden county)	38	94
Ferdinand	79	83
Lewis	15	58
Norton	866	11
St. George	175	23
Victory	625	00
Warren's Gore (Essex county)	3 3	10

The rate of interest on amounts so held in the State treasury is fixed by section 742, Vermont Statutes, as amended by No. 29, Acts of 1900, at 3 per cent per annum.

THE HUNTINGTON FUND.

Under the provisions of Act No. 230 of the Legislature of 1884, the securities received from the estate of Araunah Huntington were sold, and the proceeds applied to the general purposes of the State.

The sum realized from the sale was $211,131.46, and this constitutes the fund upon which interest is paid by the State. The annual income at 6 per cent is $12,667.88.

THE FOLLOWING SECURITIES BELONGING TO THE FUND HAVING ONLY A NOMINAL VALUE HAVE NEVER BEEN SOLD AND ARE STILL ON HAND IN THE TREASURY:

STATE TAX.

The Legislature of 1900 assessed a State Tax of fifteen cents on the dollar of the Grand List of 1901, one-half to be paid into the Treasury of the State on or before the tenth day of November, 1901, and the remaining half on or before the tenth day of June, 1902.

Notices for payment of this tax were issued from this office to the treasurers of the several towns, cities, etc., on the tenth day of October, 1901, and the first installment of the tax was generally promptly paid.

The Grand List for the year 1901, as certified to this office by the Secretary of State, amounting to $1,790,149.92, and the tax of fifteen cents on the dollar aggregated $268,522.49, apportioned to the several towns, cities, and unorganized towns and gores, as follows, viz.:

STATE SCHOOL TAX

FOR 1901 AND 1902.

The Legislature of 1900, by Act No. 30, amended the provisions of Vermont Statutes (section 758), so as to provide for the annual assessment of a tax of eight cents on the dollar upon the grand list for the support of public schools, instead of five cents as theretofore. The act referred to (not naming a date on which it was to take effect), went into force February 1, 1901, and it therefore did not affect the amount of the tax of 1901, the assessment of which was made and notices thereof mailed to the several treasurers and collectors December 31, 1900, as required by law.

This tax is distributed on or before the tenth day of July annually, among the several cities, towns, and unorganized towns, in proportion to the number of legal schools sustained in each during the school year ending March 31 preceding, as certified by the State Superintendent of Education.

The grand list for the year 1900 as certified to this office by the Secretary of State was	$ 1,772,436	22
And the tax of five cents on the dollar amounted to	88,621	81
The tax for 1902 was assessed upon the grand list of 1901, viz	1,790,149	92
And the tax of eight cents on the dollar amounted to	143,211	99

The following table shows the amounts paid into the treasury by the several cities, towns, unorganized towns, and gores for each year, and the sums subsequently repaid to them on the number of schools maintained for the year 1901, together with the apportionment of the tax of 1902, which is now about to be distributed, viz.:

FIVE PER CENT. STATE HIGHWAY TAX

FOR 1901 AND 1902.

Agreeably to the provisions of Vermont Statutes as amended by No. 65 of the Public Acts of 1898, notices for the collection of the five per cent. State highway taxes of 1901 and 1902 were sent out December 31, 1900 and December 31, 1901, the assessment being laid upon the grand lists of 1900 and 1901, respectively.

The grand list for the year 1900, certified to this office by the Secretary of State, was $1,772,436.22. The tax of five cents on the dollar amounted to $88,621.81, which with the balance brought forward from the preceding year, $11.38, made a total for distribution in 1901 of $88,633.19.

The tax for 1902 was assessed upon the grand list of 1901, viz.: $1,790,149.92, and amounted to $89,507.50. The amount of the 1901 apportionment not certified as expended for permanent roads and brought forward for addition to the tax of this year, was $919.58, and the aggregate available for distribution is $90,427.08.

Details of the assessment of these taxes and their apportionment upon the basis of road mileage appear in the following table:

PAYMENTS BY TOWNS ON ACCOUNT OF EXCESS PROFIT ON LIQUOR AGENCY SALES.

1901 AND 1902.

Under the provisions of sections 4456 and 4457 of Vermont Statutes as amended by No. 88 of the Public Acts of 1898, towns are required to pay into the State Treasury any excess of profits over ten per cent. of the total sales of liquor, and it is made the duty of the Auditors to report to the State Auditor and Treasurer the condition of the liquor agency accounts of the several towns and cities within fifteen days after making a settlement thereof.

The total sales of liquor for the year preceding February 1, 1901, as returned to this office, were $280,037.29; profits on same, $27,955.45; excess paid State, $3,012.77. For the year preceding February 1, 1902, the figures were: total sales, $356,622.20; profit, $33,609.91; excess paid State, $2,759.43.

The following abstract shows the details of the reports received as to total sales, profits, amounts retained by towns, and excess due the State:

ABSTRACT OF REPORT FROM TOWNS MAINTAINING LIQUOR AGENCIES FOR 1901 AND 1902.

Towns omitted did not maintain an agency.

REPORT.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR OF FINANCE, Poultney, Vermont, August 7, 1901.

As required by our state law I herewith publish the sworn statements of the Treasurers of the Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies; Investment Companies and Building and Loan Associations organized under the laws of this state, and also the reports of Investment and Loan Companies and Building and Loan Associations organized under laws of other states, doing business in this state.

The statements and reports show the condition of such institutions at close of business June 30, 1901.

SAVINGS BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Twenty-two Savings Banks and nineteen Trust Companies have done business in the state during year ending June 30. 1901.

DEPOSITS AND DEPOSITORS.

The aggregate deposits in the Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies at close of business June 30, 1901, was $40,209,059.23, which is $1,918,664.89 more than was on deposit June 30, 1900.

The number of depositors was 123.151, a gain of 4,797 during the year.

107,695 residents of Vermont had deposits of $33,415,771.89, 15,456 non-residents had deposits of $6,769,544.66.

Resident depositors show an increase for the year of 3,896 in number and $1,546,885.67 in amount of deposits.

Non-resident depositors increased 901 in number and the amount of their deposits increased $348,036.54.

Three banks have reported among liabilities dividends due depositors July 1, 1901, to the amount in all of $23,742.68, without classifying same between resident and non-resident depositors.

This $23,742.68 is included in the $40,209,059.23 aggregate amount of all deposits, but is not included in either the above division of deposits between resident and non-resident depositors, nor in Tables Nos. 5 and 7 of this report.

The average amount of deposits to each depositor was of June 30, 1901, $326.50, an increase in average for the year o $2.98.

The average deposit to each resident depositor was $310.28 as compared with $307.02, the average June 30, 1900.

The average deposit to each non-resident depositor was $437.99, which is $3.19 less than the average June 30, 1900.

Depositors to the number of 3,460 had each more than $1,500 in a bank. The total amount of such deposits was $7,358,444.53, an average of $2,126.72.

This class of depositors show an increase of 240 in number $588,425.18 in amount, and $24.24 in average since June 30

RESOURCES.

The total resources of all Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies on June 30, 1901, were $43,384, 106.19, and exceeded the resources June 30, 1900, by $2,029,758.15.

SURPLUS.

The twenty-two Savings Banks have a "Surplus Fund reserved" amounting to $1,025,136.32; this is $41,894.46 more than the "Surplus Fund reserved" of the same banks June 30, 1900.

The total surplus and accumulated profits (exclusive of capital stock) of all the Savings Banks and Trust Companies was $2,085,647.65, an increase during the year of $116,465.86.

TAXES.

During the last year taxes to the amount of $255,159.85 have been paid into the State Treasury by the Savings Banks and Trust Companies: this is $13,566.56 more than were paid the year before.

EXPENSES.

The expenses of the Savings Banks and Trust Companies for the year have been (in addition to taxes) $201,918.79, which is $11,087.16 more than the expenses of the previous year.

The average expense for each $1,000 of deposits cared for was $5.02, which is four cents more than the average expense per $1,000 for year ending June 30, 1900.

DIVIDENDS TO DEPOSITORS.

The total amount paid (or credited) to depositors as dividends or interest was $1,224,210.47, which is less by $2,896.90 than the amount credited the year before.

Digitized by Google

Savings Banks paid interest as follows:

Twenty paid at the rate of three and one-half per cent.

Two paid at the rate of three per cent.

Trust Companies paid interest at the following rates:

Three paid four per cent.

Four paid three and one-half per cent. One paid three and one-fourth per cent.

Ten paid three per cent.

DIVIDENDS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The amount of dividends paid by Trust Companies to stockholders for the year was $51,500, being $1,000 less than wa paid during the year previous.

Three Trust Companies paid no dividends to stockholders

One paid fourteen per cent.

One paid ten per cent.

Two paid eight per cent.

Seven paid six per cent.

One paid five per cent. Three paid four per cent.

One paid three per cent.

BRADFORD SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY.

This Trust Company has been in the hands of a Receive since February 1, 1898.

The depositors have received fifty per cent from the Receiver, ten per cent having been paid during the last year. Another dividend will doubtless be paid in the near future

RANDOLPH SAVINGS BANK.

This Bank has been in the hands of a Receiver since Jun 18, 1900.

One dividend of thirty per cent has already been paid

A dividend of about fifty per cent will be soon paid as it is believed that the Receiver will be able to pay still a other dividend, so that the creditors will realize about nine per cent of their claims.

Reports of the Receivers of both the Bradford Savin Bank and Trust Company, and the Randolph Savings Ban are herewith published:

REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR OF FINANCE. POULTNEY, VERMONT, August 20, 1902.

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

As required by law, I herewith submit my report as Inspector of Finance for the year ending June 30, 1902.

With this report is published the statements of the several Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies of the State and the statements of all Loan and Investment Companies and Building and Loan Associations doing business in the State.

Such statements are verified by the oaths of the proper officers of the different corporations and show the condition of such institutions at the close of business June 30, 1902.

SAVINGS BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Twenty-two Savings Banks and nineteen Trust Companies were doing business in this State during the entire year ending June 30, 1902.

Prior to the close of the year the Bellows Falls Trust Company of Bellows Falls partially organized, but did not receive deposits or open for business prior to June 30, 1902.

DEPOSITS AND DEPOSITORS.

SURPLUS.

The twenty-two Savings Banks have a "Surplus Fund reserved" amounting to $1.222,379.81; this is $197,243.49 more than the "Surplus Fund reserved" of the same banks June 30, 1901.

The total surplus and accumulated profits of these Savings Banks on June 30, 1902, were $1,696,833.76. This is $123,892.37 more than the surplus and profits June 30, 1901.

The surplus and accumulated profits of the nineteen Trust Companies on June 30, 1902, were $605,745.09. This is $93,038.83 more than the surplus and profits June 30, 1901.

The surplus and all accumulated profits of the Savings Banks and Trust Companies combined amounted June 30, 1902, to $2,302,578.85, an increase of $216,931.20 during the year.

TAXES.

During the last year the Savings Banks and Trust Companies paid into the State Treasury in taxes $272,440.05, being $17,280.20 more than were paid during the previous year.

EXPENSES.

The expenses of the Savings Banks and Trust Companies for the year have been $210,365.36, which is $8,446.57 more than the expenses for year ending June 30, 1901.

The average expense for each $1,000 cared for was $5.01, which is one cent less than the average expense per $1,000 for year before.

DIVIDENDS TO DEPOSITORS.

The depositors have been paid or credited interest or dividends to the amount of $1,257,183.66. The amount paid or credited during year ending June 30, 1901, was $1,224,210.47.

Savings Banks paid interest as follows:

Seventeen paid at the rate of three and one-half per cent. Two paid at the rate of three and one-fourth per cent.

Three paid at the rate of three per cent.

Trust Companies paid interest at the following rates:

One paid three and three-fourths per cent.

Four paid three and one-half per cent.

One paid three and one-fourth per cent.

Twelve paid three per cent.

DIVIDENDS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The total dividends paid by the Trust Companies to stock-holders during the year were $52,875, $1,375 more than was paid in dividends during the year ending June 30, 1901.

Four Trust Companies paid no dividends to stockholders.

Two paid twelve per cent. One paid ten per cent.

Two paid eight per cent.

Seven paid six per cent. One paid five per cent.

Two paid four per cent.

BRADFORD SAVINGS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY.

This Institution has been in process of settlement under a Receiver since February 1, 1898.

The depositors have received in dividends from the Receiver sixty per cent—one dividend of ten per cent having been paid during the last year.

RANDOLPH SAVINGS BANK.

A Receiver appointed by the Court of Chancery took control of this Bank June 18, 1900.

The depositors have received ninety per cent of their deposits.

Reports of the Receivers of both the Bradford Savings Bank and Trust Company and the Randolph Savings Bank are herewith published.

TABLES.

On pages 117 to 131 of this report are tabulated statements as follows:

- No. 1. Aggregate resources and liabilities of Savings Banks and Trust Companies in the State at close of business June 30, 1902.
- No. 2. Classified summary of the resources of the several Savings Banks and Trust Companies at close of business June 30, 1902.
- No. 3. Classified summary of liabilities of Savings Banks and Trust Companies at close of business June 30, 1902, and number of depositors in each bank.
- No. 4. Rates and amounts of dividends to both depositors and stockholders, and amounts of taxes and expenses paid during year ending June 30, 1902.

No. 5. Classification of deposits and depositors.

No. 6. Miscellaneous statistics.

No. 7. Growth of Savings Banks and Trust Companies of Vermont since 1850.

LICENSES.

The following corporations organized under the laws of other States now hold licenses granted by me (licenses expire December 31, 1902):

The Vermont Loan and Trust Company of Grand Forks, North Dakota.

The Connecticut Building and Loan Association of Hartford, Connecticut.

EXAMINATIONS.

I have examined all Savings Banks and Trust Companies in the State during the past year, and when a National Bank occupies the same building my examination has been made at the same time the National Bank has been examined by the United States bank examiner.

I have also examined all the other corporations which have furnished statements for this report.

I have assisted the State Auditor in his examination of the accounts of the State Treasurer.

Proper vouchers were exhibited by the State Treasurer and his accounts were found to be correct.

I have examined the bills, vouchers and accounts of the State Auditor.

The Auditor exhibited to me proper vouchers for all orders drawn, and I found in his office books showing in detail all the transactions of his office.

CONCLUSION.

The Savings Banks and Trust Companies of this State have gained in strength during each of the last two years and are as I firmly believe, each and all in a healthy condition.

The deposits have steadily increased, although the rate of dividends to depositors has been reduced.

The surplus of the Savings Banks and Trust Companies has increased largely, and thereby greater security given the depositors.

In my opinion it would be well to require Savings Banks to add to their surplus until such surplus amounts to not less than fifteen per cent of the deposits.

Two savings banks have invested in mortgages on real estate out of this State amounts somewhat larger than the fifty per cent of assets allowed by section 4096. The attention of the officers of such banks has been called to the matter and the amounts invested in such mortgages will soon be reduced to the legal limit.

Respectfully submitted.

FREDERICK S. PLATT, Inspector of Finance.

COMMISSIONER

OF THE

STATE OF VERMONT,

FOR THE PERIOD ENDING

JUNE 30, 1902.

Report.

Office of Commissioner of State Taxes, Burlington, Vt., September 1, 1902.

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Pursuant to the requirements of the Statute, I herewith submit my report as Commissioner of State Taxes for the biennial period ending June 30, 1902, showing by the schedules hereto appended the amount of corporate and collateral inheritance taxes collected and paid to the State Treasurer during such term.

For the first time during the existence of our corporation and collateral inheritance tax laws the biennial income therefrom to the State of Vermont is in excess of one million dollars, viz., $1,051,017.64; the increase over the last biennial period being $169,395.28.

ANNUAL LICENSE TAXES.

During the present biennial term this office has experienced considerable difficuty in collecting or attempting to collect annual license taxes from corporations which had hitherto escaped payment of this tax. Some of these corporations have wholly neglected to furnish the required returns or to answer any correspondence addressed to them touching their failure so to do.

It is true that our present law provides in Section 576 V. S. that if a corporation neglects to pay the annual license tax on or before the last day of February, the Commissioner shall notify the secretary or clerk of such corporation by mail of its neglect, and may permit the payment of such tax within thirty days thereafter by the payment of the additional sum of one dollar. Section 578 V. S. also provides that if such corporation neglects to pay its annual license tax within thirty days after having been so notified, the Commissioner shall make complaint to a chancellor and a copy of said complaint shall be mailed to the secretary or clerk of such corporation at least twelve days before hearing; if upon hearing before the chancellor it appears that said taxes have not been paid, he shall declare said corporation dissolved and a record of such dissolution shall be made in the office of the Secretary of State. The provisions of the statute just referred to can apply only to Vermont corporations, and cannot be applied to any corporation organized under the laws of any other State or Government.

It will be noted that our laws do not require Vermont corporations to notify any branch of our Government of its election or re-election of officers, and that this office can consult no official record wherefrom it can ascertain the name of the clerk or secretary of such corporation at any given time, except as to corporations that have filed their annual license tax returns. The returns by these corporations may not disclose the then present incumbent of the office of clerk, as their annual elections are held at such time as are established by their respective by-laws; so that if the returns of a corporation show the name of its clerk at the time of making the return in the month of February of a given year, it is by no means certain that the same person will be clerk of that corporation in March or April of the following year.

If a Vermont corporation fails to make its return and this office is required to give notice, as provided by Section 576 V. S., it has no official record touching the person to whom such notice should be sent. This would also be true as to any proceeding before a chancellor to dissolve the corporation as provided by Section 578 V. S.

It would, therefore, seem desirable that the law should be so amended that any notice required to be sent to a corporation through the mails should be addressed to the corporation as such, instead of its clerk or secretary.

While it is believed that the foregoing provisions touching the dissolution of Vermont corporations by proceedings before chancellors should be retained, with suitable amendments as to the manner of giving notices, it is respectfully submitted that the law should be further amended so that no corporation, either State or foreign, can collect or enforce in the courts of this State any debt or obligation incurred while its annual license tax is overdue and unpaid, or while such corporation is unregistered or improperly registered. a provision in itself would have the effect of casting upon corporations the burden of seeing to it that they be properly registered and their annual license taxes promptly paid, whereas under the present system they may purposely evade the payment of these taxes without substantial injury to themselves and to the great annovance of the official seeking to enforce payment.

A very large per cent of corporations cheerfully and promptly comply with the law as it now stands, but it is to reach the corporations that prefer to pay their taxes at their own convenience, or not at all until cumbersome legal proceedings are instituted, that these amendments are suggested.

The records show that upwards of one hundred and sixty corporations paid an annual license tax in the year 1902 that did not pay in the year 1901. Some of this number were new corporations recently organized or recently having begun business in this State, but many of them had been doing business for several years without paying an annual license tax, and were only gotten upon the tax-rolls by persistent demands.

Many foreign corporations before attempting to begin business in this State write to this office asking for registration blanks and instructions touching their qualification to do business in Vermont. Many letters have also been received from attorneys in other States upon this subject, not naming the corporation which they represent. Upon being informed that they are not required to file any registration papers, and are required to pay only an annual license tax to the State, they appreciate that nothing is required to be done by them except to wait until such time as the Commissioner of State Taxes shall locate them and forward blanks to them, and in that way some foreign corporations escape the payment of this tax about which they are solicitous before they enter the State and of which they have little concern after having entered.

We have no law requiring foreign corporations, except insurance, surety and investment companies proposing to do or doing business in this State, to register or to notify any State official of the fact that they are engaged or intend to engage in business herein, so that all information not volunteered by such corporations must be sought out by this office from unofficial sources.

If Vermont had a proper registration law I feel confident that it would be cheerfully complied with by most, if not all, foreign corporations hereafter coming into the State. Many other States have such registration laws, and corporations look upon registration as a matter of course.

Some States require a registration fee to be paid, but if it were thought unadvisable to require a registration fee, both State and foreign corporations should be required to pay a pro rata license tax for the unexpired portion of the year subsequent to their beginning business.

I would recommend that the registration returns be made in triplicate, one copy to be filed with the Secretary of State, one with the Commissioner of State Taxes and one be retained by the corporation.

In these registration returns every foreign corporation should designate some person residing in this State as a proper person upon whom process against said corporation should be served and to whom all notices and blanks touching taxation should be forwarded. In many instances in the past blanks have been forwarded to the Vermont office of a foreign corporation, and upon inquiry as to why the tax had not been paid, reply would be received that blanks had been forwarded to the home office without giving the location or post-office address of the same. In several instances returns have not been received at this office until two or three months after they should have been received.

Sections 575 and 577 V. S. provides that every Vermont corporation having capital stock or deposit, except such as are organized for charitable or religious purposes, shall be liable to pay an annual license tax from the time of its organization until it surrenders its charter or dissolves its organization and causes a certificate thereof to be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. When such a corporation has entirely ceased doing business and its funds have been collected and distributed among its creditors and stockholders according to law, or when a corporation has become organized without having contracted any indebtedness it would seem just that some simple and inexpensive way should be provided to cancel its charter or articles of voluntary association, and to provide for a record thereof to be made in the office of the Secretary of State and Commissioner of State Taxes, whereby such corporation will be thereafter relieved from such an annual license tax.

ANNUAL LICENSE TAX FROM INSURANCE COMPANIES.

During the present biennial term mutual insurance companies having upwards of four hundred thousand dollars of assets held for the benefit of policy holders, and insurance companies having a limited amount of capital stock, which together with assets held for the benefit of policy holders exceed four hundred thousand dollars, have been required to pay a maximum license tax of $50.

The annual license tax is in the nature of a privilege tax exacted of every foreign corporation doing business in Vermont, and of every corporation, excepting charitable or religious institutions, organized under the laws of this State having capital stock or deposit. The scope of this law is such that all corporations doing or carrying on business in this State for profit must aid in defraying the expense of our Government, according to their respective financial strength or ability as shown by the amount of capital stock or deposit.

The word "deposit" has accordingly been held to include not only money deposited in a savings bank, savings bank and trust company or trust company, but to include all assets held in trust with which a corporation carries on its business; that such assets stand in lieu of funds raised by the sale of capital stock and are therefore embraced in the term "deposit." Some of the insurance companies cheerfully complied with the ruling while others reluctantly paid under "protest."

The wording of this statute should be so amended that no insurance company having assets in excess of four hundred thousand dollars can reasonably contend that it is exempt from the payment of the maximum annual license tax because it is a mutual company, nor because it has a smaller amount of capital stock, while its assets held for the benefit of its policy holders are expressed in millions. A law that would require an insurance company having capital stock of upwards of four hundred thousand dollars to pay fifty dollars per year as a privilege tax for doing business in this State as a corporation, and which would allow another insurance company of equal financial strength, but having capital stock of less than four thousand dollars in amount or no capital stock at all, to carry on the same kind of business and to escape with a smaller payment or no payment at all, would certainly be open to the criticism of not being uniform in its provisions.

TAX ON SURPLUS FROM INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Section 580 V. S. should also be amended so as to clearly indicate the method of computing the "surplus above the necessary reserve" held by insurance companies incorporated under the law of this State.

RAILROADS.

Every railroad is required by the Board of Railroad Commissioners to make a detailed report annually touching the matters covered by Section 566 V. S.

It would certainly require less work on the part of the railroad company, and be more satisfactory to the Commissioner of State Taxes, were the law so amended as to require duplicate reports to be filed with the last-named officer in lieu of the returns now required by Section 566 V. S.

TELEPHONE COMPANIES.

Certain telephone companies in the State are largely if not wholly co-operative companies in effect, and have little or no gross earnings upon which the tax of three per cent can be computed.

It would seem advisable that such companies be required to pay upon a mileage basis, as in the case of telegraph companies, but to allow no option in lieu of the mileage basis unless the annual license tax exceeds a given sum.

As will be seen by the schedule of telephone taxes herewith appearing, many systems have paid practically no taxes during the last biennial period. No telephone company, stock-holder therein, nor owner of a telephone system, is required to pay any local taxes either on the system or the capital stock of a telephone company. For that reason it would appear only just that the taxpayer should not be allowed the option of paying three per cent upon the gross earnings of the system in lieu of a certain rate per mile of poles and wire, unless the three per cent upon gross earnings should exceed some substantial sum.

Respectfully submitted,

J. E. CUSHMAN, Commissioner.

OF THE

Adjutant and Inspector General

OF THE

STATE OF VERMONT

FROM

July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902, Inclusive.

STATE OF VERMONT.

ADJUTANT, INSPECTOR AND QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
FAIRLEE, August 1, 1902.

To Hon. William W. Stickney, Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR—Having been appointed Adjutant and Inspector General by His Excellency Governor Edward C. Smith October 1, 1900, to serve out the unexpired term to December 1, 1900, of Brev. Major General Theodore S. Peck, resigned and retired, I herewith have the honor to submit my report as Adjutant, Inspector and Quartermaster General to June 30, 1902, including supplementary report of Adjutant and Inspector General T. S. Peck.

Upon accepting the office of Adjutant and Inspector General I found the books and records in excellent condition. Since that time the vault connected with the office in State House has been cleared of all the old wooden cases and refurnished with modern iron filing.

NATIONAL GUARD.

The strength of the National Guard August 1, 1902, was 770 officers and men, making one regiment of infantry, of 12 companies, 60 men each, or three battalions. Hospital corps, 16 men. In addition to this a section of artillery at Northfield (80 officers and men), known as Norwich University and State Military College.

The location of the companies remains the same as last report. The armories occupied by the National Guard are all leased from private parties. Two companies are far below the standard, or from where they should be, and if there is not a great improvement soon I would feel compelled to recommend they be disbanded and new companies organized to fill their places in the regiment.

ENCAMPMENTS.

The annual encampment of 1900 was held in August upon State camp ground. I would respectfully refer you to report of Adjutant and Inspector General T. S. Peck.

The encampment of 1901 was held agreeably to A. G. O. No. 9, at Camp Governor Stickney, upon State camp ground, and was considered quite a success. I would respectfully refer you to the reports of Colonel J. Gray Estey and the battalion commanders. Through the courtesy of the commanding officer at Fort Ethan Allen, the rifle range was tendered to the National Guard for the annual target practice.

The annual encampment section artillery was held at Northfield in June, agreeably to S. O. No. 22. I would respectfully refer you to reports of Major Frank L. Howe and Captain C. S. Carleton, inspecting officers.

June inspections were held during the month of June each year, in 1901 Colonel J. Gray Estey accompanying the Adjutant General and Battalion commanders through the entire inspection.

The Battalion Majors were allowed to take their Adjutants with them during inspection of 1902, which proved of great assistance in checking of property and in many other ways. For a more detailed report I would refer you to the report of the Battalion commanders.

OFFICERS' SCHOOLS

were held each year—in February, the 13th and 14th, 1901, at Brattleboro, and February 18 and 19, 1902, at Burlington. Officers were detailed to report upon the work, and I would refer you to their reports.

PERMANENT CAMP GROUND.

The permanent camp ground near Fort Ethan Allen is in good condition and ready for use at any time when required by the troops of the State. The new building erected upon the camp ground in 1901 for toilet or sanitary purposes has proved a success and blessing, as we believe it had much to do with the health of the men during last encampment, there being less sickness than ever before.

COMMISSIONS AND RESIGNATIONS.

Number of commissions issued to officers of the National Guard during my term of office is 49. The number of resignations accepted is 15. Eleven officers have been placed upon the retired list.

ORDERS.

From October 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902, have issued fifty Special Orders, fourteen General Orders and four circulars.

By Act No. 69, Laws of 1900, the Laws governing the militia were changed agreeably to General Order No. 3, following:

I would respectfully recommend that section 10 of said act be repealed.

STATE OF VERMONT.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, FAIRLEE, November 30, 1900.

Mounted officers below the rank of major shall receive one dollar per day in addition to the pay of the rank, and forage for one horse.

The four Aides-de-Camp, the Judge Advocate General, the Surgeon General and Inspector of Rifle Practice, when ordered out by the Commander-in-Chief, shall be paid two dollars per day and transportation.

All enlisted men to be furnished with subsistence by the State, at a cost not to exceed fifty cents per day.

Regimental non-commissioned staff shall be paid as first sergeants.

Regimental non-commissioned officers and battalion, non-commissioned staff shall be paid as sergeants.

Officers shall be furnished with transportation and quarters when in camp, mounted officers shall be furnished transportation for their horses when the distance to the rendezvous exceeds twenty-five miles. The pay for each officer and men borne upon the rolls and present shall be paid from the State Treasury upon proper vouchers, under regulations prescribed by the Commander-in-Chief.

Sec. 10. The commissions of all company and regimental officers shall expire in three years from the date thereof, and new elections shall immediately be ordered to fill the vacancies.

Article 12. Section 158 of the Regulations for the National Guard of Vermont is amended to read as follows: An adjutant with the rank of captain; a quartermaster with the rank of captain; a commissary of subsistence with the rank of captain; one surgeon with the rank of major; one assistant surgeon with the rank of captain and one assistant surgeon with the rank of first lieutenant; an inspector of rifle practice with the rank of captain, and a chaplain with the relative rank of captain. The non-commissioned staff of the regiment will be as follows, viz.: One sergeant major, one quartermaster sergeant, and one commissary sergeant. The regimental non-commissioned officers will consist of one hospital steward, a drum major, a chief trumpeter and two color sergeants, and the colonel may enlist one orderly outside the strength of companies.

By order of His Excellency,
WILLIAM W. STICKNEY,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.
W. H. GILMORE,
Adjutant General.

The National Guard of the entire country were watching during the last session of Congress what is called the "Dick Bill," which provides for the entire change of the militia law. It passed the House during the last hours of the session, and it is to be hoped that it will pass the Senate early in the next session. Among the many changes, it provides for an exchange of the .45-calibre Springfield rifle for the .30-calibre U. S. magazine rifle. Also for the mobilization of the Guard of different States, and many other important changes.

The recent order from the War Department relating to the change in uniforms necessarily calls for quite an expense, but with careful management I think that the annual amount credited to the State from the United Sates, of $8,496.73, will nearly, if not quite, meet the expense.

PERMISSIONS GRANTED.

Company M, Captain E. H. Prouty commanding, to visit Ottawa. Canada, September, 1901.

Company K, Captain C. F. Burnham, to participate in parade Labor Day at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., September, 1901.

Company E, Captain T. G. Carswell, to participate in prize drill and parade, Nashua, N. H., September, 1901.

Company M, Captain E. H. Prouty commanding, to visit

Montreal, Canada, May, 1902.

Hereto attached will be found reports of officers with recommendations.

CONCLUSION.

I desire to thank your Excellency for the interest you have at all times manifested in the Guard, and your Staff for many courtesies received; Colonel J. Gray Estey and other officers for their valuable services and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. GILMORE, Adjutant General.

STATE OF VERMONT.

ADJUTANT AND INSPECTOR-GENERAL'S OFFICE, BURLINGTON, September 26, 1900.

Hon. Edward Curtis Smith, Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit herewith my report from the 1st of August, 1900, to date:

In pursuance to General Orders No. 3, A. G. O., dated July 6, 1900, the First Regiment, Vermont National Guard, Colonel J. Gray Estey commanding, held its annual encampment at Camp Governor Smith, on the permanent camp grounds, from the 11th to the 18th of August, inclusive.

The regiment was quickly mobilized, and throughout the entire time of the encampment the officers and men performed their duties faithfully and in a soldierly manner.

The command was inspected on the morning of the 12th, the result of which was most satisfactory. The officers and men were found desirous to do their best in every way. Although there was more or less rain during the time of this encampment, much was learned. The sanitary condition of the camp was first class and there was but little sickness.

On the afternoon of August 17th, accompanied by your Staff, you reviewed the regiment, and the ceremony was well performed. After the review Colonel Estey sent the battalion commanders in different directions scouting through the country and also drilling in battle tactics, which duty was well performed. The fact that in this regiment there are so many officers and men who served in the Spanish-American war is the reason why the command is in such excellent condition; for never before has a Vermont National Guard regiment appeared so well.

For detailed report, I respectfully call your attention to the reports of Colonel J. Gray Estey, Majors Howe, Dyer and Johnson herewith attached, marked "A." It gives me great pleasure to say that Colonel Estey has proved himself thoroughly competent as a commander, in which he is, in most instances, ably assisted by the officers under him.

I also submit the report of Colonel Edmund Rice, commanding Twenty-sixth Regiment, U. S. Inf. Vols., at Jaro, Philippine Islands, dated July 30, 1900, in which he most highly compliments Company D, Captain Cornelius M. Brownell (of Burlington) commanding, and Second Lieutenant S. E. Worthington (of Bennington) and their men for gallant service in action in November and December, 1899. For detailed reports, see Colonel Rice's report herewith attached, marked "B."

Having served as Adjutant General for almost twenty years, I desire to vacate the office, to date October 1, 1900.

After a continuous service of almost forty years in the army for the preservation of the Union, and in the Vermont National Guard, during which time I have endeavored to work for the best interests of the State of Vermont, the National Guard, the veteran soldiers of the war of 1861 and '66, their widows and orphans, as well as those of the Spanish-American war, I respectfully request to be placed on the retired list.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
THEODORE S. PECK,
Adjutant General.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRATTLEBORO, VT., September 1, 1900.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report that pursuant to General Orders No. 3, also dated July 6, 1900, an encampment of this Regiment was held on the State Camp Grounds, August 11th to 18th inclusive.

 $\mathsf{Digitized} \; \mathsf{by} \; Google$

A table showing the attendance of the various Companies is appended to this report and marked "A."

The Companies arrived in camp nearly on schedule time, and in excellent order. Tents were pitched by the Companies as they arrived, only the officers' tents being up before.

A copy of G. O. Nos. 7 and 9 from these headquarters is herewith appended marked "B," giving the daily routine of luty.

Sunday morning, August 12th, the Inspector General made a complete inspection of the Regiment, this with guard mount, parade and church service conducted by the Chaplain completed the routine of duty for Sunday.

Monday, August 13th, no drills of any kind were held on account of the heavy rains. A school of officers was held in the afternoon in the Quartermaster's building.

On Tuesday morning all the Companies went to the range and fired five shots per man at two hundred yards. The scores made show an improvement over the shooting at previous camps, but more time should be devoted to aiming drills in the armory before men are given fixed ammunition to go on the range.

This shooting was to have been a competition for the Centennial Trophy, but on account of some irregularities among some of the Companies, among them being the Company making the highest score, the contest was declared void and the cup was ordered sent to headquarters.

I am strongly opposed to competition for the trophy in camp, as it brings discord into the Regiment, and as has been shown, gives a chance for unmanly and unsoldierly conduct. I would respectfully recommend that the cup be sent to the State House and placed with other trophies of the sort.

As an inducement for practice in shooting I would respectfully recommend that the State provide more suitable decorations for the higher grades of marksmanship.

Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday morning were devoted to Company, Battalion and Regimental drills. A very marked improvement was shown from the first to last drill, and could the length of the encampment be increased to ten days I believe the Regiment would show still greater improvement, but as one day is required for coming to camp and one in returning home, it leaves too few days for actual work.

On Thursday, at 2 p. m., the Regiment was reviewed by his Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

After the review the Second Battalion, Major H. E. Dyer, with a detachment of the Hospital Corps, was sent out from camp with instructions to march to any place not more than five miles from camp and to entrench near the road upon a good place for defence, and instructions were also given to Lieutenant-Colonel Bonett, commanding the two remaining Battalions, to find and attack the Second as soon after daylight as practicable. Colonel Bonett sent out scouts during the night to locate the enemy, who succeeded in bringing him such correct information that he was able to attack at the weakest point.

In this connection I wish to mention the very efficient work of Sergeant Docherty and Private Senter of Company H, to whom most of the credit for correct information was due. The instructions were such that no one could leave camp until after dark in search of the position of the Second Battalion.

The attack was made early Friday morning, reveille sounding at 4 o'clock, but while the attack was delivered with skill, and at the weakest point, the position held by the Second Battalion was so strong, and so well were the men and trenches placed that Colonel Bonett could not have dislodged them had be twice the force which he did have.

I regret to state that one man was slightly injured by the accidental discharge of a rifle at close range loaded with a blank cartridge. He received several pieces of powder in the face and one eye. He was sent to the Mary Fletcher Hospital for treatment, and the surgeon assured us that the sight was not injured.

Camp was broken at 9.30 a. m., Saturday, all the tents being struck at the last notes of the "General."

I desire to say that from the statements of visiting officers, as well as from my own personal observations, this was the most orderly and soldier-like encampment ever held in this State within the recollection of those making the statement.

The sickness in camp was very slight, the total being only nine per cent. A summary of the daily sick report is appended herewith, marked "C," also surgeon's report marked "C."

I desire to especially commend the efficient work of Major Berkley, Surgeon in the organization of the Hospital Corps, and the admirable hospital maintained during the encampment. I desire to extend grateful appreciation for many favors at the hands of the officers of Fort Ethan Allen, among which was the use of the ambulance and the mule train for the same, also the use of the Post Range.

Major J. M. Wolfe, I. R. P., First Brigade, reported for duty with the Regiment, and his services were of great benefit.

I desire to bring to your attention the following pressing needs of the Guard:

The laws should be so changed as to allow the following: A longer time of duty. The payment of the officers according to their rank, on the basis of the Regular Army, and the men paid $1.25 for privates, $1.50 to corporals, $1.75 to sergeants $2 to first sergeants and like rank, every enlisted man to be furnished subsistence not to exceed fifty cents per day. The office of commissary of subsistence should be created for the Regimental Staff, with rank of first lieutenant, the commissary to have charge of issuing all rations and requiring ration returns, etc., in accordance with the customs of the Regular Army, the familiarity with which would be of great benefit to the Regiment should it ever be required for active service again. The fact should be borne in mind that while officers are now paid exactly the same as privates, they are under vastly greater expense in the way of uniforms and equipment, all of which is furnished to the enlisted man.

The Companies should be increased from 51 officers and men to 60 officers and men, and if a Company falls below 45 in membership it should be disbanded and a Company organized in a town which will maintain a full Company.

In this connection I wish to state that in my opinion the two Companies which have shown the smallest membership should be given until January 1, 1901, to bring their membership up to at least 49 men or be disbanded, and Companies organized in other towns which stand ready to maintain a Company.

Very respectfully, Your obedient servant, J. G. ESTEY, Col. Com'd'g 1st Inf., V. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRATTLEBORO, July 20, 1900.

General Orders No. 7.

- I. As directed by General Orders No. 3, A. G. O., dated July 6, 1900, the First Infantry, V. N. G., will rendezvous at the State Camp Ground near Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., August 11 to 18 inclusive. The encampment will be known as "Camp Governor Smith."
- II. Major George C. Berkley, Surgeon, Captain N. N. Hadley, Quartermaster, and Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant H. M. Bullett will proceed to Camp on Wednesday, August 8. One hospital steward, quartermaster sergeant and four men from each company, and two members of the hospital corps will report to Captain Hadley early on Thursday morning, August 9, to prepare the Camp, clean and move their company property to the kitchens.

III. Each quartermaster sergeant will see that the kitchen which his company is to occupy, and the utensils which it is to use, are thoroughly washed with soap and hot water, after which all will be fumigated under direction of the surgeon.

On account of the unsanitary condition of any and all bedding stored on the Camp ground, nothing whatever of this nature will be used. Old mattresses and bedding will be burned under direction of the surgeon, but nothing whatever must be burned without his personal direction.

IV. Company commanders will select men of judgment for the above detail and see that the quartermaster sergeant thoroughly understands the provision in the foregoing article.

V. After the details have arrived in Camp they will be divided, two going with the quartermaster sergeant to move and care for company property. The balance will lay out the Camp and pitch the officers' tents.

VI. The Camp proper will be made after the arrival of the several companies on Saturday, August 11.

VII. The field uniform only will be worn, with campaign hat and leggins. The forage caps will not be taken into camp.

VIII. The Khaki trousers may be worn on drill, but unless the entire regiment is provided with them, will not be worn on parade by any one. White chevrons will be worn with the blue shirt by non-commissioned officers.

IX. Officers using the Khaki uniform must provide the new style with white trimmings according to Army Regulations.

X. Blanket bags will be issued in which all necessary underclothing and toilet articles can be carried. No boxes will be allowed in the company quarters. No awnings, signs, gun-racks, or other fancy fixings will be allowed in the streets or quarters. When the weather is pleasant in the day time rifles will be stacked in the company streets.

Further orders for the government of the Camp will be issued later.

By order of

COL. ESTEY.

First Sergeant's call Afternoon drill. Recall Dress parade. Supper	2.00 " 2.15 " 4.30 " 5.30 "

III. Reveille and tattoo roll calls must be superintended by a commissioned officer, who will see that the men "fall in" in a proper manner, and that the calling of the roll is commenced at the last note of the assembly, reporting the result of the same to the Adjutant.

IV. At reveille the men will fall in under arms, and before the Company is dismissed the officer superintending the roll call will inspect the arms and equipments, and require those not in condition to be put in proper order immediately. In case of rain the men will fall in without arms, and the inspection will be deferred until clear weather.

V. At tattoo all unauthorized persons must leave camp, enlisted men will remain in their own company streets, and loud talking and singing must cease. Immediately after taps an inspection of quarters will be made by an officer of each Company, designated by the Company commander, who will report to the Adjutant the names of all enlisted men found absent without leave. The officer above designated will remain in his Company street after taps until absolute quiet is assured; he will also turn out and quiet any disturbance in his Company street during the night.

VI. Company cooks must have meals ready promptly when the mess call is blown. First sergeants will fall their Companies in and conduct them at once to the kitchen, all the Companies moving out as nearly as possible together. In passing to or from the kitchens, enlisted men will always go around the flank of the line of field and staff quarters.

VII. Overcoats will not be worn at morning and evening roll call unless the weather be cold or damp, in which case the officer superintending the call may prescribe them. In all cases there must be uniformity in the Company, and the clothing must be properly adjusted. The officer of the day will observe and report any violations of this regulation.

VIII. Immediately after breakfast the Company streets and quarters, and the grounds around the guard quarters, will be carefully policed and kept so during the day. The kitchens, and grounds around the same, must be put in order immediately after each meal, and all refuse removed after breakfast and dinner. Solid refuse will be kept in barrels, holes must be dug for slops and waste water.

IX. Men relieved at guard mounting will be excused from duty until formation for parade. Members of the guard coming off duty one day will constitute the general fatigue party for the next day, and will report to the senior sergeant of their guard immediately after breakfast. The formation will be made in front of the center of the Regiment, and the sergeant designated will be at the proper place to receive the details.

X. The surgeon, accompanied by a field or staff officer, will make a thorough inspection of the entire camp during the morning drill, and report to these headquarters the condition of each Company street, quarters and kitchen. The report will be published at dress parade each evening.

XI. No one will be excused from dress parade or review except the sick, officers senior in rank to the commanding officer of the parade, and those absent on duty or by authority from the post commander. Company commanders may detail one man for guard in the Company street while the Company is on parade. Men excused from drill by the surgeon should be selected for this duty when practicable.

XII. Officers are expected to remain in camp; but those obliged to go outside will obtain the permission of the post commander. Except during drills, dress parade, officers' school and at meal times at least one commissioned officer of each Company must be constantly at his Company street.

XIII. The competition for the autumnal trophy will take place during the encampment on a day to be announced later. Every man in each Company will fire five shots, at 200 yards, at regulation silhouette target.

XIV. Major Wolfe, I. R. P., First Brigade, V. N. G., having been detailed to duty at this encampment, is hereby appointed acting I. R. P., First Infantry, and will conduct the competition for the autumnal trophy.

XV. Major Wolfe, acting I. R. P., is hereby detailed as provost officer for the encampment.

XVI. Company commanders will report to the Adjutant at once upon arrival to receive the morning report and sick report books.

By order of COL. ESTEY.

J. HARRY ESTEY, Captain, First Infantry, V. N. G., Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
CAMP GOVERNOR SMITH, August 13, 1900.

General T. S. Peck, Adjutant and Inspector General, Burlington, Vermont:

Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report of the inspection of the several Companies of the First Battalion, V. N. G., i. e., Companies I, F, H, E: The uniforms and equipment were in good condition. Several muskets were found broken about the lock, caused by coming to "order arms;" also many muskets were found with more or less rust on them. I notified Company commanders, and they had them placed in good condition at once. Would report that Company I was found to be in perfect condition, with the exception of two muskets.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
FRANK L. HOWE,
Major First Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
RUTLAND, VT., August 21, 1900.

General T. S. Peck, Adjutant and Inspector General, V. N. G., Burlington, Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report that my inspection of August 12, 1900, showed the arms and equipments of the Second Battalion, First Infantry, V. N. G., to be in excellent condition, save that about eighty per cent. of the rifles may be discharged while at the safety notch.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant, H. EDWARD DYER,

Major, First Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Second Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
RUTLAND, VT., August 21, 1900.

General T. S. Peck, Adjutant and Inspector General, V. N. G., Burlington, Vermont:

SrR—I have the honor to state that at the inspection of my Battalion on August 12, 1900, Company M, of Burlington, and Company K, of Bennington, were close contestants for the leading position.

Company M gave rather the best inspection, but this was in a measure offset by the fact that Company K had more men in line, thereby furnishing more arms, etc., for examination.

Very respectfully, Your obedient servant, H. EDWARD DYER.

Headquarters Third Battalion,
First Infantry, Vermont National Guard,
Camp Governor Smith, August 13, 1900.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

· Sir-I have the honor to report as follows upon the condition of the guns of the Third Battalion, First Infantry, Vermont National Guard, based upon my inspection made August 12, 1900.

The barrels of the guns were without exception in excellent condition. The mechanism of the breech and intricate parts of the gun showed much care and labor on the part of the majority of the men, gross carelessness on the part of others which should have been corrected by the vigilance of the officers before inspection. The tumblers of some of the pieces were broken and one sight was unserviceable, but as a whole the rifles are in a very serviceable condition.

I would rank the companies as to cleanliness of pieces as follows:

Co. B, St. Albans.

Co. L, Newport.

Co. D, St. Johnsbury.

Co. G, Bradford.

Very respectfully, H. T. JOHNSON, Major First Infantry, V. N. G.

Headquarters Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V., Jaro, P. I., July 30, 1900.

Adjutant General, State of Vermont, U.S.A.

Sir—I have the honor to forward herewith a summary of field operations of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V., for the period November 1 to December 31, 1899.

The rolls of this regiment show three (3) officers and forty-seven enlisted men credited to the State of Vermont.

This report is furnished as being a matter of interest and record of their work in the Philippine Islands.

Very respectfully,
E. RICE,

Colonel 26th Infantry, U. S. V., Commanding.

Summary of the Military operations of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V., during the months of November and December, 1899, on the island of Panay, P. I., Colonel E. Rice, commanding.

(a) On November 1, 1899, the regiment was stationed at Jaro, two miles from Iloilo, the headquarters of the Visayan Military District. The enemy's lines were established on the north and west of the town, distant about nine hundred yards. Firing on our outposts from the enemy's trenches occurred daily, the outpost known as "The Sugar Mill Post" being the most exposed point. A force of eighteen men was kept at this post, which was increased to thirty later and the old mill much strengthened by the addition of three short breastworks with a bullet proof revetment above the boilers and preparation of the top of the chimney for sharpshooters. A well was dug, reserve supply of ammunition carried over, and the ground in the vicinity cleared of trees and on the Jaro side of the river a revetment was placed at the point of the broken bridge.

November 4th Company K, Captain Thomas Talbot, was sent to Iloilo as Provost Guard, the Captain being detailed as Provost Marshal. November 8th Colonel Rice, with Headquarters Twenty-sixth Infantry and three Battalions, the Second Battalion, Twenty-sixth Regiment, Major Anderson, and Companies E, F, G and H, and two Battalions of the Nineteenth, were ordered to take part in an expedition commanded by General Hughes. Lieutenant Colonel Dickman remained at Iloilo with the First and Third Battalions. Major Guy V. Henry, commanding the First Battalion, with two gatling guns garrisoned Jaro; the Third Battalion, Captain A. A. Barker commanding, and the bands of the Eighteenth and Twenty-sixth Infantry, which had been armed, garrisoning Iloilo.

November 9th, expedition left Iloilo in heavy rain and marched to Oton. The next day Colonel Rice with Headquarters, Major Anderson and Second Battalion, Twentysixth Infantry, U. S. V., and Gordon's scouts marched towards San Miguel over roads almost impassable, mud and water up to the men's waist, until ordered to return by the Brigade Commander. At Jaro Lieutenant Fales, commanding Company C, Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V., was ordered to drive back the enemy on the Mandurriano-Pavio road. The Company (85 men) left its quarters at 3.30 a.m., November 10th, in a heavy rain and proceeded over almost impassable roads, advanced about three-quarters of a mile beyond Mandurriano, where the enemy opened upon it. Reserving their fire the Company carefully advanced, the different subdivisions marching in single file on either side of the road. thus leaving the center of the road clear, down which the enemy fired volleys. The undergrowth on both sides of the road was very thick and dense with occasional open patches of about 15 yards. This jungle extended from 50 to 100 yards; beyond this were open rice fields. When about 125 yards distant from the enemy Lieutenant Fiske and four men of the Eighteenth joined the column, they being the point of the Eighteenth Infantry, which was several hundred yards in the rear. Almost immediately afterwards a few volleys were fired by the Company into the enemy, followed by a general charge upon their works: the men upon the left of the road were deployed out in the rice fields under Lieutenants Fiske. Eighteenth, and Worthington, Twenty-sixth Regiment, while Lieutenant Fales directed the movements on the right. Upon examination the road itself was found to be strongly barricaded with bamboos driven into the ground to the height of four feet; directly in the center of the road the earthworks was fully 25 feet thick, then extended out about 50 yards on either side of the road tapering to a thickness of four feet. It would have been impossible to attack them by advancing up the road, as for a distance of 100 yards the roadway was completely covered with upright sticks of bamboo of about two and one-half inches in diameter with the ends sharpened, then covered with a light covering of fine brush and weeds. After capturing the works Lieutenant Fiske pushed on with some of the Eighteenth Infantry men who had come up and about 25 men of Company C. In accordance with previous orders. Lieutenant Fales and the rest of the Company remained in possession of the enemy's position until ordered back to Jaro, arriving back in quarters a few minutes after the Battalion of the Eighteenth Infantry. Private Richard P. Corbett was mortally wounded early in the fight.

On the 11th the Headquarters with Second Battalion marched to Tigbauan and were quartered in the old church from November 11th to 17th. The heavy rains made the roads in the country impassable. The column left Tigbauan on November 18th and marched to Leon, where it remained until the morning of the 20th. On the morning of the 20th the column left Leon at 6.30 a.m., Major Anderson with two Companies of the Second Battalion (Company F. Captain Wm. Tutherly, and Company H, Captain Connell), as the advance guard of the center column which was under the command of Colonel Rice, taking the main road to Alimodian.

Companies E and G were detailed as train guard.

At 10.30 a. m., Major Anderson with the head of the Battalion was within one mile of the Sugan river, having spent about two hours in repairing roads, while two battalions of the Nineteenth Infantry moved across country on the right and left and reached their position. The column moved forward with Company F as advance guard over a road running perpendicular to the Sugan river. When the point was about 600 yards from the ford the enemy opened fire from a line of hills eight hundred yards on the other side of the river which they had entrenched and were occupying in force. Company F was deployed on both sides of the road and continued to advance. Lieutenant Fortescue, with a detachment of 25 men from Company H, was sent by Major Anderson to occupy a hill to the left of the road (afterward used by the mountain battery) and to cover Company F's deployment and advance, which he did with several well directed volleys.

Company H was deployed on the right of Company F, and the entire line advanced by rushes until the river was reached. The terrain at this point is such that it was necessary to advance up a slope of 40 degrees for 400 yards. The ground is covered with rice fields and exceedingly difficult to travel over. The men discarded their rolls, and although they were in excellent condition the heavy ground and hot sun made the advance one of great difficulty. The river at the point of crossing forms a ravine nine feet in depth and twenty in width, after crossing which the advance was continued for 200 yards across rice fields and up a slope the top of which was occupied by the insurgent trenches.

The formation of the attack was such that the trenches were the objective of the charge from the center and both flanks. Companies H and F, of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, forming the center, with two battalions of the Nineteenth Infantry forming the right and left flanks. The entire line advanced under cover of artillery fire from Light Battery "G," Sixth Artillery, stationed on a hill 1,400 yards from the objective. During the advance occurred the only casualties of the day in this Regiment. Sergeant Hiscock and Private Nedeau of Company H, and Private Russel of Company F. Sergeant Hiscock died three days later from wounds. Privates Nedeau and Russel recovered.

Major Henry, with Companies A, C and D, crossed the Jaro river at Jaro on the 18th to reconnoiter the enemy's position on the west of the town. At the same time Captain Barker, with the Headquarters Third Battalion and Company M, forded the river at La Paz. The reconnoissance was successful in developing the enemy's force and position. One man of Company A was mortally wounded at the Sugar Mill outpost. Estimate of enemy's force engaged, two hundred and fifty (250), with one hundred and fifty (150) rifles or more. Thirteen prisoners were captured by the force under command of Captain Barker.

At 2 a. m. November 21st Companies I, L and M of the Third Battalion, Captain Barker, Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V., and Company L of the Sixth U. S. Infantry, all under Lieutenant Colonel Dickman, left Iloilo, forded the Jaro river above La Paz and effected a junction with Companies A, C and I) of the First Battalion, Twenty-sixth Infantry, which under Major Henry left Jaro at 2.30 a.m. and had taken up a good position, flanking the enemy's outposts. The two battalions deployed and moved on the enemy's works, and after a sharp engagement captured their position, the enemy scattering in headlong flight. The casualties of the Twenty-sixth Infantry consisted of four men wounded, viz.: Abraham Frappier, John Quigley, Company A; Eugene E. Blower and Edward Sweet, Company I); while 27 of the enemy were found dead. Twelve prisoners, six cannon, 13 rifles and other arms and ammunition were captured, while several thousand cartridges were destroyed.

At 4 a. m. November 22d Companies E, D and K, under Major Henry, left Jaro and proceeded to a point about midway between Balantang and Tugbay, and from there due east to the sea, and thence back along the coast to the Jaro river, and up the river to Jaro, covering all the territory between these boundaries. Insurgent quarters, barracks, sources of supply, besides quantities of powder, molasses and sugar were destroyed; 13 prisoners were captured and one insurgent killed.

December 16th Captain Brownell, commanding Company D at Sara, learned that an insurgent force had established a large detached outpost at Sampanangbolo, six miles northeast of Sara. By means of spies he learned that the position was located on the summit of a very rocky and almost inaccessible mountain and was held by a strong force.

December 19th Second Lieutenaitt S. E. Worthington, with a detachment of 39 men and one private of the Hospital Corps, was ordered to proceed to Sampanangbolo, surround the town, capture the garrison and destroy the barracks and stores.

The movement, under Lieutenant Worthington, was entirely successful. Leaving Sara at 2.30 a.m., he arrived at the town at daybreak, after an exceedingly hard march, and surrounded it. A short skirmish took place in which nine of the enemy were killed, including Captain Pedro Gonzales and his first lieutenant. The entire force was scattered, 13 rifles, 550 rounds of ammunition, six horses, four saddles, one pair field glasses and a large quantity of rice and stores were captured and the barracks destroyed.

There were no casualties among the detachment of the Twenty-sixth Infantry, U. S. V.

The complete success of the movement reflects great credit on Lieutenant Worthington and his command. The fact that the insurgent force was entirely destroyed, with no loss to the attacking party, has had a great moral effect on the inhabitants of the district.

At 5.45 a. m., December 22d, Company D, stationed at Sara, Captain C. M. Brownell commanding, was attacked by an insurgent force of 200 rifles and 300 bolo men.

The attack was commenced by the enemy entering the town between the outposts and firing on Musician Brooks as he came into the Plaza to blow first call for reveille. The musician promptly blew "assembly" and "call to arms." Two outposts were cut off, but succeeded in forcing their way back and joining the Company.

Acting under previous instruction, the sergeants in command of sections deployed their sections and united at the house occupied by the officers. Lieutenant Worthington, with 20 men, engaged the enemy at the point from which their heaviest fire came. By a brilliant charge he succeeded in dislodging them from an embankment behind which they had secured cover. Detachments were sent to attack other positions of the enemy and a reserve held at Headquarters.

After an hour fighting the entire native force withdrew and was pursued into the country by detachments of the American force, being finally broken up into small bands, trying to escape to the hills.

The enemy's loss was 31 killed and nearly one hundred wounded (some of whom are held as prisoners), seven rifles, a large amount of ammunition, a flag, an officer's sword, bolos and cartridge boxes were captured. One man, Corporal Pendergast, was wounded in the arm and face.

The work of Company D during this affair is worthy of great commendation.

The prompt mobilization of the Company under fire shows a thorough state of discipline and instruction. To the fact that the non-commissioned officers were competent and well instructed, and had control of their men, is due the credit for inflicting a crushing defeat to a force five times the strength of the Company, with all the advantage of choosing the time and method of attack.

The confidence of the insurgents in gaining a victory is shown by the fact of their bringing their families and household possessions with them, also a rope with which to hang the officers.

Lieutenant Worthington and Dr. Hutton, Assistant Surgeon, U. S. A., are mentioned for effective work during the engagement.

Corporal Howe and Private Greenough, in command of the outposts, are mentioned for good judgment shown in bringing in the outposts after being cut off from the Company, without loss. To Musician Brooks is due great credit for coolly blowing the alarm, although the objective of a heavy fire.

As a result of this action, the insurgent force in this part of the island was demoralized.

COMPANY M, FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BURLINGTON, October 6, 1900.

W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Fairlee:

SIR—I have the honor to report that my command left Burlington September 28, 1900, for a visit of two days to Ottawa, Dominion of Canada. On our arrival there we were met at the station by the mayor and the officers of the Fortythird Battalion, Ottawa, and Carleton Rifles, Princess Louise Dragoons and Second Field Battery, and, bearing arms and colors, were escorted to the Hotel Cecil, where we were entertained during our stay in the city.

I cannot speak too highly of the courtesies extended to us by the officers and men of these organizations and the citizens of Ottawa, who left nothing undone to make our trip eniovable.

On our return we arrived at Burlington at 10.06 p.m. September 29th, without accident or incident to detract from the pleasure of the trip.

Very respectfully,

EDWARD H. PROUTY, Captain First Regiment Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Company M.

STATE OF VERMONT.

Adjutant General's Office, Fairles, April 30, 1901.

General Orders No. 6.

Certain questions having arisen in regard to the new law, limiting the commissions of officers to three years, ordering of elections, re-elections and commissions subsequent thereto, the following regulations are published for the guidance of all concerned:

I. An officer whose commission has expired by law will not be discharged until his successor has been elected and he has settled his accounts with the Quartermaster General. He will hold his rank and command until his successor is elected.

II. Officers whose commissions have expired by law, and who have been re-elected, will be recommissioned without examination. The new commission will be dated on the date of such re-election, but with rank from the date of rank in former commission.

III. An officer accepting a commission in a grade lower to one previously held, if within six months, shall take rank from the date of former commission.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

W. H. GILMORE, Adjutant General.

Official: J. HARRY ESTEY,

Captain and Adjutant, First Infantry, V. N. G.

Brattleboro, Vt., February 15, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

Sir—The board of officers appointed by General Order No. 4A., General Order dated January 1st, to observe and report upon the work of the officers at the school held in Brattleboro, February 13 and 14, would respectfully report as follows:

Whole number of Commissioned Officers in the regiment 52, present for duty 44, absent 7, there being one vacancy.

The first session was devoted to a general prospect of the work to be done at the school. This was accomplished by means of papers given by several of the officers on the various subjects, and was done in a most acceptable manner.

The second session was devoted to work with blocks at tables, the blocks being used to represent the various bodies of troops; all of the more difficult problems in the Drill Regulations being taken up and explained and executed.

The remaining sessions were devoted to written and oral work on the Drill Regulations, Guard Duty, Outpost Duty and Advanced Guard, Military Map reading and making, and Regulations of the Vermont National Guard.

The work of the officers was carefully marked and the general average was found to be $1.6 per cent, while only two officers fell below 60 per cent. The board are of the opinion that those officers whose work falls below 60 per cent and who show a lack of interest or ability to post themselves should be discharged the service. In the case of the two officers mentioned they have been informed that positive assurance must be furnished of their ability and willingness to thoroughly post themselves or their discharge will be requested. The nature of the service of the National Guard is such that, if called upon, no officer who could not reach 60 per cent in his work, would be a fit person to hold a commission.

The method of marking is that in use in the regular service.

In conclusion the board would respectfully recommend that a longer time be given in the future to this most important meeting of the officers.

The work of the school was most satisfactory, and showed careful study on the part of most of the officers.

We are, sir,

Very respectfully, Your obedient servants, J. G. ESTEY.

Colonel, First Infantry, V. N. G.

C. M. BONETT.

Lieutenant Colonel First Infantry, V. N. G. J. H. ESTEY.

Captain and Adjutant, First Infantry, V. N. G., Recorder.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION. FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD, RUTLAND, VT., June 25, 1901.

Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR-I have the honor to report the inspection of the Second Battalion, First Infantry, V. N. G., as follows:

Upon receipt of the Adjutant General's order instructing Majors to inspect their Battalions, I instructed the Company Commanders in my Battalion that the same order would be followed as at last June drill, except that the Company Commanders might take up target practice if they wished. Later I notified each Company Commander personally that he would be called upon to show the proficiency of his signal squad.

On June 3, 1901, I joined Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General State of Vermont, and Col. J. G. Estey, commanding

First Infantry V. N. G., at Burlington, Vt.

All Company books, papers, rosters, etc., were inspected by General Gilmore, while Colonel Estey, who was present at the inspection of Companies M, C and A, made a general investigation as to condition.

Co. M, of Burlington, was inspected on June 4th, mustering 51 officers and men. An enlisted man from Co. F. of Northfield, being a student at the University of Vermont, requested that he be allowed to appear with Co. M, which request was granted, he being credited to Co. F, and making the total number present 52 officers and men.

A thorough inspection of the men in ranks with their uniforms and equipments was followed by the muster of the Company, after which the lockers, Quartermaster's room and surplus property were examined. State and Government property was found to be in good condition and well cared for, with the exception of the buzzacott cooking outfit, which was not stored so as to be easily accessible, and was not packed for immediate use if needed.

The Quartermaster's room showed a great improvement over last year, it being in a neat and orderly condition.

Immediately after the inspection and muster the Company formed an advance guard, leaving the Armory, proceeded up North street to a point about two miles north of the city, where an outlined opposition was encountered and an engagement followed, resulting in the capture of the enemy's position.

A lunch was then served, each man providing his own ration, and preparing his allowance of the Standard Emergency Ration carried for the purpose of experiment. This ration appears to possess all of the valuable features claimed for it, and, in my estimation, should be used at least once each year while in camp in order to accustom the men to its use.

The dispositions of the Company while on the march were excellent, but too much time was consumed in discussion and scouting, a delay of over an hour occurring where it was unnecessary to have delayed the march more than a few minutes.

After mess the Company executed a few movements in extended order, after which they returned to the Armory.

This command appeared to good advantage in all of the movements attempted, its high state of discipline and attention to military courtesy being particularly noticeable.

The personnel is excellent, while the work taken up during the year covers a broad field and is done in a thorough manner.

Co. C, of Brandon, was inspected on June 5th, mustering 41 officers and men.

The inspection showed more property than last year, owing to the fact that new lockers had just been supplied by the State. Some property was still in the hands of the men, but was being collected as rapidly as possible.

Arms and equipments were in good condition and the Quartermaster's room in its usual state of good order and neatness.

The buzzacott outfit had been cleaned, polished and oiled after camp, and the oven and rack covered with asphaltum varnish, after which it was packed and could have been loaded for service on receipt of orders to that effect.

After inspection and muster the Company marched to the field and over the route shown in the sketch furnished at Officers' School last January.

Each man furnished his own ration at noon, after which drill was taken up until about 3 o'clock p. m.

Close order drill was well executed, but extended order work was somewhat ragged, while the more advanced branches, such as advanced guard, outpost, etc., had not been taken up at that time owing to the large number of recruits in the ranks.

At 3 o'clock p. m. the command was taken to the range, where each man fired five rounds at 200 yards, thus completing the work of the day.

While the drill of this Company was not quite up to its last year's work, I consider that the general condition is better than at that time, the discipline being good, and some of the disturbing elements having been removed.

This Company has no fit Armory and is arranging to build one for itself, work upon which will probably be commenced this year.

The rifle range is badly in need of repair and is positively dangerous, a condition that should be remedied at once by the State.

Co. A, which was inspected on June 6th, was found to be in a most unsatisfactory condition as regards both drill and discipline. The men apparently had no idea of military courtesy or of the distinction between officers and men.

The inspection showed many shortages in Quartermaster's stores, while several men were sent from the ranks to clean their rifles. Lockers were disorderly and showed lack of system in their arrangement. At muster 37 officers and men responded.

It is my impression that some State property was overlooked and not presented for inspection, so that the Company probably has more property in its possession than would appear from the check taken.

After inspection the Company was marched to the grounds of the Golf Club, drilling in close order en route and in extended order upon its arrival. This route and the grounds are shown in the sketch furnished at Officers' School last January.

Close order work was quite well executed, but extended order very ragged, and the other branches had not been attempted.

A very satisfactory dinner was cooked by Quartermaster Sergeant J. F. Mossey with the buzzacott, after which the command marched to the rifle range, where each man fired five rounds and each squad several volleys. The highest score at individual practice was 20, the Company average was 8 25-36 and the squad average 343.

Co. A has an excellent 300-yard range within the city limits and within two minutes' walk from the electric car line. Considerable interest is being shown in rifle practice, and it is expected that by fall the average will be much improved.

The enlisted men showed lack of study of drill regulations and said that only a few of them possessed textbooks of any sort.

The personnel is good but the membership is altogether The lack of discipline and military courtesv should be corrected at once, for while there are times when membership may fall below the maximum, there can be no excuse for poor drill or lax discipline.

Co. K was inspected on June 7th and mustered 46 officers and men.

Inspection showed all State and Government property to be in its usual excellent condition, with but few shortages.

New lockers have just been provided which will be of much benefit to officers and men.

After inspection the Company marched to the range over the route shown in sketch furnished at Officers' School, where an excellent mess consisting of fish, two kinds of meat, vegetables, bread and butter, and coffee was served by the Company cook and his assistants.

A heavy thunderstorm came up just after mess, which rendered target practice impossible, and the Company was sent to its Armory and dismissed.

Co. K has been very regular in its attendance at the range, and expects to qualify a large percentage of its men in the various grades before the close of the season.

During the late fall of 1900 each Company of this Battalion was called upon to detail an officer and four men to fit themselves for work as a signal squad. In January, 1901, an order from Regimental Headquarters supplemented this request.

In view of the length of time given I regret to say that the work of Companies A and K was not satisfactory, as in both cases it was stated that the details were not prepared to do good work.

Co. M reported its detail prepared, but no opportunity arose for its use.

Co. A had apparently done nothing whatever in this line since the resignation of Lieutenant Holden, a state of affairs which was inexcusable.

Co. C was called upon for work and furnished a detail under Lieutenant Ferris which showed itself to be well qualified, one man being able to attain a speed of fifteen words per minute.

Company Commanders were notified to conform to the requirements called for by the Vermont Regulations in regard to absentees, and excuses have been sent in as required by all the Companies except A. In one case these were returned, as they were not properly made out and endorsed.

Writs have been served upon four men in Co. C and one man in Co. K. All other excuses were considered satisfactory.

I would recommend that Khaki trousers be issued as soon as possible, also an extra blue shirt, as a change is necessary at camp, and especially in case of storm and wet garments.

I would also recommend that the Battalion Adjutant and Sergeant Major accompany each Major on these inspections, as under the present arrangement the entire Company must lose at least three hours of much needed work while the Inspecting Officer is counting State property, a duty that could be as well performed by the Adjutant and Sergeant Major while the Company would get the benefit of the drill.

"Business" should not be accepted from officers or men as an excuse for absence, as no officer or man who cannot attend to his duties when the dates are known so far ahead should be continued as a member of the Regiment. A second instance of this sort should be cause for the calling of a Court of Inquiry.

The increase in the strength of the Companies from 51 to 60 officers and men as provided by the Legislature of 1900, has temporarily lowered the efficiency of each command, but it is expected that they will be brought up to the standard before attending camp in August.

In general the result of the inspection was satisfactory save in the case of Co. A, although the ground covered was much less than last year, owing to lack of time.

In conclusion I desire to express my thanks to Gen. W. H. Gilmore and Col. J. G. Estey, whose presence much simplified the work, and to the Company officers, who did all in their power to make the inspection a pleasure as well as a duty.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. EDWARD DYER.

Major First Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Second Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
NORTHFIELD, VT., June 24, 1901.

William H. Gilmore, Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following report of the inspection of the several Companies of the First Battalion Vermont National Guard (H, I, E, F), held in compliance of General Orders A. G. O. No. 7:

The following shows the total strength and attendance of each Company at the June drill and inspection:

Company H, total strength, 58; present, 50. Company I, total strength, 56; present, 46. Company E, total strength, 60; present, 58. Company F, total strength, 60; present, 50.

June 1st. I inspected Company I at Brattleboro, the inspection being held in City Hall the Armory being unfit for use. After inspection and muster, the several officers were required to drill the Company.

A thorough inspection was made of all of the Government property, which was found to be in excellent condition with no shortage. The arms were in good condition except that traces of oil should have been removed from each rifle when presented for inspection. This Company is in need of a suitable Armory, as at present their Company rooms are in one building, Government property kept in another and drills held in City Hall. At 10.30 o'clock a. m., the Company took the electric cars for the range about two miles distant. Extended order and guard mount were executed in a creditable manner. At 12.30 mess call was sounded. Target practice was taken up in the afternoon, at the 200-yard range. The highest individual score was 24, by two men. Average for the Company, 10 44-54.

June 13th. Montpelier Company H was inspected at their Armory which is ample for all uses. With one exception the arms were in perfect condition. All Government property was in good order and no shortage. After inspection and muster the Company was marched to the State House grounds, where the several officers and non-commissioned officers drilled the Company in close and extended order.

At 1 p. m. the Company was marched to the range three miles distant and the entire afternoon devoted to target practice at the 100-yard range. Best individual score, 24. Average shooting, 14 9-46.

June 14th. At Barre, Company E with two men absent was inspected and mustered and arms were found in excellent condition with one exception and all Government property in good order and no shortage. Drills were held on the campus with the several officers in command. Special mention should be made of the work of this Company in the close order movements, all the movements being executed nearly to perfection. The Company was marched to the range two miles distant in the afternoon. Best individual score at the 200-yard range, 23. Average, 12 11-54.

June 15th. Company F, at Northfield, was inspected and mustered in their new Armory, which is one of the best in the State. This Company has been without suitable quarters since 1899. No work has been done since the annual encampment in 1900, by Captain Dole, who resigned in April, 1901. This did much to impair the efficiency of the Company, as did also Captain Dole's delay in getting the Government property together to transfer to Charles A. Plumley, who was elected Captain. The Company has been recruited to its full quota by Captain Plumley. About two weeks before the inspection, Captain Dole turned over the Government property with the following shortage shown at my inspection:

One blouse, 3 pants, 11 shirts, 18 hats, 9 pair leggings, 1 canteen, 1 haversack, 5 knives, 1 fork, 7 spoons, 5 tin cups, 3 belts, 7 sheaths.

The Company was inspected and mustered 50 men. Arms were found in perfect order with the exception of 2 rifles which were broken and unfit for further use. The Company drilled in close and extended order in the forenoon. At 1 p. m. they marched to the range two miles distant, where the afternoon was devoted to target practice at the 200-yard range. Best score, 21. Average, 11.

Each Company of the First Battalion was favored with fine weather and good work was accomplished by each Company.

As the Companies can drill at this season of the year out of doors extended order should be taken up.

I examined the books of each Company and find that all debts have been paid, and each Company has a good balance in the treasury on deposit in the banks of the several towns, Company H having $650.

Companies H and E have lockers for uniforms. Sixty are being built for Company F.

I am confident that each Company will go to the annual encampment in the best of condition.

Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General, and Colonel J. G. Estey, commanding First Regiment, were present at the several inspections, the latter at his own expense.

To the officers and men of the several Companies I would express my thanks for courtesy shown.

Very respectfully, Your obedient servant,

FRANK L. HOWE, Major Commanding First Battalion, V. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRADFORD, VT., June 25, 1901.

Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General State of Vermont, Fairlee:

Sin—I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the four Companies of the Third Battalion (B, D, G, L) and Hospital Corps, based upon my inspection at the annual June drill held in compliance with General Order No. 7, dated A. G. O., May 15, 1901.

The several Companies were inspected on the days designated in the General Order. Good weather prevailed, except at St. Albans, where the rain prevented all out-door drill.

I found the strength of the Battalion to be 12 officers and 199 enlisted men; Hospital Corps, 3 officers, 15 enlisted men. There were present at muster, 10 officers, 169 enlisted men; Hospital Corps, 1 officer, 14 enlisted men.

I found the Armories of all the Companies well cared for; clothing and equipment in excellent shape, showing much care from both officers and men.

As soon as the Companies were inspected and mustered, they moved out, in the formation of a Company acting as advance guard for a larger body of troops, to a drill field, taking their buzzacotts and preparing dinner in the field; in each case doing it quickly and properly.

The balance of the time was given up to the execution of Company, platoon and extended order movements.

Two of the Companies had had no drill outside the Armory since last muster and owing to the limited size of the drill hall many important movements had of necessity been neglected. Increasing the Companies to sixty men has caused the ranks to be filled with a number of recruits who have had but little drill, executing, at this inspection, many Company and extended order movements for the first time. This of course made some ragged movements, but judging from the progress made in this one day's drill the men are, with few exceptions, of good material and with plenty of drill during the next two months will come into camp a credit to their Companies.

I found both officers and non-commissioned officers competent men, anxious to maintain their Companies at a high standard; but in case of part of the Companies they labor under the disadvantage of the men being scattered over so large a territory that it is difficult to get a large number out to weekly drills, and those men lose much of the instruction needed by them to make the Company uniform in action.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the Hospital Corps, that most important part of a Regiment. I found them a fine set of young men, each having some special fitness for the duties of a Hospital Corps man. Their drill was given in a manner which showed much time and interest had been given to it.

Three of the Companies finished the day at the range; but as I had to leave at 4 p. m., I am unable to report the result of this work.

I found the books of all the Companies in excellent condition; all having a good balance in their treasuries.

The only criticism I would make is that in some cases I saw a lack of individual instruction, new men being allowed to execute a movement wrong many times without correction, which does much harm, as it soon becomes a habit. New movements should be carefully explained to recruits before they are required to execute them, and when wrongly done should be at once corrected.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
H. T. JOHNSON,
Major, First Regiment Infantry, V. N. G.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
NORTHFIELD, VT., June 24, 1901.

William H. Gilmore, Adjutant General State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report that June 15, 1901, in Company with W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General, and Colonel J. G. Estey, commanding First Regiment of Infantry, V. N. G., I inspected the Section of Artillery of Norwich University in camp.

The camp was pleasantly located at the east side of the parade ground and camp was in command of Captain Charles S. Carlton, Commandant of Cadets. The camp was well policed. The Battalion was inspected and mustered. The arms and equipments were found in perfect order with the exception of one musket. The Battalion was drilled in the several movements, after which drills in Bayonet and Saber exercises were had as well as the Musical drill, all of which were executed in a creditable manner.

The Battalion was messed at the mess hall and at different places about the village.

Target practice was held at the range each day.

The Cadets have in addition to the university uniform the United States regulation uniform for the army. The Khaki uniform is also worn.

The command is divided into two Companies, Major E. C. Wheatley; Company A, Captain W. E. Robertson; Company

B. Captain D. O. Carr. Officers and men 72.

Would recommend that web belts and the regulation blue shirts be issued to the Battalion. And the men should be rationed in camp to give them the experiences needed in that line.

Guard duty was well performed, the men being well instructed.

A suitable place is needed to keep powder for artillery use.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
FRANK L. HOWE,
Major Commanding First Battalion, V. N. G.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT,
NORWICH UNIVERSITY,
NORTHFIELD, VT., June 29, 1901.

To the Adjutant General State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report as follows in regard to work done in the Military Department for the year ending this date:

I entered upon the duties of Professor of Military Science and Tactics September 13, 1900, reporting at that time for duty.

The year's work has been as follows:

Infantry drills School of soldier and	Co	\mathbf{m}	DE	in	٧.
School of the Battali	on
Artillery drills
Saber exercise
Reviews Parades
Inspections under arr	ns.

Theoretical instruction has also been given by recitations, attended by seniors, juniors and sophomore classes, each class twice a week. No lectures have been given by the Commandant. The new drill hall has been much improved for drilling purposes by the addition of a matched board floor. It is expected that a gallery target will be placed in position next fall. During the present season considerable interest has been shown by the under classmen in rifle practice. A very marked improvement is noticeable in the work accomplished. Owing to the condition of the ground between the firing point and target it was considered necessary to build a structure at the firing point to increase the elevation. A structure was erected consisting of a well-framed box 12 feet x 6 feet and 3 feet high filled with earth. It is hoped that those who have been on the range this spring may continue the practice in the fall.

Under order from the Secretary of War, the Military Department was inspected June 3, 1901, by Major J. M. K. Davis, Inspector General Department of the East. During the encampment, June 13th to 21st, inclusive, there was thorough instruction given in Guard duty and Camp discipline. The duty was performed with determination on the part of officers and men to illustrate the Guard duty as fully as possible with the small force at hand.

The Commandant and cadets appreciated the interest shown during the encampment by the inspectors from the National Guard, General Gilmore, Colonel Estey and Major Howe. Such visits inspire the officers and men to do better work, and it is hoped that in the future frequent visits can be made upon the corps.

The three cadets of the class graduated June 27, 1901, who in my opinion have shown the greatest proficiency in the Military Department and displayed the greatest aptitude for military service are Charles Edward Wheatley, Montpelier, Vt.; William Everett Robertson, St. Albans, Vt.;

Louis Franklin Chamberlain, Newbury, Vt.

The total number of cadets instructed during the year was

CHARLES S. CARLETON,
Captain V. N. G., Professor Military Science and Tactics.

Headquarters Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., June 30, 1901.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report upon the encampment of the Section of Artillery, Norwich Cadets, held at Northfield. Vt., in compliance with Special Orders No. 22, dated A. G. C. State of Vermont, May 10, 1901.

The camp was established June 13, 1901, at Guard Mount. in the morning. The cadets put up the tents under my direction on the afternoon of the 12th inst., the camp being laid out according to U.S. Army regulations.

On June 13th guard mounting was held at 7.50 a.m. and sentinels were posted. During the encampment the guard consisted of an Officer of the Day, an Officer of the Guard, a Sergeant of the Guard, three Corporals and twelve privates. In addition to the above officers the Cadet Major was designated assistant instructor of the Guard, ranking the Officer of the Day. There were four posts embracing each side of camp. The guard was kept on post from 5 p. m. until 8 a.m. each day. Between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. a portion of the guard remained at the guard tent, consisting of a Sergeant, Corporal and two privates of the guard.

The object of this arrangement was to allow members of the new guard to attend morning drill and members of both old and new guard to attend the afternoon drills. All cadets capable of performing military duty were thoroughly instructed in guard duty and were (with few exceptions to the rule) able to repeat their General and Special Orders.

At first call for parade and guard mount the guard were assembled at the guard tent. The camp was policed each morning by members of the old guard and each company street by its own company. Tents were inspected daily by ranking officers or the Commander of the Camp.

On Saturday, June 15th, the Section of Artillery was inspected and mustered by Major F. L. Howe, First V. N. G., accompanied by General Gilmore and Colonel Estey. There were three drills each day on the parade or target practice on the range. During the camp some instruction was given in reloading shells for blank cartridges. The target practice was attended by all except the officers. The improvement in shooting from day to day was very good in most cases. About 3,000 rounds of ammunition were expended in practice.

The Commander of the Camp was on duty during the entire time of the camp and inspected the guard during the night and found the sentinels active and well instructed.

The discipline of the camp was excellent.

Respectfully submitted, CHARLES S. CARLETON, Captain V. N. G., Commanding Camp.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRATTLEBORO, VT., August 24, 1901.

Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report that in obedience to General Orders No. 9, A. G. O., dated July 5, 1901, the First Regiment Infantry, V. N. G., went into camp at the State Camp Grounds on August 17th to 23d, inclusive.

The arrangements from these headquarters and the orders published pertaining thereto are appended herewith, marked A and B. Additional orders were issued upon the arrival of the troops in camp for the conduct of the camp.

On Saturday, August 17th, the Companies arrived in camp, the majority being from one to two hours late. The train service in delivering the men at Fort Ethan Allen was exceedingly poor. A delay of from half an hour to an hour and a half was encountered at Essex Junction in nearly every case. The last Companies to arrive came in in a heavy rain which interfered seriously with the making of camp, and prevented any further work on this day.

Sunday, August 18th, General Inspection by the Adjutant and Inspector General occurred, which together with guard mount, religious service by the Chaplain and parade in the evening concluded the day's routine.

On Monday, the 19th, the general work of the camp was taken up, beginning with Company drill, which showed a decided lack of outdoor drill on the part of nearly all the Companies, with perhaps one or two exceptions. No Battalion drill was attempted until Company drill had been fairly well done.

On Tuesday, the 20th, one Battalion was sent to the Rifle Range in the morning and another Battalion in the afternoon. The Battalions remaining in camp were given Battalion drills.

On Wednesday the remaining Battalion was sent to the range in the forenoon. The afternoon was devoted to Battalion drills, including advance guard and outpost duties.

On Thursday, the 22d, Battalion and Regimental drills were held in the morning. The afternoon was devoted to the review by his Excellency, Governor Stickney.

On Friday, the 23d, camp was broken at 9 a.m., the Companies all leaving for home before noon. The railroad service on the return journey was better than in bringing the troops to camp.

This being the first year the State furnished subsistence to the men, considerable difficulty was encountered in satisfying all with the ration. The inexperience of many of the cooks in handling the Government ration was such that a good deal of waste was unavoidable. After the second day the ration was materially increased in quantity, and less objection on the part of the Company commanders was made. With an intelligent handling of the ration there need be no increase over the regular army allowance, but where cooks are inexperienced it is absolutely necessary to increase the allowance in some components.

Regarding the condition of the various Companies, I have the honor to report that with two exceptions they were in very good shape.

There was a decided lack of discipline in Company A, which I believe is due almost entirely to the inefficiency of the Commanding Officer.

There was an exceptionally small attendance in Company B, which is caused by many of the members being in the employ of the Central Vermont Railway, which I understand refuses to give its employees leave of absence to attend camp. This Company should not be allowed to enlist men in the employ of this corporation.

I desire to state that we were fortunate in having with us a part of the time Captain Hovey, U. S. A., who, while he was unable to render active assistance, by his presence was exceedingly valuable to the Commanding Officer.

The attendance at camp, taken from the morning report of the first day was, as follows:

Total officers and men present	47
Total present and absent	747
the Regiment Total	$\frac{16}{763}$

The camp was very orderly, there being no necessity for arrests beyond a few cases of attempts at running the guard and such minor offences.

The improvement in the drills from first to last was exceedingly marked, and could the Regiment have remained in camp a few days longer excellent results would have been shown. Under the present arrangement we get practically but three days' actual work, the fourth day being taken up in good part by the review, etc.

We beg to call your attention to the reports of the Battalion Commanders who conducted the Inspection of the various Companies at the request of the Adjutant General.

There was very little sickness in camp, nothing beyond minor ailments being reported.

I am, sir,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. G. ESTEY,

Colonel Commanding First Infantry, V. N. G.

General Orders No. 14.

I. As directed by General Orders No. 9, A. G. O., dated July 5, 1901, First Infantry, V. N. G., will rendezvous at the State Camp Grounds near Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., August 17 to 23, inclusive.

II. Captain N. N. Hadley, Quartermaster, and Captain J. M. Wolfe, Commissary, will proceed to camp on Wednesday, August 14, to lay out and arrange detail pertaining to their respective departments.

III. Regimental Quartermaster and Commissary Sergeants, Acting Hospital Steward, Company Quartermaster Sergeants, four men from each Company and two Hospital Corps men, will report to Captain Hadley at an early hour on Thursday morning, to assist in the work necessary to the preparation of camp.

IV. All officers' tents will be pitched, Company streets laid out, poles, tents and pins distributed; but tents for enlisted men will not be pitched until the Companies arrive in camp.

V. Upon reporting to Captain Hadley the several details will be divided as follows: Quartermaster Sergeants and one man to care for and put in order their kitchen, two men of each detail to assist the Quartermaster in making camp and such other duty as he may direct, and one man of each detail to assist the Commissary when needed and to join the Quartermaster's detail when not needed by the Commissary.

VI. Company Commanders will forward to these Headquarters ration returns for the several details for a period of two days. Said returns to be in the Adjutant's hands not later than Tuesday, August 13.

The several details will observe strictly all customs of the service, and conduct themselves in such a manner as to be a credit to the Regiment.

No one will be allowed to leave the ground without permission of an officer.

Captain Wolfe will report to the Commanding Officer any violation of this order, and will be responsible for discipline.

By order of

COL. ESTEY.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRATTLEBORO, VT., July 23, 1901.

General Orders No. 15.

- I. The following regulations are published for the conduct of the Commissary Department at camp:
- 1. The allowance will follow closely the Regular Army ration with some minor changes as noted on the Company daily ration return blank.
- 2. Daily ration returns will be made out for the actual number of men present and handed in with the morning report at "First Sergeant's" call. The ration will be drawn the following morning at "Issue" call, about 7.30 a.m.
- 3. Ration returns for the first day, Saturday, will be forwarded to these Headquarters so as to be in the Adjutant's hands not later than Wednesday, August 14.

The return for the second day will be handed in as soon as the Company arrives in camp on Saturday.

- 4. Ration returns will be made out for one day at a time and rations will be issued for dinner, supper and breakfast.
- 5. Especial care must be exercised to see that the ration return corresponds with the morning report. Returns will be checked by the morning report books and any overdraft will be charged to the office making the return.
- 6. Members of the Non-Commissioned Staff and Hospital Corps will be rationed with the Companies and assigned to such by the Adjutant upon request from each—said requests should be forwarded to these Headquarters at once. Those not furnishing requests for particular assignment will be assigned with a Company by the Adjutant.
- 7. When members of the Non-Commissioned Staff or Hospital Corps are rationed with a Company, it will be so stated on the returns and due allowance made in checking.
- II. Regulations for the conduct of the camp will be announced in future orders.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
CAMP GOVERNOR STICKNEY,
ESSEX JUNCTION, VT., August 18, 1901.

Commanding Officer, First Infantry, V. N. G., Camp Governor Stickney, Essex Junction, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report the following results of the inspection of the Third Battalion, First Infantry, V. N. G., made in obedience to your verbal order of August 18, 1901:

Co. D, First Infantry, V. N. G.—Rifles generally rusty inside. One rifle (No. 30) so dirty as to be unfit for inspection. Three rifles (Nos. 5, 15 and 43) in need of repairs. Four without rammer tips.

Co. D.—One rifle stamped 11 (No. 540,588, model 1884) does not belong to Co. D. Rifles generally show lack of care.

Clothing in good order.

Co. B.—Rifles generally rusty and showing lack of care.

Seven without rammer tips. Clothing in good order.

Co. G.—Rifles generally in good condition inside but badly neglected on the exterior. One (No. 9) has broken tumbler. One rammer tip missing. One gun very dirty. Man just off guard and had been allowed on guard by his Sergeant with a gun which had evidently not been cleaned for a long time.

Co. L.-Rifles without exception in almost perfect condition. Three rammer tips missing.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. EDWARD DYER,

Major, First Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Second Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
CAMP STICKNEY, August 18, 1901.

Commanding Officer, First Regiment, V. N. G.:

SIR—I would respectfully submit the following report of my inspection of the Second Battalion, First Regiment, V. N. G., Companies K, C, A, M. The rifles of the entire Battalion with a few exceptions show traces of rust about the chamber. Rifle No. 19 of Co. K is sprung and unfit for service. Nos. 36 and 11 have front sight broken and firing pin missing. Nos. 46 and 14 of Co. M have barrels sprung and unfit for further service. Belt plates of each Company should be polished. For want of proper cleaning material since arrival in camp has prevented the men from properly cleaning their equipment. I called the attention of Company Commanders to paragraph 97, Drill Regulations, regarding receiving the piece from inspecting officer after being inspected, not more than six or eight men in the entire Battalion executing it right. Several men in Co. M wear the regulation officers' hat cord, which should not be permitted by the Company Commander. Several of the men had buttons missing from their coats.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANK L. HOWE. Major First Battalion.

FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD, STATE CAMP, August 19, 1901.

The Adjutant General. State of Vermont:

SIR-I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the inspection of the First Battalion (Companies H, E, F, I), First Infantry, V. N. G., made at the State Camp, near Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., August 18, 1901:

I found the rifles of Companies H and I in excellent condition, showing much care and work on the part of the men. Those of Co. F were not uniform; evidently those who did not care to clean their rifles were not required to do so. Co. E's rifles were with few exceptions very dirty. The beltplates of none of the Companies except Co. I had been cleaned and in many cases were very dirty.

The uniforms and other equipment were generally in good condition.

The interiors of the tents were generally clean, but with the exception of Co. I they were not properly or uniformly arranged.

In many cases the men's shoes were not blackened or even clean.

The personnel of the Companies was excellent. It is my opinion that they have never before contained a better set of men.

I think that the deficiencies noted are to a large extent the fault of the officers in not teaching the men to properly clean their pieces and arrange their tents, and then see to it that it is done.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

HERBERT T. JOHNSON, Major, First Infantry, V. N. G. COMPANY K, FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BENNINGTON, VT., September 6, 1901.

Adjutant General State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report that by permission of the States of Vermont and New York, my command participated in the Labor Day Celebration at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., on September 2d last, taking part in the street parade, also the Battalion parade which followed same. The officers and men were entertained by the officers and men of Company M, Second Infantry, National Guard New York, at their Armory after the parade, making the occasion a most pleasant one.

The Company left its quarters at Bennington at 8 a.m. via Bennington and Hoosac Valley Electric Railway, returning in the evening over the same route.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

C. F. BURNHAM,

Captain, First Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Company K.

Proceedings of a Board of Officers, convened at Burlington, to observe and report upon the work accomplished at the School of Instruction for Officers of the Vermont National Guard, February 18-20, 1902, by virtue of the following order:

STATE OF VERMONT,

Adjutant General's Office, Fairlee, January 6, 1902.

General Order, No. 1.

(Extract)

Colonel J. Gray Estey, Lieutenant Colonel C. M. Bonett, and Captain C. M. Brownell will constitute a Board to observe and report upon the work accomplished at the school for the information of the Commander-in-Chief. Captain Brownell will act as recorder of said Board.

By order of

WILLIAM W. STICKNEY, Governor and Commander-in-Chief. W. H. GILMORE.

Adjutant General.

The Board met pursuant to the foregoing order February 18, 1902.

Present: All the members.

The President outlined the work of the school, which consisted of written and oral exercises, map drawing and practical demonstrations with blocks and blackboard. The Board was ordered to convene at each session of the school.

At each session the work was carefully observed and the standing of every officer determined and recorded.

The Board finds that the work of the officers was generally good, and is of the opinion that they are as a whole much interested in their work and are striving to perfect themselves for intelligent and efficient service should the Regiment be called into the field.

The Board further finds that the following named officers did not attain the required standard of 60 per cent, viz.:

Second Lieutenant Dunkle, 49 per cent. Second Lieutenant Richmond, 58 per cent. Second Lieutenant Smith, 39 per cent. Second Lieutenant (Elect) Tinker, 57 per cent.

The Board therefore recommends that these officers be officially informed of their standing, and ordered to immediately post themselves on the subjects considered at the school.

There being no further business the Board adjourned, February 20, 1902, sine die.

J. G. ESTEY, Colonel Commanding First Regiment, V. N. G., President.

C. M. BONETT, Lieutenant Colonel First Regiment, V. N. G., Member.

C. M. BROWNELL, Captain and Paymaster, First Regiment, V. N. G., Recorder

STATE OF VERMONT,

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, FAIRLEE, March 7, 1902.

Special Order, No. 6.

The Commander-in-Chief is pained to announce to the officers and members of the Vermont National Guard the sudden and lamented death, this day, at Brattleboro, of Brigadier General Estey (retired).

General Estey was a graduate of Norwich University, in the class of 1863. In 1874 he was unexpectedly and without his previous knowledge elected Captain of Company I, First Regiment Infantry, and for 26 years after was devoted to the interests of the Guard; in 1881 he was chosen Lieutenant Colonel, in 1887 Colonel and in 1892 Brigadier General, serving as such until his retirement in 1900, the Legislature having upon his own recommendation abolished that office.

As a mark of the respect due to one who has served the State so well, the officers of the Guard will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days, and the regimental colors will be draped for the same time; the Commanding Officer of the Section of Artillery at Norwich University will cause a salute of 13 guns to be fired on Monday, the 10th inst., at the hour of interment, and the flags on all armories and at the Military College will be flown at half mast until sunset of the day of the burial.

By order of His Excellency,
WILLIAM W. STICKNEY,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.
W. H. GILMORE,
Adjutant General.

COMPANY M, FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BURLINGTON, May 30, 1902.

Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General of Vermont, Fairlee:

Sir.—I have the honor to report that three officers and forty men of this Company made a two days' visit to Montreal, Canada, leaving here at 4.20 a.m. May 24th and returning at 10.06 p.m. May 25th inst.

The occasion was a pleasure trip and was enjoyed by all, many courtesies being shown us by His Worship, the Mayor, the members of various military organizations and the citizens.

Very respectfully,

EDWARD H. PROUTY,
Captain, First Regiment Infantry, V. N. G.,

Commanding Co. M.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION,
FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
NORTH CLARENDON, VT., June 27, 1902.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report the June inspection of the Second Battalion, First Infantry, V. N. G., for 1902 under General Orders No. 2, 1902, A. G. O., as follows:

Co. K, of Bennington, was inspected on June 16th, mustering thirty-two officers and men. Following the muster the lockers were inspected and all State and Government property was checked up by Lieutenant-elect J. C. Holden, Acting Battalion Adjutant. While this was being done the Company, under Lieut, W. E. Frost, set out for the range, it being the intention to drill en route, but a rain storm set in, making the road so muddy that but little was attempted. Rain continued at intervals throughout the day, greatly interfering with the work and rendering rifle practice out of the question.

Mess was prepared by the Company cook with the field outfit, near the range, and was served in a very satisfactory

After mess the Company went through the ceremony of guard mount, which was followed by bayonet exercise. after which rain prevented any further work and the Company returned to the Armory and was dismissed.

The drill of this Company was not up to its usual standard, nothing being done with precision and uniformity. Discipline did not appear to exist in any form, and several men appeared to be more or less under the influence of liquor. All property was found in good condition and well cared for. Poor discipline was laid to the fact that a large number of men had nearly completed their term of enlistment.

Co. A, of Rutland, was inspected on June 17th, mustering thirty-one officers and men. After muster and inspection the Company proceeded to Main Street Park, where close order work and bayonet exercise were taken up, followed by extended order, the work being done in quite good form.

Sandwiches and coffee were served at noon by the Quartermaster Sergeant.

Guard mount was held after mess, after which Lieutenant Hyland was excused and the Company proceeded to the range, where practice was held at 100 yards. While at the range, which is within the city limits, two half barrels of beer were brought onto the grounds and tapped. Before the practice had closed the Inspecting Officer returned to the Armory to complete the inventory, and it is stated on authority considered reliable that several men became intoxicated and disorderly, and only the firm stand taken by the Second Lieutenant then in command prevented trouble.

Complaint was made by some of the enlisted men that their lockers were opened by officers and non-commissioned officers and parts of the uniform, etc., issued and charged to said enlisted men were loaned without their knowledge or consent to others, and in many instances were not returned, thereby causing confusion and frequently loss to the men who had receipted for the property.

The personnel of this Company was very good but lack of discipline evident. Little attention was paid to the many minor points so noticeable in a good soldier, and too much easy familiarity existed between officers and men.

State and Government property was found generally in good condition.

Co. C, of Brandon, which was inspected on June 18th, mustered forty-five officers and men.

After muster the Company marched to a field just outside the village, where close order drill was conducted until noon. At noon coffee was served, each man having his ration in his haversack.

Guard mount was performed after mess and was followed by extended order, platoon drill and bayonet exercise. The Company then proceeded to the range, where practice was held at 300 yards, preceded by pistol practice by the officers at 50 yards.

This Company made a very good appearance, considering that the weather had rendered outdoor drill impossible prior to the inspection and the Armory is entirely inadequate for the purpose to which it is put. Discipline was excellent and the personnel very good, the men being orderly and interested in their work.

On the evening of June 19th Captain Prouty, commanding Co. M, of Burlington, called upon the inspecting officers and the work for the following day was outlined.

Co. M, which was inspected on June 20th, mustered forty-six officers and men.

This Company has given up the rink building, which has been used as an Armory since the organization of the command, and has new quarters on Church street. The second floor of the building is devoted to very comfortable club rooms, locker rooms, etc., while the hall used for drill takes up the third floor and is still inadequate for the purpose. For social purposes the change is an improvement in some ways, but the loss of the large drill floor and abundant room of the old location is almost certain to have its effect on the organization.

After inspection and muster about an hour was spent in close order drill and bayonet exercise on Main street. The entire drill was excellent, bayonet exercise being the weakest branch. Platoon drill and close order work was well executed.

An advance guard was then thrown out and the Company marched about two miles out on the North road, where an imaginary enemy was met and driven back, after which the Company was dismissed for mess, each man having his rations in his haversack.

Mess was followed by an almost perfectly performed guard mount, extended order and the formation of a line of Cossack Posts, after which the command returned to the armory and was dismissed. The discipline and personnel of this Company was excellent, the men having the bearing of regular soldiers. Small details of courtesy and absence of undue familiarity towards the officers was very noticeable.

First Lieutenant E. D. Woodbury, who was ill with malaria contracted at Chickamauga in '98, was mustered after the Company and performed his duties, although physically unfit to do so.

Private Tobin, Company K, a student at the University of Vermont, was mustered and did duty with Company M and appears on its pay-roll.

As a result of the inspection I regret to report that aside from Company M the Second Battalion is not as well nor as broadly instructed as in previous years, a condition for which a variety of causes is responsible. The enlistments of about 50 per cent of the enlisted strength expire in August, which affects the attendance and interest of many. The effect of limiting the number of years for which an officer is commissioned can be seen in a variety of ways, the officers feeling that if they enforce the regulations they will not be re-elected, while the enlisted men feel that their officers are in a certain sense in their power.

Advance guard, outpost and signalling seem to have been almost entirely neglected. Interest in rifle practice seems to be increasing and considerable gallery work was done through the winter, particularly by Companies C, M and A.

Owing to the presence of the Battalion Adjutant each Company was able to gain about two hours work which has heretofore been lost.

All Company books, records, etc., were inspected by Gen. W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant and Inspector General, who accompanied the inspecting officers and gave them much valuable advice and assistance.

The accompanying tabulated return was prepared by Lieutenant-elect Holden, Acting Battalion Adjutant.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant, H. EDWARD DYER, Maj., 1st Inf., V. N. G., Com'd'g 2d Battalion.

Headquarters First Battalion,
First Infantry;
Vermont National Guard,
Northfield, Vt., June 25, 1902.

William H. Gilmore, Adjutant and Quartermaster General:

Sir—I have the honor to report that in compliance with General Orders No. 2, A. G. O., May 14, 1902, I visited the several Companies of the First Battalion at their home stations, inspected, mustered and observed the several drills, and found the strength of each command to be as follows:

Organization.	Present.	Absent.	Total.
Company H	48	7	55
Company F	47	5	52
Company I	49	8	57
Company E	50	2	52
	194	22	216

Maximum strength allowed by law, 240.

June 7th, at Brattleboro, Company I was inspected and mustered and all the State property, most of which was in serviceable condition, was accounted for. This Company is quartered in two small rooms and drills are held in the Town hall. Suitable quarters should be provided. The men were paraded without blue shirts, many of them wearing different styles of white collars, contrary to regulations, and presented a very unsoldierly appearance. The rifles were clean, but showed traces of oil, which should have been removed before inspection. One rifle was filled with oil and was unfit to be handled. At 10.30 a. m. the command went by electric cars to the range, where drills were held during the day. Rain interfered at times. Talking in the ranks by one or two men was noticeable, otherwise the drills were satisfactorily executed.

June 10th, at Northfield, Company F assembled at an early hour, being in command of First Lieutenant C. L. Morse. Captain C. A. Plumley being absent. The arms and equipments were in perfect order. The shoes of the men were not polished. State property was accounted for with the exception of two belts, one fork, two spoons, two knives, four campaign hats, five sheaths for knives and one cup. Drills were held at Riverside Park. This Company has a new armory, one of if not the best in the State, which was found neat, clean and orderly. A reading room with all the latest papers and magazines is provided; each member subscribes for and places one or more publications upon the reading table. A gymnasium has also been started. A new piano has recently been purchased by the members. All these do much to keep up interest in the command. The non-commissioned officers are not up to the standard with but one or two exceptions.

June 13th, at Barre, Company E was inspected. The rifles I found more or less nasty, seven of which needed repairs before being fit for use. I was informed by the Captain that they are in constant use in rifle practice at the range. Lieutenant Rodgers is the Company rifle inspector, and has a squad at the range each day for practice. The several drills of this Company were executed with a snap and precision which is worthy of emulation by other Companies. In the afternoon the Company went to the range, where each man shot five shots at the 200-yard range. The highest score made (Lieutenant Rodgers) was 24, and the average of the Company was 12.4.

June 14th, at Montpelier, Company H was inspected. All the State property was accounted for. With the exception of one rifle, arms were in perfect order. Belt plates with few exceptions were polished; shoes were polished except in three instances. The drills were held on the State House grounds. In the afternoon the Company went to the range. Highest score made at the 200-yard range, 24; average for Company, 11.27. That part of the armory where the lockers and State property is kept was in a very disorderly condition. After inspection the Company went to Seminary campus, where drills were held during the remainder of the afternoon.

Each Company was required to execute the ceremony of guard mount. All the officers and men were instructed in their duties. Previous to the inspection I had notified Company commanders that this would be taken up, and the manner in which it was executed demonstrated that the subject had been properly handled. The several commands are fully up to the condition of one year ago, Company F being in better condition. Company commanders should instruct their buglers to learn all the calls. Special mention should be made of the proficiency of the Company E buglers. close order movements and manual of arms were well executed, and now that drills can be held out of doors, more proficiency can be obtained in extended order. I required each officer and First Sergeant to drill the Company, and they are well qualified for their positions. The several Companies have men drilling to recruit the Companies to the maximum strength required by law. Each Company has a good sum in the treasury and Company bills all paid.

I was accompanied in my inspection by First Lieutenant Harry C. Moseley, Adjutant of the First Battalion, who assisted in many ways to make the inspection a success. Each Company commander should be particular that the men wear their campaign hats in a soldierly manner.

Adjutant General William H. Gilmore was present at each inspection, except at Brattleboro.

I have endeavored to report the condition of each Company in a fair and impartial manner, and would extend my thanks to the several officers for courtesies shown.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
FRANK L. HOWE,
Major First Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BATTALION. FIRST INFANTRY, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD, Bradford, Vt., June 10, 1902.

General W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Fairlee:

SIR-I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the four Companies of this Battalion (G. L. D. B) and the Hospital Corps, based upon my observation at the annual June drill and inspection held in compliance with General Orders No. 2, Adjutant General's Office, dated May 14, 1902,

In company with Adjutant and Quartermaster General W. H. Gilmore and Lieutenant W. W. Russell, Battalion Adjutant, I inspected the various organizations upon the days designated in the order.

With the exception of Company D (St. Johnsbury), the Companies did not make so good an appearance in their drill as at my previous inspection, in 1901 and 1900, owing in each case to lack of drill this present season, B, L and G having had no outdoor drills and the attendance at weekly drills having been small. Two years ago a large percentage of the membership was made up of men who had had the drill and discipline of 1898, which caused the commands to make an excellent showing. There are now very few of these Chickamauga men left. Upon inquiry I find that this is in no way due to lack of interest, but to removal from town and other While the places of these men have unavoidable causes. been filled with others whose personnel is fully up to the standard, the latter lack the drill and discipline necessary to make a good showing.

One of the severest criticisms I have to make is on the neglect on the part of officers to properly instruct individual soldiers in the A B C of Drill Regulations,—that is the Manual of Arms, School of the Soldier and School of the Company. There is no excuse for this, as the recruit should be thoroughly instructed in the squad before being allowed in the ranks of the Company. I saw among the men many cases of ignorance of these first principles of drill which showed carelessness on the part of their officers.

Another grave fault of many of the officers and noncommissioned officers was failure to correct errors in drill, allowing their men to execute movements in a slovenly The Sergeants, as file closers, did not do their duty in correcting intervals, positions of rifles and the many other little details of which they should take notice. I took pains to test in many ways the fitness of the non-commissioned officers and found them generally acquainted with their duties, and with few exceptions well qualified to command, but as noted above many were careless in the performance of their duties, due in some cases no doubt to limited experience and lack of confidence in themselves.

Poor discipline was especially noticeable in Company B (St. Albans), the Company appearing to consider it a huge joke when some of the non-commissioned officers were required to assume command. This fault should be remedied at once, as a good soldier in the ranks admires proper discipline, and it is the foundation of all else in a militia company. I have found in all cases a sufficient knowledge of drill regulations, but a carelessness in their application, a tendency to be easy with the men, to neglect the details of a movement which make it complete and are a necessary part of the discipline of a Company. More attention should be paid the individual soldier.

The armories of Companies D and L were in excellent condition, clean, orderly and well kept. Those of Companies B and G had a dirty and generally disorderly appearance, the men having been allowed to throw materials used in cleaning their rifles upon the floor and also to spit thereon. armory of Company G had not been cleaned for some time. The rifles, equipment and clothing of Companies B, L and D were in first class shape, with the exception of a few individual cases. Co. B had a few rifles not issued to men which were in very bad shape. I would recommend that this Company be furnished arm racks, as their present method of keeping the rifles in a close cupboard with sweaty clothing is very bad for them. I would also suggest that all Company lockers be provided with ventilators, which would allow the moisture and odors from sweaty clothing to escape. Company commanders should require the men to keep their clothing in the lockers, hung in a neat and uniform manner. Coat hangers could be provided at small expense, and trousers and shirt should be hung or folded. The equipment and clothing of Company G were in very bad shape, little attempt apparently having been made to present a tidy appearance. clothing was dirty, spotted and in some cases torn. Few of the rifles were clean except inside the barrel. breech was universally dirty inside, though only a few were rusty, none of the rear sights were cleaned, and in many the leaf could not be raised. The mess kits in a number of cases were sticky with food and grease; knives and forks rusty.

I saw no sign of intoxication or even the odor of liquor about the men, except in Company G, where it was noticeable both in the armory and upon individuals, two men being unfit for duty in consequence.

Dinner with one exception was prepared in the field, entirely by enlisted men, and in each case this was well and quickly done. No attempt was made at target practice, as I preferred the use of the available time for drill, which seemed to be the greatest need of the Companies.

The inspection of the Hospital Corps showed everything in first class condition, but owing to rainy weather no attempt was made to drill.

I wish to especially commend the excellence in drill of Company D, also the cleanliness of armory, clothing and equipment in Companies D and L. The finances of all the Companies seem to be in good condition, bills all paid and balances in the treasury in each case.

The record of the strength of the Battalion and the attendance at inspection and muster will be found upon the attached sheet marked "A," and the number of each article of equipment and clothing upon the sheet marked "B."

I have, sir, in making this report, endeavored to criticise the faults in the several Companies to the end that they may be corrected by those in command, believing that to ignore the faults and only praise the excellent qualities of both officers and men would work injustice to them, for only by hard and persistent labor on the part of all to correct every mistake and overcome every obstacle can we hope to keep and maintain the First Regiment at its present high standard.

I am, sir,

Very respectfully, HERBERT T. JOHNSON, Major, First Infantry, V. N. G., Commanding Third Battalion.

OFFICE OF SURGEON FIRST INFANTRY,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
St. Albans, June 20, 1902.

General W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant General State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report that pursuant to your approval I attended the meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, held at Washington, D. C., June 5th, 6th and 7th. I left St. Albans June 3d, returning the 9th.

The first session of the eleventh annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States met at the National Theater shortly after 10 o'clock, Thursday, June 5th, President Roosevelt delivering the address of welcome. The theater was crowded when the body was called to order by the President of the Association, Lieutenant Colonel John Van R. Huff, Deputy Surgeon General of the U. S. Army. The Marine Band occupied a part of the stage back of the officers of the association. President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretaries Shaw, Root and Moody, arrived just before 10 o'clock, and the distinguished gentlemen were seated on the stage. After the playing of a patriotic fantasia "The Voice of our Nation," Santelmann, by the Marine Band, the Rt. Rev. Henry V. Satterlee, D. D., Bishop of Washington, delivered the opening invocation. Then President Roosevelt delivered his welcoming address as follows:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen—I am glad to have the opportunity to bid welcome to the members of this association and their friends to-day. The men of your association combine two professions, each of which is rightfully held in high honor by all capable of appreciating the real work of men—the profession of the soldier and the profession of the doctor.

"Conditions in modern civilization tend more and more to make the average life of the community one of great ease, compared to what has been the case in the past. And together with what advantages have come from this softening of life and rendering it more easy, there are certain attendant disadvantages of suffering.

"It is a very necessary thing that there should be some professions, some trades, where the same demands are made as ever in the past upon the heroic qualities in a man, and those demands are made alike upon the soldier and upon the doctor, and how much more upon those who are both soldiers and doctors, upon the men who have continually to face all of the responsibility, all the risk faced by their brothers in the civilian branch of the profession, and who also in time of war must face much the same risks, often exactly the same risks, that are faced by their brothers-in-arms, whose trade is to kill, not to cure. It has been my good fortune, gentlemen, to see some of your body at work in the field, to see them carrying the wounded and dying from the firing line, themselves as much exposed to danger as those they were rescuing, and to see them working day and night in the field hospital afterwards, when even the intensity of the strain could hardly keep them awake, so fagged out were they by each having to do the work of ten.

"I welcome you here and I am glad to have the chance of seeing you, and I wish to say a word of congratulation to you upon this association. In all our modern life we have found it absolutely indispensable to supplement the work of the individual by the work of individuals gathered into an association. Without this work of the association you cannot give the highest expression to individual endeavor, and it would be a great misfortune if the military members of the surgical and medical profession did not take every advantage of their opportunities in the same way that is taken by the members of the medical and surgical profession who are not in the army or the navy or the Marine Hospital Service—who are in civilian life outside. I am glad to see you gathered in this association.

"Just one word of warning: Pay all possible heed to the scientific side of your work; perfect yourselves as scientific men able to work with the best and most delicate apparatus; and never for one moment forget—especially the higher officers among you—that in time of need you will have to do your work with the scantiest possible apparatus, and that then your usefulness will be proportioned not upon the adequacy of the complaint that you did not have apparatus enough, but upon the way you have done with what you had. Remember that, and remember also—that this applies especially to the higher officers—that you have got to supplement in your calling the work of the surgeon with the work of the administrator. You have got to be doctors and military men and able administrators." (Continued applause.)

The Marine Band then played the "Star-Spangled Banner." Commissioner Macfarland then spoke on behalf of the District Government.

He welcomed the association, gracefully and heartily expressing satisfaction that the meeting should have been held during the capital's most beautiful season, stating that a visit to Washington must exalt the just pride of any American. He said: "It is now not only the political and in some sense the social, but also the scientific capital of the United States. Here are the headquarters of the army and the navy, the Marine Hospital Service and all the scientific bureaus of the National Government. This is the center of such work as you represent." Mr. Macfarland designated the association as a body of "soldiers of health and torches that save from the soldiers of death." He pleasantly welcomed the foreign delegates and closed by expressing a hope for an international organization, which should meet, if not annually, at least every other year.

Commissioner Macfarland was followed by Dr. Samuel S. Adams, who, in the course of his address of welcome on behalf of the medical profession of the District of Columbia, paid high tribute to Surgeon General Sternberg.

Brigadier General Harries, who was to have addressed the meeting, was unable to be present.

Lieutenant Colonel John Van Renssalaer Hoff, President of the Association, in beginning his annual address, said that he considered it an honor to hold the office of president of the association. Colonel Hoff reviewed briefly the progress of the association during the past year, reporting that there had been 252 new names added to the rolls, making a total membership of 742. There is a balance in the treasury of $4,301.06. He referred to the aims, objects and accomplishments of the association, and concluded as follows: "Originated by civil practitioners to improve the efficiency of the medical department of the State forces, year by year the association has broadened its lines until it embraces in its membership not only the medical officers—past and present—of the National Guard and Volunteers, but of the army, navy, and Marine Hospital Service as well. Even more, our doors are now opened to the medical officers of the armies of all nations."

The business meeting in the ball room of the New Willard was called to order at 1 p. m. by the President. This session was largely devoted to the reading of reports of standing committees and officers. Major Jas. Evelyn Pilcher, Secretary of the Association, read the report of the secretary and editor publication committee and the executive committee. Other reports read and approved were those of the Treasurer, Lieutenant Colonel J. K. Weaver; credentials, Colonel Forwood; transportation, Major H. A. Briggs, and the report of the necrology committee by Captain G. P. Bradley. Short biographies of fifteen members of the association who have died during the past year were read by Captain Bradley. A resolution was adopted recommending that the executive committee prepare a report on the question of providing compensation for the secretary and editor of the journal.

The Enno Sander prize of $100 in gold and a gold medal valued at an equal amount was awarded to Lieutenant Colonel Valery Harvard, U. S. A., for the best essay on the "Most Practical Organization for the Medical Department of the U. S. Army in Active Service," honorable mention for the next best thesis going to Captain Frederick P. Rennels, Assistant Surgeon, U.S. A.

Upon the adjournment of the afternoon session the members of the convention went to the Washington Barracks to witness an exhibition drill of the Hospital Corps and a dress parade of the Engineer Corps. Nearly a thousand people, including the association, witnessed the exhibition at the Arsenal grounds.

The exercises, which lasted about an hour and a half, were unique, and brought before the surgeons and the general public the manner in which this important branch of the army is conducted in time of war. The drill was conducted under the supervision of Major Borden, who has charge of the general hospital, Captain Reynolds being in command of the Company of ninety men which gave the exhibition. The hospital corps soldier was seen in actual life, from the time of his enlistment to the time he reaches the firing line, the command being put first through the exercises of the recruit, after which an exhibition drill with the litter was given, and to close the program the company demonstrated how quickly and thoroughly a complete regimental hospital could be established. General Sternberg, Surgeon General, U. S. A., was present and explained to the foreign surgeons everything connected with the performance. He escorted them through the grounds while the men were at work. There were with him Colonel Exhane, British Army; Colonel Neilson, Canadian forces; Professor Neimier, French Army; Colonel Moleno, Mexican Army; Medical Inspector Kumara, Japanese Navy, and Captain Castelle, Japanese Army.

The exhibition opened with the Hospital Corps drill, the Company being brought up on the green in the center of the Arsenal grounds. The men were attired in field uniforms of kahki trousers and blue shirts, and they carried with them all of the paraphernalia needed for service. After the Company inspection they were put through the school of soldier, which included the assembly, the position of the soldier, the rests, salutes and facings. The setting-up drill was then gone through, following which the litter drill was given, the men going through the manual and marching with litters. They also carried loaded litters bearing comrades, and showed how to improvise litters, particularly with the blanket. Supposed wounded men were removed without litters by one bearer and by two or more bearers, and they were placed on horseback with others. The travois and ambulance were also brought on the field and put in use.

The pitching, striking and packing of a regimental field hospital was a pretty affair, showing as it did the distribution of the personnel, the arrangement of the tents, and the organization of the different departments, including the location and use of the articles of field hospital equipment. First was seen the work at the dressing station and at the front, a number of the members being placed under the shade trees, where their wounds were dressed under direction of a medical officer. In the meantime part of the Company is kept busy erecting the field hospital, and before the dressings of many of the men have been completed everything is in full operation. The main tent showed the headquarters, while others contained cots for the wounded, and in the kitchen were turned out sterilized water, soups and other articles of nourishment.

After the exhibition the surgeons and their friends were entertained at luncheon at the main building at the barracks by the local committee of arrangements, of which Major Geo. Henderson is chairman. The Hospital Corps of instruction has been established here for about two years, and the exhibition yesterday brought to the attention of army and navy surgeons throughout the country the immense good which has already been derived from the same.

The evening session convened at 8 p. m. It was devoted to the reading and discussion of papers on scientific and practical topics. Captain John C. Wise, Medical Director, U. S. N., read a paper on the "Education of Medical Officers for the Public Service," and a discussion followed. First Lieutenant N. G. Stanton, of the Illinois National Guard, speaking of "The Recruit," advanced the idea that many were mustered into service who were not sufficiently mature to stand the hardships of a campaign, admonishing medical men who had the examining of applicants of the care which should be used in the matter which so vitally affected the personnel of the army. He was warmly supported in his views by Colonel Exhane, of the British Army, who expressed his conviction that the minimum age of enlistment was now too low, illustrating his point with lessons drawn from the South African War. Dr. Rixey endorsed the first speaker, calling attention to the fact that it was wrong to admit men into the service, especially the navy, who had defective teeth. Dr. John N. Galtra provoked applause and discussion by a well written paper on "The Executive Element in the Training and Skill of a Military Surgeon."

Among the foreign military surgeons attending the convention are Captain Tamura and Captain Kimura, of the Army and Navy of Japan; Colonel Exhane, of the British Army; Colonel Neimier, of the French Army; Lieutenant Colonel Moleno, of the Mexican Army; Lieutenant Colonel Neilson, of the Canadian Army; Dr. Enricho Castelli, delegate from the Royal Army of Italy to the Association of Military Surgeons of America.

The second day's session opened at 9 o'clock Friday morning in the ball room of the New Willard. The morning session was a short one, being chiefly devoted to the consideration of routine business. The first matter to come up was the discussion of an act permitting the surgeons to incorporate, which the association will endeavor to have passed by Congress at the present session. The physicians are of the opinion that their organization would gain in usefulness, dignity and strength, and be put on a firmer basis generally if it were a corporate body. As all the members are in the service of the Government of the United States, it is necessary to have a special act of Congress passed before they will be permitted to take this action.

The proposed act of incorporation was referred to the executive committee with power to act by vote of the convention Friday morning. It was also voted that the chair appoint a committee of three to wait upon the Judiciary Committees of both Houses of Congress for the purpose of presenting the views of the organization on the subject and learning the views of the committees in return.

The prize winning essay by Lieutenant Colonel Valery Harvard was read at this session, and the interesting discussion which followed was opened by Captain Frederick P. Rennels, winner of the honorable mention for the second best thesis on the same subject.

At 12.30 o'clock almost the entire body of delegates boarded the President's ship Dolphin for a trip down the river, returning in time for the business meeting at 8 o'clock in the evening. This meeting was devoted to the discussion of the hygienic and sanitary phases of the military surgeon's work. At this meeting was given a report of the nominating committee.

The report of the nominating committee was unanimously accepted at the morning session which opened the last day of the convention, and the Secretary of the association was instructed to cast the ballots of the convention for the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Brigadier General Robert A. Blood, of Massachusetts; Vice-President, Medical Director J. C. Wise, U. S. N.; Second Vice-President, Sergeon General Walter Wyman, U. S. Marine Hospital Service; Secretary, Major James Evelyn Pilcher, Brigade Surgeon, U. S. V., Captain, retired, U. S. A.; Treasurer, Lieutenant Herbert A. Arnold, U. S. A.

Owing to the fact that it was necessary for many of the delegates to return to their active duties in various parts of the country, it was decided to dispense with the annual banquet; also the reception by the President, which had been arranged for the afternoon, was abandoned.

A resolution presented by Colonel W. W. Grant, of Colorado, indorsing the Dick Bill for the reorganization of the National Guard, now pending before Congress, was adopted by the convention at the last day's session. It read as "Resolved, That the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States recommend the passage of bill number 11654, known as the Dick Bill, favorably reported by the Committee on Militia in the House of Representatives, of which General Chas. Dick is Chairman, as it meets the requirements of the National Guard of all the States and Territories." Colonel Grant then explained that section 3 of the bill provides for an organization on the same basis as that of the regular army of the United States. gives to all arms of the service, including every department, the same equipment as now issued to the regular army or arms that may be hereafter issued.

Capt. C. P. Wertenbaker, U. S. M. H. S., stationed at New Orleans, offered a resolution regarding the establishment of a Military Medical School, and moved that the Chair appoint a committee to formulate plans for the school, to be reported at the next annual convention. The resolution, which was carried, is as follows: "Resolved, That it is the sense of this Association that a school for the training of medical military officers has become a necessity, and its establishment is recommended."

Among the papers read at the morning session was one by Capt. K. Tamura, a surgeon in the Japanese army. He set forth the results of an original investigation conducted by himself among the Japanese troops in Japan, Formosa, Korea, and during the Chinese war. At the close of the paper Captain Tamura was given a vote of thanks by the Convention and permission obtained to print his address in the records of the meeting. At noon the convention took a recess.

Shortly after 1 o'clock of the 7th the installation of the new officers was held. Boston has been selected as the meeting place of the next convention.

The convention on the whole was one of the most successful held by this organization.

Respectfully submitted,

G. C. BUKLEY, Major and Surgeon.

Headquarters First Infantry,
Vermont National Guard,
Office of Inspector of Rifle Practice,
Rutland, Vt., July 14, 1902.

To the Adjutant and Inspector General, State of Vermont:

Sir-I have the honor to submit herewith my reports of rifle practice for the years 1900 and 1901.

The season for rifle practice during the year 1900 was from April 1st to December 31st. The general orders governing practice for that year slightly lowered the required score for second-class qualifications with the reasonable expectation that all of the Companies would thereby be enabled to make some showing at least in rifle practice, and that a greater number of men having attained the lowest grade, they would be encouraged in their practice and continue the same with hopes of reaching the higher grades. This order also established a grade of marksmanship to be known as "Expert" and requiring for qualification an aggregate score of 90 out of a possible 100 from five shots each at the 200, 300, 500 and 600 yard ranges. This grade was established to encourage sharpshooters to still further efforts to perfect themselves and continue in practice. Both these changes have done much to increase and disseminate interest in rifle practice among officers and men.

The r	eturns	for	qualifications	for	1900	are	28	follows:

	Second class.	First class.	Marksmon.	Sharpshooters.	Experts.	Total qualifications,
A	1	0	0	0	2 0	3

Company B was unable during 1900 to secure any place to build and equip a range. Company L had one of its score books lost or stolen, and although several of its members are thought to have qualified in the second class, as the records are lost they cannot be classed as having qualified.

The rifle practice for 1901 was from March 1st to November 31st, inclusive. A number of changes were instituted for 1901. New monthly and annual report blanks were devised for systematizing and expediting the work of this office; the silhouette paper targets were issued in place of the old style ones; a third class of rifle practice was established; practice firing as skirmishers was ordered and instructions issued for the same and revolver practice was instituted.

The third-class grade was instituted because it was felt that it was much more important to have all the men do a little practicing than to have a great deal of practicing done by a few men, that it would be an incentive to more general practice, and that it would accustom the men to the position assumed at the longer ranges. The necessary qualifications for that grade were made low and each Company was required to qualify at least 30 men in that or higher grades.

It was deemed necessary that the officers should become familiar with and proficient in the use of their firearm, the revolver, so three grades were established for revolver practice and a suitable badge given to those who qualified.

Skirmish firing is so important that every effort should be made to encourage practice in it. If it is impossible for any Company to indulge in such practice at their home ranges, they should be required to take it up at the State Camp.

The returns for qualifications for 1901 are as follows:

The above returns show a gain over 1900 of nearly 50 per cent in number of qualifications made and a gain of over 90 per cent in general efficiency or accuracy. This is a very gratifying showing and is evidence of much hard and conscientious work on the part of the Company officers and men. Some of the Companies for various reasons, such as failing to make monthly reports as ordered, no opportunities for gallery practice, changes of officers, etc., made no showing at all, but the difficulties in their way have nearly all been adjusted and they give promise of work this season.

As it is essential that every officer should have the regulation .38-calibre revolver and familiarize himself with the weapon and with revolver practice, it is recommended that the State furnish each Company with three revolvers and with sufficient ammunition for practice, or in case the officers prefer to own their revolvers, the State might supply the revolvers and ammunition at cost.

In order that the Inspector of Rifle Practice may keep in close touch with the individual Companies, in order that he may know what difficulties, if any, hinder their practice, the condition of their ranges, their methods of keeping and filing scores and returns of practice, and that he may be able to compare and check up their reports with the original scores, it is necessary that some provision be made whereby he can visit and inspect the Company practice on their home grounds at their annual June drill or such other time as may be designated.

Respectfully submitted, CHAS. H. LANDON, I. R. P., First Infantry, V. N. G.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT, NORWICH UNIVERSITY, NORTHFIELD, VT., August 1, 1902.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont:

SIR—I have the honor to report as follows in regard to the work done in the Military Department for the year ending June 26, 1902:

The year's work has been as follows:

Infantry drills	13 9
School of Soldier and Company	139
School of the Battalion
Artillery drills	13
Parades	14
Inspections under arms	36

Theoretical instruction has also been given by recitations attended by senior, junior and sophomore classes, each class twice a week. No lectures have been given by the Commandant. A new gallery target has been placed in position in the drill hall. During the season the improvement in rifle practice has been due in part to the practice at the gallery.

Under orders from the Secretary of War, the Military Department was inspected by Capt. J. E. McMahon June 19, 1902.

During the encampment, June 14th to 24th, inclusive, there was thorough instruction given in guard duty and camp discipline. The duty was performed with determination on the part of officers and men to illustrate the guard duty as fully as possible with the small force at hand.

The three cadets of the class graduated June 26, 1902, who, in my opinion, have shown the greatest proficiency in the Military Department and displayed the greatest aptitude for military service are: Guy Henry Watson, Lyndonville, Vt.; Robert Truman Phinney, Montpelier, Vt.; John Theodore Smith, Russell, St. Lawrence County, N. Y.

The total number of cadets instructed during the year was 73; graduated, 11.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant, CHAS. S. CARLETON, Captain, V. N. G., Professor Military Science and Tactics.

HEADQUARTERS, NORWICH UNIVERSITY,
NORTHFIELD, VT., August 9, 1902.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Fairlee, Vt.:

SIR—I have the honor to report upon the encampment of the Section of Artillery, Norwich Cadets, held at Camp General W. H. Gilmore, Northfield, Vt., in compliance with Special Order No. 11, dated A. G. O., State of Vermont, May 22, 1902.

The camp was established June 14, 1902, at guard mount, in the morning. The cadets put up the tents under my direction during the day, the camp being laid out according to U. S. Army regulations.

During the encampment the guard consisted of an Officer of the Day, an Officer of the Guard, a Sergeant of the Guard, three Corporals and twelve privates. In addition to the above officers the Cadet Major was designated "Assistant Instructor of the Guard," ranking the Officer of the Day.

There were four posts embracing each side of the camp. The guard was kept on post from 8 p. m. until 8 a. m. each day. Between the hours of 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. a portion of the guard remained at the guard tent, consisting of a Sergeant, Corporal and two privates of the guard. The object of this arrangement was to allow members of the new guard to attend morning drill and members of both old and new guard to attend afternoon drills. All cadets were thoroughly instructed in guard duty and were (with few exceptions to the rule) able to repeat their General and Special Orders as well as to answer many questions as to details of their duties in general.

At first call for parade and guard mount the guard was assembled at the guard tent. The camp was policed each morning by members of the old guard and each company street by its own company. Tents were inspected daily by ranking officers or the Commander of the Camp.

On June 19th the Section of Artillery was inspected by Capt. J. E. McMahon, Artillery Corps, U. S. A.

There were three drills each day on the parade or target practice on the range. The improvement in the shooting from day to day was very good in most cases. About 3,500 rounds of ammunition was expended in practice.

The Commander of the Camp was on duty during the entire time of camp, and inspected the guard during the night and found the sentinels active and well instructed. The discipline during camp was excellent.

Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. S. CARLETON.

Captain, V. N. G., Commanding Camp "Gen. W. H. Gilmore."

SAXTONS RIVER, VT., August 2, 1902.

Major General W. H. Gilmore, Adjutant and Inspector General, V. N. G., Fairlee, Vermont:

SIR—In response to your request of July 23, I respectfully submit the following report of the work of the office of Regimental Commissary, First Infantry, V. N. G., for the Annual State Camp, August 17-23, 1901.

As stated in General Orders No. 15, Headquarters First Infantry, V. N. G., it was the intention of Colonel Estey to follow closely the regular army ration, with the additions of a few articles of food such as milk, butter, cheese, etc. There was a good deal of complaint from the men during the first two days, that the meat was not sufficient in quantity, so we made an increase on the amount and everybody was satisfied. There was no complaint as to the quality of the food at any time and I think by giving a larger amount of meat per ration at the outset this year we may avoid all complaints.

The total number of rations served was 4,422, and the total cost was $1,325.98, making the cost of the ration practically 30 cents. It is hardly likely that we can serve the same quality and quantity this year for the same price, owing to the higher price of many of the articles of food.

I wish to express my appreciation of the very efficient assistance I received from the Regimental Commissary Sergeant, Arthur E. Randlett, who by his faithfulness and efficiency was able to relieve me of much of the work.

I enclose a statement of the amount and cost of the rations in detail, a duplicate of that which I presented with my report to you at the close of the camp.

Thanking you for your uniform kindness and courtesy, I am.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH M. WOLFE.

Captain and Commissary Sergeant, First Infantry, V. N. G.

Statement of quantity and cost of rations for the annual camp, First Infantry, V. N. G., August 17-23, 1901. The total number of rations served was 4,422, which at 30 cents would amount to $1,326.60, just a little more than the cost of our rations.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

Supervisors of the Insane

OF THE

STATE OF VERMONT

FOR THE YEARS

1901-1902.

Supervisors' Report.

To His Excellency the Governor and the General Assembly:

The supervisors of the insane hereby make report for the biennial period ending June 30, 1902.

Pursuant to duties prescribed by statute we have made periodical visits, once a month, to the State Hospital at Waterbury and the Retreat at Brattleboro, and once a year to the Lake View Sanitarium at Burlington.

It is with pleasure and no little satisfaction that we are able to report the excellent condition of these institutions, and the harmony that prevails between the management, staff and nurses, and the noticeable interest that is manifested by all, in the endeavor to restore the mental faculties, to promote the well being and happiness, and thereby bring contentment to the unfortunate inmates of these places. observed that they are treated as patients, a diagnosis made in each individual case and every effort made to bring about recovery when such a result is possible, and what, in our opinion, is of greater importance, if possible, because of their greater number, the best known methods are made use of to ameliorate and improve the condition of the hopelessly insane. From our observation we have found but little if any cause for criticism. If in any instances such has been the case we have met with a cordial response on the part of the management.

THE STATE HOSPITAL.

On June 30, 1900, there were 524 patients here, and on June 30, 1902, 527. During this period the supervisors discharged 91. Of this number 27 were demented, the so-called harmless insane, discharged to be cared for outside an institution by the towns from whence they came. Of this latter number, 5 have been returned to this hospital and 3 to the Brattleboro Retreat, making nearly one-third of this class who were discharged found unfit to be at liberty.

We have made a special effort to weed out, as it were, all such cases, and have discharged every one whom we have considered harmless and could be cared for at home, with the result as stated above. Our opinion of these cases has been arrived at upon the recommendation of the superintendent for consideration, and upon a careful examination of each individual so recommended. To the casual observer it would seem that many more of these patients are harmless and could be cared for at home; but while a person whose every day life is carefully regulated, under the direction of physicians educated in this direction, and under the supervision of nurses and attendants trained for this purpose, gets on very well, living a quiet and in many instances a contented life, this same individual if at liberty, among friends at home or in the average town poor house, where the environment is such that by the unavoidable friction that occurs between the clouded and unbalanced mind and that of the ordinary individual, goes to pieces, so to speak, gets excited, becomes dangerous and confinement in an institution is the only proper thing for such a person.

During this biennial period 79 patients have died; the cause of death in 11 of this number being tuberculosis. At the present time there are 16 suffering from this disease. tuberculous patients are kept out of doors in the open air practically all of the while during the day time, but are of necessity in their rooms on the halls during the night. An effort is made to isolate them as much as possible, but with the present accommodations at the hospital, association more or less with others not so affected can not be avoided. In view of the fact of the numerous cases of the disease, of its infectious nature, of the difficulty and impossibility of controlling these irresponsible people in the care of their expectoration and excretions, it is hereby recommended by the board of supervisors that a cottage with an open air pavilion, entirely separate from the hospital, be built, where all the tuberculous insane can be cared for, thus securing complete isolation of these patients. This is advised in the interest of the tubercular patients, as they can be better cared for with a fairer prospect of recovery, in the interest of the other patients and nurses in the way of prevention, and in the interest of the State as tending to lessen the extension and ravages of this dangerous communicable disease.

In the case of Casius Morse of Randolph, who had been confined alone for 14 years in a building made for the purpose near his father's residence, and cared for by his parents, the board in June, 1901, for a second time advised his removal to the State Hospital, and by permission of the court this was done. This was a case of homicidal insanity, the young man having killed his attendant, who was caring for him at his From a mistaken idea of kindness his father and mother wished to have him near them and under their care, a dispensation by the court was granted, a building erected and for fourteen years this man was kept there. A noticeable change in his condition for the better is apparent, emphasizing the fact that association of the insane is conducive to their well being, and that segregation, restraint, seclusion and solitary confinement tends in the opposite direction.

In February, 1901, the board recommended the discharge of Miss Mildred Brewster, who was committed to the State Hospital by the court May 19, 1898, for homicide, having been adjudged insane. From careful observation and repeated examinations we formed the opinion that she had fully recovered her mental faculties. She is an inmate of the hospital at the present time, and continues to remain in her normal sane condition, the same as when her discharge was recommended.

During the biennial period the building for the nurses' home has been erected and will be ready for occupancy as soon as an appropriation is made to furnish the same. It will accommodate 30 people and is a model of excellence for the purpose for which it is intended. This is a very desirable and we might say necessary addition to the hospital, as tending to the health, happiness and contentment of the nurses, thereby encouraging permanence and longer continuance of This new building is for female nurses only. The building on main street called the "annex" which was bought a few years ago is used for male nurses and attendants. With a cottage pavilion for tuberculous patients in addition to the present buildings nothing would seem to be wanting to make the Vermont State Hospital for the Insane an ideal institution of its kind. The pathological laboratory, under the supervision of the medical director, Dr. Berry, is of great value in the way of diagnosis and pathological research.

The training school for nurses is conducted in the laboratory building. In 1901 eleven nurses graduated, in 1902 five. Seven of the nurses employed are now taking the course, and four of the graduates are employed at the present time.

Whole number of nurses employed in the hospital 70, making one nurse to every $7\frac{1}{2}$ patients.

Changes in the staff made during the biennial period are as follows: Dr. W. L. Wasson was appointed in July, 1901, as junior assistant. In the spring of 1902, Dr. Farmer resigned to enter general practice and Dr. Wasson was promoted to his position; Dr. S. R. Carsley was appointed to the position made vacant thereby, in June, 1902. At the present time we have Dr. Morello Hutchinson, Superintendent; Dr. W. D. Berry, Medical Director; Dr. C. G. Andrews, first assistant; Dr. W. J. Upton, second assistant; Dr. W. L. Wasson, third assistant; Dr. S. R. Carsley, junior assistant. These men are all of high standing in the profession and thoroughly interested in their work.

THE BRATTLEBORO RETREAT.

Notwithstanding the fact that our visits at this institution have more frequently than otherwise been made at irregular and unexpected times, the geniality and cordial welcome with which we have been received by Dr. Lawton and his assistants have been noticeable. Every facility has been given us to become familiar with the worst side of the every day life of the hopelessly insane, the maniac, the paranoiac, the melancholic, the epileptic and the general paralytic. The doors have always been wide open to us and we have found that every effort is made to render the lives of these unfortunate beings as peaceful as possible. Dr. Lawton, who is widely known as an alienist, is the superintendent, Drs. Thompson and Calder, his assistants, constitute the medical staff, all of whom are conscientious, hard-working, able men.

By referring to the tabular statement, it will be seen that two hundred and eighty-two patients were admitted to the Brattleboro Retreat during the biennial period ending June 30, 1902, of whom one hundred and forty-three were men and one hundred and thirty-nine were women. Two hundred and twenty-seven were discharged as follows: Recovered, seventy-eight; improved, sixty-one; not improved, ten; died, seventy-eight.

Of those discharged, thirty-five were by order of the State Board of Supervisors as follows:

Recovered, nine men and fourteen women; total, twenty-three.

Improved, six men and three women; total, nine.

Unimproved, two men and one woman.

Of this number, one woman suffering from recurrent mania was twice returned. Also two men; one suffering from recurrent mania and one suffering from alcoholism; the latter has since been discharged and has suffered no relapse. One man from Rutland county, discharged by the Board from the State Hospital at Waterbury, suffered a relapse and was returned to the Retreat, and two women from Windham county, also inmates of the State Hospital, were regarded as suitable persons to be cared for in their homes, but became so troublesome as to require their commitment to the Retreat.

At the close of the biennial period ending June 30, 1900, there were under treatment at the Retreat, two hundred and eighty-one patients, of whom one hundred and twenty-seven were private and one hundred and fifty-four were State. The present period closes with a total of three hundred and thirty-six, of whom one hundred and thirty-four are private and two hundred and two State—a gain of seven private patients and forty-eight State patients, twenty-five of whom (twelve men and thirteen women) were transferred from the State Hospital November 17, 1900.

portion of patients to each attendant being eleven.

With the exception of three cases of measles, and three cases of tuberculosis, there have been no contagious or infectious diseases among the patients or employees.

The exceptional out-door features of this institution have been so often alluded to as to render it unnecessary to refer to it here, further than to say that the utmost pains is taken to keep all patients who are physically able in the open air as much as possible; the women patients having for their exclusive use a sightly shaded walk, skirting the flower and vegetable gardens, nearly one mile in circuit, with croquet grounds, lawn-tennis court and a commodious veranda for use in stormy weather. The male patients have reserved for their exclusive use a wooded hillside park of thirty acres, with over two miles of paths, nearly all of which take the patients out of sight of the institution.

During the winter months a regular course of entertainments has been carried out, several of which were given in the amusement hall by the patients themselves, and the gymnasium is used daily by the male patients.

Two visits have been made to this institution, during the biennial period, by the full board.

Twenty-one were discharged recovered or very much improved, three unimproved and six died. Apoplexy was the cause of death in two, exhaustion from continued nervous disease in three, and alcoholism in one. The general health at the sanitarium has been exceedingly good. As no violent, noisy or very excited cases are received, time and opportunity are afforded to divert, amuse and entertain, which with "open house" gives the patients a feeling of trust, and home sickness is really rare to find. Neurasthenia or nerve exhaustion from some cause, insomnia, the so-called "border line" cases, mild melancholia, and that class of cases make up the large "Out of doors" is the word in warm per cent of the inmates. weather, either sitting in the shade, driving, or on one of the lake steamers for the day. During cold weather games and attending entertainments in the city are freely indulged in. This is twenty years of successful operation of this first private institution in Vermont, which seems to demonstrate the requirements for its existence. Many of the patrons are from outside the State, but the larger per cent are Vermont people. General repairs have gone on about the place. The milk used is raised on the premises, as also are many of the vegetables, eggs, etc. We are always received very cordially by Dr. Clark, the owner and superintendent of this institution, and have never found anything to criticize, but everything to commend here.

It will be seen that the recommendations of the board are few this term. The State Hospital has 503 and the Brattleboro Retreat 202 State patients, making a total of 705. At the State Hospital there are 24 private patients, making a total at this institution of 527, which is the limit of its capacity. The Retreat at Brattleboro can accommodate 100 more than they now have. With a cottage for tubercular cases as recommended, to accommodate from 20 to 25 patients, the Brattleboro Retreat to take the overflow as it may occur from the State Hospital, our State would be second to none in equipment for the care of her insane.

All of which is respectfully submitted as the biennial report of the State Board of Supervisors of the Insane.

Trustees' Report.

To His Excellency, William W. Stickney, Governor of the State of Vermont:

The Trustees of the Brattleboro Retreat herewith respectfully present their report for the biennial period ending June 30, 1902, being the sixty-fifth and sixty-sixth years of the corporate existence of the institution.

The accompanying report of the Superintendent shows the number of admissions and discharges of the patients, also an abstract of receipts and expenditures.

As our means permit, we are gradually improving the wards and making them more comfortable and attractive. The appropriation of four thousand dollars made by the Legislature in 1900, with a considerable amount in addition thereto from the usual income of the institution, has been strictly applied to improvements in plumbing, heating and ventilation, and in these respects the Retreat is in splendid condition. Other improvements are in contemplation, but the amount necessarily required to be expended annually for repairs to the buildings and for furniture is very large, and, with the increased cost of provisions and supplies, we have not been able to make all desired progress.

A laboratory, suitably equipped, is greatly needed here, but we have not at present the means to establish it.

It should be understood that the Retreat is not endowed, that it has no funds, and is entirely dependent upon the income derived from the support of patients.

A quotation from the report of the Trustees in the year 1838 is appropriate: "The Asylum is entirely a public institution, and whatever funds may arise from the board of patients and other sources are applied exclusively to promoting the objects of this charity. The Trustees serve gratuitously and in no respect is the institution a source of profit pecuniarily to any individual. The terms are fixed as low as consistent with the support of the establishment."

The above policy has been adhered to. No Trustee has received compensation, and no money has been diverted from its legitimate purpose. After the payment of current expenses, all money has been applied to the better accommodation and comfort of patients.

We would add that the requirements of the Act of 1873 have been strictly observed ever since that Act was passed, and every State patient that has been presented for admission here has been received to the exclusion of large numbers of private patients. It has also been our policy to maintain State patients at the actual cost, including of course necessary repairs and improvements to the institution.

FREDERICK HOLBROOK, JAMES M. TYLER, WM. H. ROCKWELL, RICHARDS BRADLEY, Trustees.

Two hundred and eighty-two patients were admitted during the period, of whom one hundred and forty-three were men and one hundred and thirty-nine were women. This exceeds the number of admissions during the preceding period by sixty-one.

Twenty-five patients (twelve men and thirteen women) were transferred to the Retreat, from the State Hospital, by order of the Trustees of that institution November 17, 1900.

One hundred and sixty-two were committed and supported by friends, of whom eighty were men and eighty-two were women.

Sixty-three men and fifty-seven women, one hundred and twenty in all, were committed by order of the Probate Courts and supported by the State, with the exception of one man, who was supported by private means.

The period closes with three hundred and thirty-six patients, of whom one hundred and seventy-three are men and one hundred and sixty-three are women.

Of those admitted, upwards of forty-five per cent were already in a chronic state of insanity. Forty were between fifty and sixty years of age; thirty-two were between sixty and seventy; thirty-one were nearly eighty; seven were between eighty and ninety, and one man, suffering from senile dementia, was ninety-one.

Two hundred and twenty-two were suffering from the first attack; thirty from the second; nine from the third; four from the fourth; one from the fifth, and eighteen unknown.

Attention is specially called to the fact that of those admitted, the largest number (thirty-two) were suffering from senile insanity and were beyond all hope of a cure.

Of the two hundred and eighty-two admissions, one hundred and thirty-eight were laboring under an incurable form of mental disorder.

It is an interesting coincidence that the number of admissions of men and women was exactly the same: One hundred and thirty-four each. The number of single and married men was the same, fifty-nine. The number of single and married women was the same, forty-nine, and the number of recoveries and deaths was the same, seventy-eight.

The average age of those admitted was forty-seven years. Heredity was assigned in seventeen per cent.

Seventy-six per cent were residents of Vermont, and fiftyone per cent were born within the State.

The whole number of patients treated in the two years was five hundred and forty-nine; two hundred and eighty-five men and two hundred and sixty-four women.

Two hundred and twenty-seven patients were discharged as follows: Recovered, seventy-eight; improved, sixty-one; unimproved, ten; died, seventy-eight.

The percentage of recoveries on the whole number admitted was: Men, twenty-eight per cent; women, twenty-seven per cent.

The large percentage of deaths on the whole number under treatment (men, fifteen per cent; women, thirteen per cent), is chiefly due to the fact that more than fifty per cent were upwards of sixty years of age. Thirty-one were over seventy (forty per cent); twenty-seven were over seventy-five (thirty-five per cent); eighteen were over eighty (twenty-three per cent); ten were over eighty-five (thirteen per cent); two were ninety and ninety-one, respectively.

The average age, above seventy, of those who died was seventy-seven and one-half years.

The average residence of twenty patients who died of old age, or conditions dependent thereon, was two months and twenty-three days. Two women had been continuous residents of the Retreat fifty-seven and forty-nine years, respectively. Two men had been continuous residents fifty-five and forty-seven years.

Our camp buildings, erected eighteen years ago on one of the highest and most commanding sites of the Retreat estate, to which weekly parties have been sent for a day's outing, became so much out of repair as to make it more economical to rebuild. This work has been accomplished, the enclosure enlarged, picturesque vistas opened in the grove, and a carriage road, of easy grade, constructed to the buildings, thus enabling us to bring the benefits of this delightful spot within the reach of the infirm, to whom it has been heretofore inaccessible.

The work of renovating and improving the wards in the Marsh building, which was begun shortly after the transfer of patients to the State Hospital, is now practically completed and will add considerably to our accommodations. Heat has been introduced into all the rooms and an abundance of fresh air is also insured by means of an effective system of forced ventilation.

The appropriation of four thousand dollars, authorized by the Legislature of 1900, has been a material help in improving our sanitary arrangements. Twelve bath-rooms have been overhauled and provided with modern features; special pains having been taken to render the ventilation as nearly perfect as possible.

Respectfully submitted,

S. E. LAWTON, Superintendent.

July 1, 1902.

ADMISSION OF PATIENTS.

Blank forms necessary for the admission of patients will be furnished upon request, and it is especially important to remember that medical certificates are not valid, under the present law, if executed more than ten days prior to bringing the patient to the Retreat.

Patients can be received only when accompanied by physicians' certificate of insanity complete in all particulars.

Those seeking admission from without the State, and those brought with defective papers, may be examined by physicians residing in this town, after their arrival at the institution.

The terms for private patients vary according to the accommodations and attentions demanded.

The ordinary rates include one room, medical attendance, medicine, board, nursing and the service of attendants at all times. Handsomely furnished suites can be had at moderate rates. A bond for support is required to be executed at the time of admission.

Applications for admission of patients and letters of inquiry should be addressed to the Superintendent,

S. E. LAWTON, M. D., Brattleboro, Vt.

WILLIAM J. REDMOND.

TREASURER,
M. HUTCHINSON, M. D., at the Hospital.

Trustees' Report.

To His Excellency the Governor of Vermont:

The Trustees of the Vermont Hospital for the Insane respectfully submit their seventh biennial report, together with the reports of the Superintendent and Pathologist, and the statistical tables showing in detail the affairs of the institution. The average combined number of patients at this Hospital and the Retreat at Brattleboro during the last two years is larger than during any previous period, and at the present rate of increase the two institutions will soon be overfilled.

The cost of maintenance has necessarily been larger owing to the general rise in wages and merchandise.

During the past year we have built a nurses' home, for which an appropriation was made by the last session of the Legislature.

We were able to keep the cost within the amount of the appropriation, as a considerable portion of the work of construction, the excavating, grading, etc., were done by hospital labor.

The home is capable of accommodating forty nurses and is supplied with a heating and lighting plant and it is now ready for use.

We feel that the building is substantial, well-built and will furnish an atractive home for the lady attendants and be conducive to their general welfare.

During the period covered by this report we have not had a suicide or a homicide in the institution.

The Laboratory continues to be a successful addition to the Hospital.

From the report of the Pathologist it will be seen and noted that the second class of nurses has graduated from the training school. The school has imbued the attendants with a sense of the dignity of their calling and with a feeling of the necessity of constant endeavor. The entire institution has become impressed with the great possibility of recovery taking place in a very large number of the cases that come to us.

The Kraepelin classification of the inmates has been successful and has rendered the management of the institution more thoroughly scientific.

Many needs are urgent upon the Hospital, but under the present conditions, when such high prices prevail, we only press our request for the following two appropriations, viz.: Six thousand dollars for improvements in the boiler house and additions to the electric apparatus; $1,200 for real estate.

The work of the Superintendent, the Pathologist and other members of the staff has shown good results, and we thank these officers and the heads of departments for their loyal service and efficient assistance.

The appropriation made by the last Legislature to Brattleboro Retreat has been of great benefit to that institution. The money has been expended as proposed, and we cannot too highly commend the management of what is in reality, though not in name, a State institution.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. W. WING, WM. N. PLATT, CHAS. H. MAXHAM,

Trustees.

Report of the Superintendent.

To the Board of Trustees:

Pursuant to the rules of the Hospital, I present herewith the seventh biennial report of the Superintendent, together with the customary statistical tables and financial statement. The following table exhibits the movement of the population and the results of treatment obtained:

======================================

During the biennial period there have been 225 commitments, representing 216 persons; 25 more commitments than during the last previous period. In the month of November, 1900, by your direction, 25 patients were discharged and transferred to the Brattleboro Retreat, affording some needed relief to the somewhat crowded male wards. Notwithstanding this transfer there remained at the Hospital at the close of the period three more patients than were present at its commencement.

The daily average number of those resident in the Hospital was 511.74, or 269.56 men and 242.18 women, of whom 9.28 men and 9.12 women were supported as private patients. Of the 225 admissions, 25 were discharged as recovered, 17 men and 8 women, while 28 died, 21 men and 7 women. Of these same persons after observation and diagnosis, 145 persons, 87 men and 58 women were regarded as incurable.

During the period there were five successful elopements, 4 men and 1 woman, but of these 1 man and 1 woman have been found and returned to the Hospital since June 30th, the close of the period.

Of the 225 admissions, 80 were over 50 years of age, and of these 19 were over 70. Table 13, showing duration of stay in Hospital of cases recovered, and Table 14, showing duration of insanity previous to admission of those recovered, confirm the general rule of expectancy that recovery will occur within the first twelve months of sickness if at all.

Of those who died 51 were more than 50 years of agr, and of these 23 were more than 70; 11 were paretics, 10 epileptics, 4 imbeciles, 21 seniles and 2 post apoplectic.

The general health of the Hospital during the last two years has been good. There has been no special sickness, other than a few cases of typhoid fever, and for these few cases no special or common cause has been found. In the month of October, 1900, two men on one ward and two women on different wards developed the fever. All these persons had been resident in the Hospital for several years. All these cases had a mild run of the fever and all recovered. In October, 1901, one woman who had been in the Hospital twenty-two months had a mild run of the fever and recovered. In June, 1901, a man was admitted from Barre whose insanity proved to be the delirium of typhoid fever. His sickness was protracted and resulted in death three and a half months after admission.

There are at all times a considrable number of tubercular persons resident in the Hospital. Apart from the use of drugs, it is our constant effort to keep all such cases isolated when on the wards and out of doors on all suitable days from morning until evening.

In January, 1902, owing to the existence of smallpox in some of the communities from which the Hopital receives commitments, its entire population, both employe and patient, was vaccinated with satisfactory result. Of those vaccinated fully 95 per cent responded to the action of the virus and without unfortunate consequence. It is intended to continue the practice of vaccination from time to time in the future in connection with new patients or employes.

Repairs and improvements are always in order and necessary in any institution of such a nature as is ours, and much work of that character has been accomplished which it is not necessary to mention in detail.

The new building for a nurses' home for women which is being erected under a special appropriation is rapidly nearing completion, being in the hands of the painter, who is far advanced in his work. Some steps have been taken in providing the necessary furnishings.

The training school for nurses has completed its third year, and has graduated two classes, in 1901 five men and six women, in 1902 two men and three women. Few of these graduates continue in the service of the Hospital at the present time, but it is felt that some good has resulted to the Hospital in its care and treatment of those entrusted to it because of the lectures and demonstrations which have been given regularly by the staff.

Several graduates have taken a subsequent special course in connection with other hospitals not for the insane.

As usual, religious services have been held each Sanday in the assembly room, which have contributed much to the happiness and comfort of those who were able to attend. The following clergymen have kindly shared in officiating at these services: Reverends G. E. Ladd, L. K. Willman, H. J. Maillet J. W. Illsley, P. A. Smith, W. H. Trafton and F. B. Kellogg.

For the diversion and amusement of the patients there have been the customary weekly dances during the winter, numerous sleighrides in which all have shared, a few evenings which have been devoted to a lecture illustrated by stere-opticon, to an exhibition of magic and ventriloquism, to recitation and impersonation, to vocal and instrumental music, to drama and music by the employes.

Magazines, illustrated papers and other reading matter in considerable quantities for the use of the patients have been received from the Good Literature Committee of the Christian Endeavor Society, Mrs. Henry Janes, Rev. Mr. Elliot, The Public Reading Room, Mrs. Calkins and Mrs. James C. Thurston, all of Waterbury; also from Hon. E. B. Taft, of Burlington; A. D. Ladeau, of Randolph; C. M. Wicker, of North Ferrisburg. Hon. E. W. Huntley, of Duxbury, contributed nine barrels of apples. The Winooski Valley Agricultural Society has granted the patients and their nursee free admission to its annual exhibitions. The above donors have bestowed much pleasure upon the recipients of their bounty.

The Hospital is fortunate in retaining the services of so many of its tried and faithful officers. Dr. F. E. Farmer, after two years of faithful service as associate physician, resigned in April, 1902, to enter upon the private practice of his profession. Dr. Wasson, laboratory and junior assistant, has been promoted to fill the vacancy thus created. Dr. S. R. Carsley, a recent graduate of the Medical Department of the University of Vermont, has assumed the duties of laboratory and junior assistant.

Full recognition should be made of the valued and efficient services of the non-medical officers and also of a considerable number of nurses and attendants who have been interested in and faithful to their duties, frequently performed under very trying circumstances.

I trust you will allow me to express my appreciation of and gratitude for your hearty cooperation and advice so kindly and helpfully given at all times.

MARCELLO HUTCHINSON. Medical Superintendent.

Report of the Pathologist and Clinical Director.

In accordance with the wishes of the Superintendent and Board of Trustees, I herewith respectfully submit the report of the medical and pathological work done in the Hospital during the past biennial period.

In looking at the former report concerning the events of importance in establishing a new scientific department, I am impressed very strongly with the futility of attempting to give anything like a complete review of the progress during the past two years. We have advanced now to a well-grounded system for work, which has shown repeatedly that fairly considerate results have begun to crown painstaking efforts.

Our staff meetings continue to be interesting and instructive. The same plan of work as outlined in my former report, in regard to the summarization of cases has been adhered to, and in the matter of bringing up cases for discharge this plan of conference has been of real practical value, resulting in a free interchange of opinion prior to their being recommended as proper risks to be at large. The phraseology and classification of our mental diseases remains upon the distinct Kraepelian base inaugurated three years ago. The rapidly increasing interest in Kraepelin's work during the past five years, and the constantly growing number of his disciples, should be in itself eminently satisfactory to us and lead us on to future endeavor, all the more strenuous, in the accumulation of data which some day may serve to help unravel these psychological mysteries.

The training school for nurses has now been in active operation for three years. The former schedule of lectures and class recitations has been followed systematically except for a few minor changes. The programme referred to consists in a regular lecture each week by one of the staff physicians, and two class-recitations each week in charge of the matron and superintendent of nurses, who has the entire responsibility of individual instruction and demonstration attending the full course of study. In connection with this work a prize contest in bandaging was held with satisfactory results and an increased interest was manifested. The graduation class of 1901 numbered twelve. This year's class numbered five. The apparent falling off in number graduated is due to a variety of circumstances which can be understood by learning of the frequent changes attendant upon an entering class during a residence of two years in a hospital of this character. In spite of the diminution of this graduating class there is but little doubt concerning the beneficial effect upon the Hospital that this school of instruction has given. We observe added efficiency and interest in the routine work and an effort toward a higher grade of intelligence, as well as a more intelligent view of the individual patient in cooperating with the physician's work.

A new feature of considerable professional importance has been added to the Hospital during this period. It consists of a small, well-equipped surgery and examination room upon each wing of the institution, adjoining the "sick hall" or receiving ward. In order to review the surgical work performed since the establishment of these rooms I will simply enumerate the number of operations performed and give the results in a general way.

Two cases of carcinoma of the breast were operated on with no evidence of recurrence up to the present time. Four curettements and in three of these trachelorraphy was performed. Of these four cases two were notably improved by the operation both mentally and physically. One case of lupus vulgaris of face and back was operated on with curette and cautery and a very satisfactory result obtained. In this case the nose and upper lip were greatly enlarged, reddened and indurated, and several palm-size excoriated suppurating areas were present in the mid-dorsal region. The back and upper lip presents a complete evidence of the eradication of the disease, but one or two small points are beginning to appear about the bridge of the nose. Twenty-five sebaceous cysts had begun to break down, and, besides being very unsightly, were the source of constant annovance to the patient. at times necessitating mechanical restraint in order to prevent interference and consequent inflammation. An old palmar contracture of the hands and fingers, which was primarily due to a severe burn, was operated on, and by means of constant care in the granulation process, the free use of fingers and hand have been restored. The individual being an epileptic and usually enjoying work about the institution, he is particularly grateful. Among our otherwise suffering population we have executed the radical operations on two inguinal herniae and one strangulated femoral hernia with good results. Seven cases of haemorrhoids (internal and external), four minor amoutations, one fistula in ano, one ischial abscess and one adenoma of the breast were also operated on and satisfactory results obtained. It has been our practice to deplete the uterus of the endometrial lining by means of curettement in all cases of amentia or collapse delirium occurring in connection with parturition, and in several cases we have experienced quite satisfactory results.

While it has been a much mooted question concerning the value of surgical procedures among the insane as a means of relief, yet it cannot be consistently said that conservative surgical interference does not offer a fruitful field of investigation and never rewards satisfactory results. Modern civilization demands that surgical diseases of the insane shall be as carefully treated as among those of sound mind. ing to Plato "mens sana in corpore sano," this being said in relation to the importance of taking proper exercise and hygienic measures before one could expect a sound mind. the same way, relatively, do we expect to gain clearness of mental apperception after using surgical measures, though we are often disappointed at the meagre result. The influence of an operation upon the mental symptoms of an insane individual depends more on the nature of the insanity than upon the surgical procedure which has been performed. can be no question as to the wisdom of giving to the insane the greatest possible relief from the suffering or discomfort of physical infirmity and this without regard to the mental It is a common experience to see an amelioration of mental symptoms follow the cure of a hernial protrusion or the repair of a lacerated cervix. It can be stated without fear of successful contradiction that this improvement does not depend necessarily on the location of the lesion. Sometimes as much relief will follow the removal of haemorrhoids as after the repair of lacerations of the cervix uteri. are undoubtedly a number who are afflicted with gallstones. as is shown by our autopsies. Diseases of the genital organs in the male, such as phimosis, hydrocele and occasionally a varicocele, need operative treatment. Diseases peculiar to the female are common, uterine and ovarian tumors, occasionally retro-versions and retro-flexions, often accompanied by inflammatory symptoms, lacerations of the cervix and perineum, etc., all demand attention, and in properly selected cases they should be surgically treated. These few common indications for operative interference are but examples of the field of surgery in which its results cannot be questioned. The patient certainly has a right to the largest measure of relief which can be given, and our duty is not finished when we have fed and clothed our patients and concentrated our efforts on securing thorough histories and making proper diagnoses.

The work within the laboratory has been somewhat handicapped during the past biennial period by several changes which have made serious inroads in the routine work. During the inception of the work attempts were made to carry on the technical portion of this labor by having an under-graduate in medicine perform these duties. Later on it was conclusively demonstrated that this plan of procedure was ineffective, primarily for the reason that a wider knowledge of the subjects in hand, together with some experience in pathological technique, was the fundamental prerequisite for intelligent labor in this line. With the advancement of these views it was particularly pleasing that the Trustees rendered these difficulties to a minimum by having a junior assistant physician appointed each year who besides learning considerable in medical and neurological work, has broad opportunities for acquiring a practical knowledge of gross and microscopic pathology.

The writer has now delivered two consecutive courses of lectures upon mental diseases at the Medical Department of the University of Vermont, and in connection with these has conducted two clinics illustrating the various types of diseases of the mind. The clinic of the past year was particularly satisfactory to the lecturer, since the accumulation of data accruing from the more recent system of observation rendered the case easily presentable and instructive.

An interesting and valuable series of physio-chemical experiments upon the quantitative elimination and determination of the chlorides and phosphates in the urines of the patients as a whole were followed systematically with the view of confirming the findings advanced recently as to its relation to existing insanity. An extended analysis of the urines of the epileptics before and after convulsions have been made. The conclusions arrived at will appear in print at a later date.

In computing the amount of tuberculosis from our autopsies, the percentage has been reckoned as fairly as possible. The common adhesions of the apices of the lungs and pleurisy with or without effusion have not been considered as of tubercular origin. Those cases which have shown substantial evidence of the existence of the disease have alone been counted. With these ideas in view, the percentage computation figures 31.2 per cent of tuberculosis found in ninety-three autopsies in this institution.

It is not with the hope of presenting anything new that I offer these statistics for your consideration, but only that we may keep before our minds a question that is surely of utmost importance to our institution and one that seems to need immediate attention in many hospitals for the insane, where provision is not made for the separate care of those suffering from tuberculosis. When so earnest endeavors are being made in every country and in almost every State in the Union to control the spread of this scourge among the general public, it seems highly important to recognize the danger and to make proper provision for the restraint of the disease among those who are directly under our supervision and control, for nowhere is the need of isolation more supremely urgent than among those who are unaccountable for their actions.

The difficulty of controlling the habits of the insane is known chiefly to those who are concerned with their care; but when we see tuberculous patients in wards daily with a receptacle for sputum at their bedside who yet prefer, in spite of the utmost care on the part of their nurses, to expectorate on the floor or into the bed linen, one is at once convinced of the difficulties in the way of controlling such cases. This, then, is all the more reason for their isolation, as the chief danger comes from the dried sputum.

In as far as we have been able we have carried out the open air treatment among all of our positive and suspicious cases of tuberculosis. It has been our constant endeavor to wage war against this disease. There have been from ten to fifteen cases of each sex taking this open air treatment, and, by means of clinical and serum diagnosis, we are occasionally adding to this number.

Since opening this department of work there have been scientific contributions to various medical journals which perhaps are here deserving of mention: "Cytological Features in Two Cases of Hereditary Chorea," American Journal of Insanity, Vol. LVII, 1900; "A Study of Idiopathic or Progressive Pernicious Anaemia with Clinical and Post-Mortem Reports," Journal of Vermont Medical Society, 1901; "Medico-Legal Phases of the Vermont Observation Law for Criminal Insane," American Journal of Insanity, July, 1902.

Again I desire to express my appreciation for the support accorded me in carrying on this department of labor.

Abbreviated Post-Mortem Data Since October, 1899.

The following table of abbreviated post-mortem data collected from autopsies since October, 1899, shows many points of pathological interest. In order to have some idea of the relative association of these pathological entities with the mental state, I have appended first the mental diagnosis and followed with the pathological features in their order of importance, and the latter, I may say, are in no way meant to be the final solution, for in the vast majority they are simply protocols.

No. 1. Senile Dementia—Pulmonary oedema right lower lobe; haziness of pia mater; basilar and meningeal arteriosclerosis; also present in aorta and coronaries; unusually large and heavy calvarium due to hyperostosis of internal table of skull (weight, 880 grams); cystic ovaries.

No. 2. Senile Dementia—Pulmonary oedema; arteriosclerosis of aortic ring and pulmonaries; haziness of pia mater; calcareous basilars; old trochanteric fracture of left femur; sclerotic cystic kidneys; biliary and hepatic adhesions.

No. 3. Dementia Praecox—General miliary tuberculosis; dura mater and basilars showing characteristic tubercular deposits of minute size, though not found on pia mater, which, however, showed considerable thickening and opacity about the medulla; supernumerary costal cartilages.

No. 4. Melancholia of Involution—Pulmonary oedema of left lung; chronic obliterating fibroid pleurisy of right lung with effusion into pleural sac; abdominal ascites; numerous peritoneal adhesions; dilatation of stomach; small adhesion of aorta to pericardium; several medium sized milk spots; accessory lobe of liver; lobulated kidneys; old adhesions of vermiform appendix; oedematous hyperaemic pia mater; haziness of cysterna.

No. 5. Senile Paranoia—Pulmonary oedema; old pleurisy of left lung; nodules and scars of apices (T. B. not found); impacted biliary calculi; hepatic cirrhosis; arterio-sclerosis of coronaries; aorta and basilars; sclerotic cystic kidneys; large ovarian and intra ligamentous cysts; residuals of old pericarditis.

No. 6. Dementia Praecox—Enlarged purulent veriform appendix containing one gall stone and two faecal concretions; numerous firm adhesions surrounding appendix with abscess cavity and perforation in ileum; pulmonary oedema and a peculiar yellowish mottled appearance, marked hyperaemia of aortic intima; oedema of pia; frontal lobes adherent.

No. 7. Paranoia—Mitral stenosis; cirrhotic liver; abdominal and scrotal ascites; atheroma of mitral and aortic valves; also found in bronchi; adhesions apex of left lung; unusually firm splenic tissue; fibrosis of bladder; small renal cysts.

No. 8. Senile Melancholia—Pulmonary oedema of both lungs; atheroma of coronaries; residuals of old pericarditis; haziness of pia mater; brown atrophy of heart.

No. 9. Senile Dementia—Chronic interstitial nephritis, mitral insufficiency; adhesious apices of both lungs; double pulmonary oedema; atheroma of aorta; coronaries and basilars; distention of gall bladder; general hyperaemia of Rolandic area with oedematous portions.

No. 10. Epileptic Dementia—Fat necrosis; pulmonary oedema; cirrhotic liver; biliary calculi; abdominal ascites; thickening of bladder walls; slight shortening of mitrals; atrophy of testicles; congenital hypospadias; large left kidney; contracted right; haziness of cysterna.

No. 11. Dementia Choreica—A chronic pleurisy of both lungs without effusion; caseous nodules of left apex (T. B. not found); oedema of lower lobes; pulmonary arteries atheromatous; considerable shortening of mitrals; encapsulated biliary calculi in fissure of gall bladder outside of gall duct (the lumen of the cystic duct being intact, there is reason for belief in old cholecystitis with rupture and a consequent attempt by nature to repair the damage); fibroid of uterus; old cicatrices of rectum and anal fistulae; cirrhotic ovaries; thickening of splenic capsule; adhesions of dura to calvarium in region of several well-defined hyperostosis and several subdural adhesions corresponding to these points of contact; dura and pia considerably thickened, with several small blotches of haemorrhage beneath pia; hypertrophy of inguinal gland.

No. 12. Infectious Deliria—Mitral insufficiency; pulmonary oedema with beginning gangrene and residuals of chronic pleurisy; interstitial nephritis; renal and splenic infractions; cirrhotic liver; considerable arterio-sclerosis; elephantiasis of legs.

No. 13. Senile Dementia—Double pulmonary oedema (one-half upper and whole lower lobe left, upper and middle lobe of right); general arterio-sclerosis (calcareous deposits on aortic valves, athermatous patches of ascending aorta and basilars); shortening of mitral valves; cystic kidneys with small renal calculus in hilum of right side.

No. 14. Epileptic Dementia—Pulmonary tuberculosis (left lung a cavity size of egg in upper lobe, few patches of healthy tissue in lower lobe, whole organ otherwise solidified;

No. 15. General Paresis—Double pulmonary oedema (portion of lower lobe of right, nearly whole upper lobe of left); whole pleural surface of right lung adherent; internal pachymeningitis (general thickening of dura and an internal membrane of considerable toughness between the dura and pia mater, especially noticeable over the frontal lobes); olfactory bulbs adherent; granulations of fourth ventricle; general diffuse whitening of the serous and fibrous layers of the pericardium; contracted kidneys.

No. 16. Traumatic Dementia—Right lobar pneumonia; oedema of left lung; general arterio-sclerosis; residuals of chronic pleurisy; pericarditis and peritonitis; hypertrophic liver; glioma of right motor area in contact with bony excrescence (history of blow at this point); embolus of right pulmonary extending to bifurcation.

No. 17. Senile Irritability—Aortic aneurism with rupture into the pericardial sac; dilatation and atheroma of basilar arteries; cirrhotic liver; hydronephrosis; old scars of both apices of lungs.

- No. 18. Dementia Choreica (Huntington's Chorea)—Chronic haemorrhagic internal pachymeningitis (dura mater uniformly thickened; firm fibrinous membrane slightly adherent to pia; space between dura and false membrane filled with purulent sanguinous fluid; internal surface of dura covered with small, raised ulcer-like elevations evidently the seat of extravasations of blood and septic products; collections of pus along line of pial blood vessels; haemorrhagic condition of spinal membranes with considerable adherence between dura and bony wall of spinal canal and this confined to anterior half throughout the entire extent); congested kidneys; calvarium showing marked depressions and fenestrations more particularly marked and numerous over the frontal bone.
- No. 19. Periodic Mania—Pulmonary tuberculosis; brown atrophy of heart; interstitial nephritis; general arterio-sclerosis; cirrhotic ovaries; contracted stomach; fibroid of uterus; linear scars of liver capsule; oedematous and whitened pia; calvarium much thickened.
- No. 20. Epileptic Dementia—Pulmonary tuberculosis; endocardial vegetations on aortic and mitral valves; cirrhotic liver; cystic kidneys with several infarcts; hypertrophy of right olfactory bulb; adherent frontal lobes; cirrhotic ovaries; uterine fibroma; general arterio-sclerosis; persistent thymus and cystic thyroid.

No. 21. Chronic Mania (?)—Chronic ulcerative enteritis; several hyperaemic areas on external surface of intestinal walls; tissue necrosis and perforation of ileum one foot from ilio-caecal valve; general adherence of omentum; hypostasis and oedema of lower lobes of both lungs; general arteriosclerosis.

No. 22. Infectious Delirium—Double oedema pulmonum (entire left lung, lower lobe and apex of upper lobe right lung); pleura adherent to entire left side; venous hyperaemia of brain; congested cystic kidneys; diaphragmatic adhesions of left lobe of liver; hyperaemic spleen.

No. 23. Melancholia of Involution—Pneumonia of both lungs (upper lobe and lower part of lower lobe of left; lower portion of upper, entire middle and lower right lobe); atheromatous ring at beginning of aorta; congested kidneys with increase of cortical substance.

No. 24. Traumatic Dementia—Internal pacchymeningitis (thickened adherent dura, thin, false membrane and on left side between dura and membrane a mass of dark, clotted blood and considerable serum); arterio-sclerosis (calcified spicules on aortic valves, atheroma of basilars and coronaries. biscuspid and tricuspid valves studded with endo-cradial growths); hypostasis of both lungs; interstitial increase of liver substance; two small biliary calculi; cystic kidneys with a small irregular calculus in left hilum; hydrocele of left testicle; dura adherent over frontal region.

No. 27. Melancholia of Involution—Aneurysm of descending aorta with rupture into oesophagus; pulmonary oedema lower lobes of both lungs; emphysema and old pleurisy of both lungs; calcification of internal carotids, aorta and coronaries; mitral insufficiency with vegetable growths: olfactories markedly atrophied, especially noticeable on left side.

No. 27. Circular Insanity—Chronic interstitial nephritis with large cysts; nodular edges and fibrous growths upon mitral valves; calcified spicules on aortic valves; atheroma of coronary and pulmonary arteries; atrophic liver; clear fluid in peritoneal and pleural cavities; hypertrophy of pancreas and small areas resembling fat necrosis, otherwise scattered about over omentum and small intestine; no tubercle bacilli found; cultures from hilen of kidneys showed quick growth of encapsulated bacilli.

No. 28. Epileptic Mania—Lobar pneumonia of left lung (consolidated hyperaemic condition of central and lower portions with whitened elevations, oedema of upper portion); pleura adherent; kidneys small, granular, adherent capsule, indistinct pyramids; corset sulci of liver.

No. 29. Exhaustion Associated with Carcinoma Metamorphis—Colloid carcinoma of rectum (large cauliflower growths in rectal folds extending from a point five centimeters above analorifice to lower portion of signoid flexure with thickening of contiguous walls of bladder and uterus); oedema of right lung; pleuritic adhesions numerous; residuals of old tubercles; asymmetry of Circle of Willis (communicatory arteries of right side of smaller calibre).

No. 30. Dementia Praecox—Pneumonia plus tuberculosis; for pneumonia (consolidated condition of right lower lobe); for tuberculosis (apices of both lungs having caseous nodules and tubercle bacilli demonstrated); cirrhotic liver; enlarged gall bladder with increased fibrous mural structure; one leaf of mitral admitting only little finger; calcification of coronaries and bronchi; anomaly of calvarium (quarter sized depression mid parietal region with a foramen to internal table of skull said to have been the result of blow from hammer).

No. 31. Melancholia of Involution—Lobar pneumonia of left lung (consolidated fist sized area dependent portion lower lobe) fibrinous pleurisy of right with hypostasis; interstitial nephritis (both kidneys presenting several large and numerous small cysts; obliteration of cortex to a mere line; increase of fibrous elements) thickening of edges of mitrals; one large and several small mulberry biliary calculi; atheroma and calcification about the coronaries and aortic ring; atheromatous condition of basilars and carotids; calcification of external illiacs and abdominal aorta.

No. 32. Infectious Delirium—Acute leptomeningetis (great congestion of large and small blood vessels over entire pial surface with considerable milkiness of an exudative character along the blood vessels), acute parenchymatous nephritis; hypertrophic liver; slight oedema of pia independent portion; whitened condition of visceral layer of pericard-ium; third day after necropsy, cultures taken from pia on nutrient gelatin showed no evidence of growth.

No. 33. Terminal Dementia—Diffuse softening right occipital lobemitral insufficiency (one leaf very much thickened and bound down directly to papillary muscle); interstitial nephritis (thinning of cortex, adherence of capsule, mottled, pitted, granular appearance with small cysts in pyramidal portions) general atheroma; three large biliary calculi; large splenic infarction; hyperostosis of calvarium in frontal region.

No. 34. Simple Depression—Pulmonary tuberculosis right upper lobe adherent with large cavity filled with pus), slight atheroma of coronaries.

No. 35. Senile Dementia—Tetanus following convalescence from extensive frost bite to both feet; bacillus tetanus found upon pia mater (vegetative form) marked engorgement and firmness of left ventricle; congestion of pial vessels; both kidneys granular; right hyperthropied, left atrophied; aortic insufficiency (calcification of one cusp, the other two having vegetative growths); general calcification of arteries; pulmonary oedema; splenic hypertrophy; gangrenous feet and line of demarcation.

No. 36. Circular Insanity—Status epilepticus without previous attack and resultant aspiration pneumonia (a well marked consolidated area lower lobe left lung); thickening of calvarium in frontal region; small cysts of gall bladder.

No. 37. Epileptic Dementia—Lepto-meningetis (thickened whitened pia along line of blood vessels; considerable quantity of clear fluid subarachnoid space; atrophy and slightly compressed condition of convolutions) interstital nephritis (thinning of cortex, increase of fibrous tissue, one or two small cysts of left) caseous nodules of left apex; residuals of pleuritis and pericarditis.

No. 38. General Paresis—Whitening, thickening and engorgement of pia along line of blood vessels; adherent and degenerated olfactory bulbs, general softened condition of entire cortex, more particularly noticed about the thalamic lobes in region of nucus; well marked granulations of fourth ventricle; diffuse whitening of cysterna; cervical and dorsal cord showed considerable softening; pulmonary oedema; slight atheroma of basilars and aorta.

No. 39. Involution Psychosis—Pulmonary tuberculosis (whole of right and lower lobe of left in semi-caseous consolidated condition, cavities in right filled with pus which show microscopically tubercle bacilli; tubercular meningetis (pia greatly oedematous and whitened with minute nodules scattered about); these also showed tubercle bacilli; slight haziness of cysterna; right ventricle of heart filled with well organized dark clots very adherent to valves; atheroma marked about the longitudinal sinus; atrophy of stomach.

No. 40 Senility—Bronchitis (hyperaemia of both large and small bronchi, the small bronchi being bright red and the large, brownish red in color); pulmonary oedema and pleurities (entire pleural surface of both lungs adherent); atheromatous thickening of edge of mitrals; interstital nephritis (atrophic condition of both sides) atheroma of aorta and 'pulmonaries and both atheroma and calcification of basilars; renal infarct.

No. 41. Circular Insanity—Double pneumonia (red hepatization of lower lobe of right and entire left lung), small renal cyst, otherwise kidneys showed no lesion; old strictures of urethra and rectum; small cyst of uterine wall.

No. 42. General Paresis—General thickening of meninges and large amount of oedematous distention; diffuse softening of cortex; marked granulations of fourth ventricle; interstitial nephritis (thinning of cortex of right, cysts of left, adherence of capsules and increase of connective tissue in both); residuals of pleurisy and pericarditis.

No. 43. General Paresis—Lepto-meningitis (uniform congestion of pial vessels, minute extravasations over entire surface with only slight thickening of meninges), pulmonary oedema, slight thickening of one leaf of nitrals; residuals of pleurisy and appendicitis.

No. 44. Dementia Praecox—Mital insufficiency; valves shortened, nodular and entwined with firm masses of mixed clots; fenestrations of aortic cusps; both kidneys markedly granular showing very marked thinning of cortex; large cysts of both ovaries, atheroma and calcification of aorta and pulmonary artery, atheroma of basilars.

No. 45. Epileptic Mania—Aortic thrombi within cusps, and purulent, half degenerated masses found in center of each; oedema and hypostasis of lungs.

No. 46. Senile Melancholia—Cystic kidneys (left containing several small systs, right having one size of a quarter) cardiac hypertrophy; rather large cystic tumor mass conjoined to an unusually large hypophysis; atheroma of nitral and aortic valves; nodules of atheroma also present on external surface of aorta—residuals of pleurisy and pericarditis old intracapsular fracture of right femur.

No. 47. Senile Dementia—Mitral insufficiency plus renal sclerosis (mitrals bound down by short papillary muscles and considerably shortened, kidneys very small, cortex contracted and granular, capsules very adherent, one cyst of left size of pigeon's egg); bronchitis (bronchi much reddened, having considerable exudate); liver showing red atrophy of Virchow; spicules of calcification on internal surface of aorta and a few on cusps, slight atheroma of pulmonary, considerable of circle of Willis and basilars; pea-sized multi locular cysts of each choroid plexus.

No. 48. Infectious Delirinm—Suppurative pericarditis plus fibrinous pleurisy (large amount of white creamy purulent fluid within pericardium, left lung adherent at apex, along line of pericardium and at diaphragmatic, having several adherent pockets filled with purulent fibrinous material); amyloid liver (reacting to iodine test); pulmonary oedema; minute cysts of both choroids.

No. 49. Alcoholic Depression—Acute nephritis (cortex thickened and much congested, great distention of small vessels, capsule reddened and adherent, pyramids much congested); pulmonary oedema; residuals of pleurites; distinct granulations of fourth ventricle.

No. 50. Dementia Praecox (paranoid form)—Acute nephritis (congested, adherent capsule, reddish mottled cortex with whitened elevations of external surface, minute areas of haemorrhage in cortical portion of left kidney; right much swollen and whitened, with little congestion); atheroma of coronaries, aorta, bronchi and pulmonaries; peasized cysts of choroids; residuals of pericarditis; anomalous crysta galli; slightly reddened areas about both olfactory bulbs, more particularly adherent and congested about the bone.

No. 51. Senile Dementia—Exhaustion following traumatism (comminuted, impacted fracture of neck of right femur with large exudative callous masses); atheroma of aorta and basilars; several spicules and fibrous masses in spleen capsule, atrophic kidneys and liver; fat degeneration of heart muscles.

No. 52. Imbecility—Chronic entero-colitis (general hyperaemia, slight extravasations and engorgement of blood vessels of mucous surfaces); tubercular pyonephrosis (tubercle bacilli demonstrated from pus found in left kidney); right kidney in earlier stage of disease, with numerous nodules of rather soft consistency.

No. 53. Melancholia of Involution—Double pulmonary oedema; vesicular emphysema; small slightly granular sclerotic kidneys; atheroma of aorta, especially marked in the cerebral and basilars; cystic choroid plexus of right side.

No. 54. Epileptic' Dementia—Tubercular nodules and cavities in apices of both lungs, with broncho-pneumonia of lower lobes; atrophied spleen; passive congestion of liver; thickening and opacity of pia; haziness of cysterna; large multilocular cysts of thyroid gland, with black chromatic degenerated masses scattered over its surface; thymus gland not present. (One photograph.)

No. 55. Dementia Praecox (terminal state)—Diffuse cerebral softening of left corona radiata; intra lobar pneumonia of right lung ("hob nail" liver); pea-sized infarction of right kidney; uterine fibroid; fat degeneration of heart muscle.

No. 56. General Paresis—Thickening and opacity of pia mater; granulations of fourth ventricle; adherent frontal lobes; softened cortex; chronic haemorrhagic interitis (petechiae of duodenum, jejunum, ileum and portions of caecum); kidneys sclerotic; fibrous nodules and cavities in lung; no tubercle bacilli found in pus.

No. 57. General Paresis—Opacity and oedema of pia, thickened dura, adherent frontal lobes; granulations of fourth ventricle well marked; pulmonary oedema.

No. 58. Epileptic Dementia—Status epilepticus; pulmonary oedema; left kidney and right ovary cystic; large multiple fibroids of uterus.

No. 59. Senile Melancholia—Chronic diffuse interstitial pneumonia, on ground of failure to find tubercle bacilli coupled with diffuse fibrous masses throughout and areas of gray translucent induration, cardiac dilatation; many cysts of kidneys filled with gelatinous substance; carcinoma of pancreas.

No. 60. Senile Paranoia—Inanition following traumatism (extra capsular comminuted fracture of head of left femur); cheesy nodules within apices of both lungs failed to show presence of tubercle bacilli, general atheroma marked particularly of basilars, cysterna hazy, pia congested; left kidney cystic, cortex thin in both.

- No. 61. Dementia Praecox (hebephrenic form)—Idiopathic progressive pernicious anaemia; fenestration of aortic valves, remarkable thinness of right ventricle and portion of left bulging and somewhat thin and very flabby; pulmonary oedema with pleurisy and gelatinous exudate; wholly confined to right lung; petechial haemorrhages in liver section; calvarium peppered full of small reddened depressions over parietal and frontal regions almost reaching through skull; red bone marrow; diffuse ecchymoses upon internal surface of dura. Clinically—Haemoglobin index by Dare's Haemoglobinometer reduced to 10 per cent; red corpuscles 131,000; transitory vertigo; sensations of pressure within brain; haemic aortic murmurs.
- No. 62. Senility (no psychosis)—Pulmonary oedema plus bronchitis; interstitial nephritis; cysts filled with colloid material in right lobe of thyroid gland; costal sulci of liver; fibrosis of bladder; residuals of probable tubercular processes at apices of both lungs.

No. 63. Dementia Praecox (hebephrenic form)—Pneumonia of right lung, middle and lower lobes in stage of gray hepatization; fibrinous pleurisy with exudation and enlarged bronchial glands; large swollen kidneys granular and congested; asymmetrical skull.

No. 64. Terminal Dementia—Pulmonary tuberculosis (numerous large cavities containing purulent fluids from which tubercle bacilli shown); both lungs filled with tubercular processes in various stages; enlarged mesenteric and bronchial glands; brown atrophy of heart; residuals of pericarditis; congested cortical portion of kidneys; small fibroids of uterus.

No. 65. Imbecility—Anterior polio-myelitis (clinically by character of onset of paralysis; progressive contractures and loss of muscular power of anterior groups; absent knee jerks); firm adhesions and old extravasations of blood in anterior portion of spinal canal; residuals of pericarditis; elevations and depressions upon internal table of calvarium corresponding to convolutions; adherent olfactories.

No. 66. Senile Dementia—Cerebral softening of right motor and visual areas; large ovarian cyst of right side with small portion near pedicle filled with multilocular colloid masses; suppurative mesenteric glands; cystitis; residuals of pericarditis; general atheroma.

No. 67. Dementia Praecox—Status epilepticus; endocardial congestion; hyperaemia of aortic intima and valves; lobulated kidneys; adherent olfactory bulbs; moderate pial congestion.

No. 68. Infectious Delirium—Accompanying typhoid fever; extensive intestinal ulceration slightly perceptible in small intestine but more typical in large intestine in caecum and signoid flexure, residuals of extensive haemorrhage; enlarged spleen and liver; parenchymatous nephritis; pia congested at vertex.

No. 69. Paranoia—Double pulmonary oedema plus bronchitis; small cyst of right kidney; hypertrophic liver; pial oedema and congestion in dependent portions; biliary calculi with cream white bile present.

No. 70. Alcoholic Delirium—Diffuse extravasation of blood within pial meshes distinctly separated from blood vessels; adherence of dura to calvarium over site of these extravasations; no appreciable thickening or exudate noted; large amount of atheroma and calcification considering the age of the individual.

No. 71. Senile Dementia—Lobar pneumonia confined to lower lobe, left lung showing characteristic red hepatization; hypostasis and slightly pneumonic areas in lower portion of right; old scars of both apices; large kidneys with thin filmy layer of capsule adherent; atheroma of basilars.

No. 72. Dementia Praecox—Tuberculosis of both lungs (numerous fibrous nodules and several large cavities; history of tubercle bacilli having been found); several fairly typical ulcers of small intestine; vermiform appendix filled with pus and constricted at mesenteric attachment (no micro-organisms found); brown atrophy of heart; sclerotic kidneys.

No. 73. Dementia Praecox—Tuberculosis of both lungs (general solidification, caseate, nodular, fibrous masses in various stages of suppuration and cavity formation, tubercle bacilli found in sputum); numerous tubercular ulcers of small intestine, adherent omentum which on removal caused extensive perforations; abdominal ascites; cirrhotic liver with suspicious tubercular deposits.

No. 74. General Paresis—Residuals of old keratitis and iritis; whitening and thickening of pia; granulations of 4th ventricle; atrophy and diffuse softening of cortex; hypertrophy of lateral ventricles with hydrops; absence of septum pelucidum; microscopic decrease of gray matter; irregularity and atrophy of left cerebellar lobe with considerable adherence of pia; pulmonary oedema; capsules of liver, spleen and kidneys much thickened; old cystitis.

No. 75. General Paresis; (with tabes dorsalis)—Areas of softening and atrophy over Rolandic areas of both cerebrigranulations of fourth ventricle; whitening and thickening of pia mater; areas of oedema corresponding to areas of atrophy and softening; lumbar and sacral cord also very oedematous; residuals of tubercular foci in apices of both lungs; sclerosis of both kidneys; residuals of perihepatitis; periuterine adhesions numerous (capsules of all the organs showing evidence of perivisceral inflammation).

No. 76. Sub-acute Alcoholic Paranoia—Entero-colitis (general hyperaemia of intestines and omentum, congestion of mucous coat about caecum with extravasations in small intestine in neighborhood of jejunum; pulmonary oedema; accessory spleen residuals of pleuritis; lobulated kidneys; costal sulci of liver; internal surface of stomach catarrhal.

No. 77. General Paresis—General thickening and whitening of pia; adherent frontal lobes; granulations of fourth ventricle; oedema of cord in sacral region and hyperthrophy of central canal in cervical region; general diffuseness of splenic substance; increased connective tissue in kidneys; hypostasis of lungs.

No. 78. General Paresis—Thickening and whitening of pia; granulations of fourth ventricle; double pulmonary oedema with slightly pneumonic condition of right lung; large oedematous kidneys; increased connective tissue of liver.

No. 79. Terminal Dementia—Chronic interstitial nephritis (characterized by decreased cortical substance, obliteration of pyramids, cysts, irregular delineation and toughened substance, adherent capsules); sub-dural haematoma over left motor area (10 cm. diam., 3 cm. thick); on right side two small areas of haemorrhage extending downward over cortex of frontal region; cortex flattened over area of haematoma of left side; atheromatous capsule of spleen; "nutmeg" appearance of liver; emphysema.

No. 80. Constitutional Inferiority—Pulmonary tuberculosis (far advanced process in left lung, cavities, pus, etc.; smaller cavities and nodules in right lung); nutmeg appearance of liver; both kidneys being tough on section, but having good width of cortex; pyramids well marked.

No. 81. Dementia Praecox—Tuberculosis of both lungs (numerous cavities filled with pus confined to apical and middle portions, but throughout quite generally there were nodular deposits somewhat resembling miliary type, but not present in any other organ; retroperitoneal and mesentric glands enlarged, but not disintegrated in any of them; brown atrophy of heart; congested kidneys; residuals of pericarditis.

No. 82. Alcoholic Delirium—Chronic catarrhal gastritis (general ecchymotic extravasations and excessive amount of mucoid material (Ewald's Schleimege) over entire gastric surface, but noticeably present in larger quantity at pylorus; slight bronchitis, oedema and hypostosis of lungs; large swollen whitened kidneys with small petechiae over surface; liver showing no increase of connective tissue, but having several areas of chronatic degeneration; well-defined small pea-sized cysts in both choroid plexuses.

and laboratory diagnosis, diabetes mellitus.

No. 84. Periodic Mania—Volvulus of signoid flexure at its lowest fold just above beginning of rectum; general hyperaemia of intestines; omental adhesions quite general: anomalous "pouch" of duodenum; obliterated gall bladder; marked narrowing of cortex in frontal area; spot of atheroma of aorta, left vertebral "pipe stem" calcification; fibrous increase in spleen and walls of gall bladder.

No. 85. Senile Dementia—Lobar pneumonia (right upper lobe in stage of gray hepatization, middle lobe largely normal, a little congested, and lower lobe in stage of red hepatization); pleurae adherent in both lungs; noticeable thickening of mucous coat of stomach (water brash had been complained of); thickening of liver capsule; congested kidneys; atheroma of basilar and middle cerebrals.

No. 86. Dementia Praecox—Diabetes; tubercular pleuritis of left lung with effusion (20 c. c.); large amount of stringy pus over pericardium and mediastinum; right lung on section showing numerous small nodules; retroperitoneal glands not much enlarged; cystic choroid plexuses.

No. 87. Epileptic Imbecility—Lobar pneumonia of left lung, red and gray hepatization; upper lobe oedematous; right lung oedematous and hypostatic, congested with small area of fibrinous pleurisy and beginning effusion (about 5 c. c. clear fluid); very pale indurated area in left kidney; porencephaly of parietal and occipital lobes of both sides; septum pellucidum almost entirely absent.

No. 88. Senile Paranoia—Subdural haemorrhage of entire right side (the whole right half of subdural space filled in with a fibrinous clotted mass of blood, evidently originating from small vessel in middle portion of longitudinal sinus; pia mater not involved; kidneys sclerotic and cystic; heart hyperthrophied; liver atrophied, "nutmeg appearance;" old intracapsular fracture of right femur.

No. 89. Paranoia—Mitral insufficiency (one leaf of valves much shortened with firm organized clot obstruction therein); granular cystic kidneys; intra-ligamentous cyst of left broad ligament (weight, 15 lbs. 10 oz.); kidneys granular and cystic, with peculiar dilatation of ureters above brim of pelvis, due to pressure from tumor; persistent foramen in calvarium at beginning of temporo-orbital ridge.

No. 90. General Paresis—Thrombotic degeneration of apex of heart, almost amounting to rupture (a fairly large, well-organized fibrous clotted mass imbedded deep down in apex, almost through cardiac wall, having only thin layer of pericardium present); cystic kidneys with usual interstitial increase and thinning of cortex (one cyst as large as an egg); granulations of fourth ventricle; small cysts of both choroids; residuals of old pleuritis; extraordinary thin calvarium; moderate atheroma of middle meningeals.

No. 91. Senile Dementia—Lobar pneumonia of middle and upper lobes of right lung in mixed stages of gray and red hepatization, adhesions of firm character corresponding to these areas of consolidation; large scar of left apex and small nodule at base, apparently of tubercular type (specimen taken); interstitial nephritis (atrophic contracted); oedematous pia; considerable atheroma of middle cerebrals; none of basilars; considerable of aortic ring; general sclerosis rather ill defined, i. e., not markedly noticeable at any one point.

No. 92. Alcoholic Depression' (dementia)—Pulmonary tuberculosis with pneumonia involving both lungs (the pneumonic process in stage of mixed gray and red hepatization); the tubercular process of long standing; numerous nodules and cavity formations exuding pus from which tubercley bacilli are easily demonstrated; intestines presenting quite typical ulcers; enlarged retroperitoneal and pharyngeal glands; pleurae adherent on both sides, with considerable effusion at base on left side; small nodule in left kidney of caseous character; kidneys tough and firm, not cystic nor thinning of cortex.

No. 93. Dementia Praecox (paranoid form)—Pulmonary and intestinal tuberculosis; lungs presenting numerous nodules of varying sizes, few cavities, little pus, adherent pleurae; intestines presenting congestion, thickening, numerous reddish white dots or nodules over small intestine, with old scars and constrictions somewhat circumscribed; retroperitoneal enlarged, but no pus or caseous material within; scarcely any fat present; perforation of an old ulcer in ileum.

Respectfully submitted, omentum having myriads of small nodules scattered over it:

WALTER D. BERRY, M. D., Pathologist and Clinical Director.

OF THE

OFFICERS

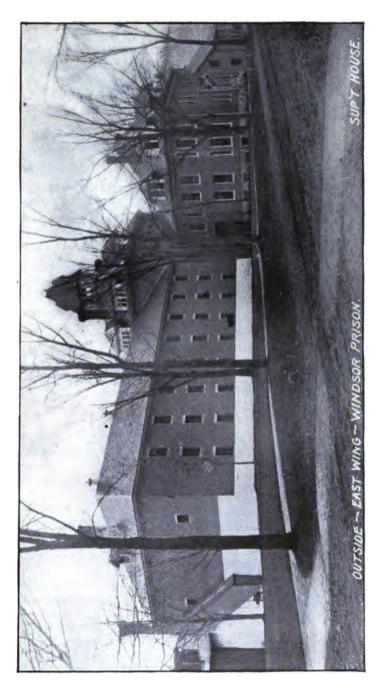

OF THE

Vermont State Prison

WINDSOR,

FOR 1900-1902.

Digitized by Google

Directors' Report.

To His Excellency, William W. Stickney, Governor of Vermont:

The undersigned, Directors of the State Prison, submit their report for the biennial term ending June 30, 1902, in accordance with the laws of the State.

We have examined and adjusted the accounts of the Superintendent, E. W. Oakes, for said term, and inventoried the property of the State on hand at its close.

This inventory amounts to $13,251.11, divided among the different departments as follows:

Expense account	$6,798	29
Fuel and lights	848
Clothing	2,877	61
Subsistence	2,303	77
Improvements and repairs	187	62
Boilers, engines and heating system	235	73
-	$ 13 951	11

$13,251 11

For an abstract of the inventory, as required by statute, we respectfully refer you to the report of the Superintendent attached hereto.

LIST OF OFFICERS.

We submit a list of subordinate officers of the prison, with the salary of each established, as follows:

- E. D. Harpin, keeper, $75 per month and board.
- W. A. Hutchinson, clerk, $25 per month and board.
- H. E. Craven, steward, $40 per month and board.
- J. E. Proctor, shop-keeper, $30 per month and board.
- H. L. Sanderson, shop-keeper, $33 per month and board.
- G. P. Persons, shop-keeper, $25 per month and board.
- L. E. Herrick, guard, $25 per month and board.
- B. B. Cutler, guard, $25 per month and board.
- L. O. Williams, guard, $25 per month and board.
- F. S. Whitney, guard, $25 per month and board.
- J. E. Greene, guard, $25 per month and board.

W. H. Case, guard, $25 per month and board. E. Obrey, guard, $25 per month and board. H. McCormick, guard, $25 per month and board. F. A. Gardner, engineer, $50 per month and board. E. Coyle, engineer, $30 per month and board. Miss S. J. Durkee, matron, $25 per month and board. J. D. Brewster. M. D., physician, $200 per year.

ORGANIZATION.

The Directors met in Windsor early in December, 1900, and organized by the choice of John N. Woodfin, of Rutland, as chairman, and of Marsh O. Perkins, of Windsor, as secretary. Mr. E. W. Oakes was reappointed Superintendent of the prison. The board has since met frequently and has audited the accounts of the prison each month.

Appended to this report will be found the reports of Superintendent Oakes and other officers, giving in detail such matters as are required by law, and showing the affairs of the prison to have been administered with the closest economy that could be exercised without detriment to the interests of the State and the physical and moral welfare of the inmates of the institution.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENSES.

An examination of the financial report of Superintendent Oakes will show the prison to have been self-sustaining another biennial period, the income over and above expenses of that time being $458.33. The decrease, as compared with the preceding biennial period, is fully accounted for in the Superintendent's report.

The present contract for the prison labor went into effect May 1, 1901, and will expire five years from that date. Under it the State receives 75 cents per day for each able-bodied man not specially reserved by the State for other purposes—an advance of 3 cents per day as compared with the old contract.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

A number of permanent improvements are demanded for the greater efficiency of the prison, to which your attention, and through you that of the General Assembly, is respectfully directed.

These include more adequate hospital accommodations than are now possessed; new boilers of greater capacity to replace the old ones now in use; an iron walk on the walls in place of the present wooden structure; quarters for inmates showing a tendency to insanity apart from the other inmates of the prison, etc.

The present hospital is not only unfavorably located, being directly above the cook room, but occupies quarters needed for the night school. When the room is in demand for hospital purposes the school work, long considered of the greatest benefit to a certain class of the inmates, is necessarily interrupted.

The old boilers are insufficient to meet the demands upon them for manufacturing, heating and other purposes, and are a constant source of expense to keep in repair. The installation in their place of more modern boilers of greater capacity would undoubtedly save expense in the end and afford desired relief. A new walk on the walls must soon be built, and will, with the substitution of iron for wood, save expense now incurred annually for repairs. The necessity for separating inmates with a tendency to insanity from others must present itself at once to any giving thought to the subject. It is hoped these matters may receive the favorable consideration their importance demands.

CONCLUSION.

Much will be found in the appended reports to evidence the high state of discipline maintained in the institution, the business-like methods of the Superintendent in conducting its affairs, and the watchfulness ever maintained by all connected therewith for the best interests of its inmates and of the State relative thereto.

With an expression of recognition and appreciation of the courtesies extended by you to the Board, our report is respectfully submitted.

Report of Superintendent.

To the Honorable General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

GENTLEMEN—I beg leave in compliance with the law to respectfully submit to your honorable body the report of the affairs of the State Prison for the two years ending June 30, 1902.

Appended to the report will be found statements showing the financial transactions of the prison, table's showing the number of convicts discharged by expiration of sentence, discharged conditionally by the Governor after expiration of minimum sentences, delivered to sheriffs, delivered to Supreme Court, pardoned conditionally, transferred to the insane asylum and deaths; also, statistics relating to the convicts, with the rules, regulations and by-laws for their government and discipline, together with a list of convicts in prison, with the date and length of their sentences.

FINANCIAL.

The accompanying statements show the expense and income of the prison from July 1, 1900, to June 30, 1902.

Statement "A" shows the account of the prison with the State.

Statement "B" shows income and expenses in their several departments.

The statements will show that the income of the prison exceeds the expenses by $458.33. The excess of income over expenses is not as large as for the preceding two years, owing to the fact of higher cost of provisions, and that the number of days labor on contract was 776 days less than for the previous two years. The reason of this is owing to a breakdown in the power which occasioned a loss of two and one-half days time for the convicts on the contract, and to an unusual number of prisoners who could not work on contract for various reasons, such as cripples, invalids, mentally unfit and old age. Also there is about $1,200 due the prison for boarding jail prisoners and transporting them to and from court, which are not to be considered as running expenses of the prison, and which have not yet been audited by the State Auditor.

IMPROVEMENTS AND REPAIRS.

During the two years some improvements have been made, and some repairs have been necessary at an expense of about $650, which were paid for out of the income of the prison, viz.: an extension to the electric lighting plant, new shafting and pulleys for the shop, new parts for engine to increase speed, repairs on the large engine and the dynamo engine, caused by break-downs.

APPROPRIATIONS.

I think it necessary that some appropriation be made for various improvements that are much needed here and for particulars will refer you to the Directors' report.

DAILY AVERAGE.

The daily average of prisoners for the two years has been 145 8-9. The minimum number during the time was 131, the maximum number was 157. At the present time, July 1, 1902, the total number is 149.

HEALTH.

More of the inmates have been sick and confined in the hospital than usual, although nothing is to be reported in the way of sickness of an epidemic nature.

Six inmates have died during the two years, viz.: two of acute tuberculosis, one of cancer of stomach, two of heart failure and one while undergoing an operation for stoppage of the bowels. Four inmates have been conditionally discharged on account of ill health. Two of these, Oliver Osborn and Roland V. Stoodley, were suffering from lung trouble; Wilbur E. Perrigo from cancer, and Rose Fournier from spinal trouble.

For further particulars, see statistics and the report of the prison physician, Dr. John Densmore Brewster.

DISCIPLINE.

The usual good discipline has been maintained. Much good is derived from the act entitled "An act to aid and encourage discharged convicts," also the "Indeterminate Sentence" has great incentive for good conduct as they expect conditional discharge or parole at the expiration of their minimum term. Of the 98 convicts discharged, 79 gained all the time and money which could be done by good conduct. Of the remaining 19, 15 were punished only once.

INSANE.

During the two years five inmates have been adjudged insane, and transferred to the Vermont State Hospital for the Insane at Waterbury. One of them was so improved that he was discharged from the hospital on expiration of his sentence.

DEATH SENTENCES.

At the present time there are three prisoners under death sentence. August 28, 1900, Charles Doherty was sentenced by the Supreme Court to be hanged on the second Friday in March, 1901. On February 20, 1901, a stay of execution was granted him. He was taken to the Supreme Court at Montpelier May 27, 1901, and returned to prison May 29, 1901, and again taken to said Supreme Court October 31, 1901, when a new trial was denied and date of execution set for the first Friday in December, 1901, and returned to prison on November 1, 1901. Stay of execution was granted by the Supreme Court until the second Tuesday in May, 1902, and again the Supreme Court granted a stay until the first Tuesday in November, 1902.

January 30, 1901, Frank Shaw was committed to prison under sentence by Supreme Court to be hanged the first Friday in February, 1903.

July 20, 1901, Frederick Eastwood was committed to the prison under sentence by the Supreme Court to be hanged on the second Friday in March, 1903.

EDUCATION.

The evening school has had to be suspended on account of the hospital being occupied by sick inmates, the hospital being the only available safe place for school purposes about the institution. School books are furnished the prisoners in their cells to all who wish to study.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Rev. J. K. Fuller, who was appointed chaplain in April, 1899, still fills the position and gives the best of satisfaction. He is very popular among the inmates. They very much appreciate his services, and all enjoy going to chapel to hear him.

A large addition of new books has been made to the prison library, in which Mr. Fuller is very much interested, and has a new catalogue well under way.

For particulars regarding his work, I will refer you to his report.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion I wish to express my sincere thanks to Governor Stickney and the Board of State Prison Directors for their valuable assistance and advice in the discharge of my duties.

To Keeper E. D. Harpin and the other subordinate officers of the prison I tender my grateful acknowledgments for the faithful discharge of their duties.

Miss S. J. Durkee continues to fill the position of matron with her usual ability.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN W. OAKES, Superintendent.

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1902.

Report of Chaplain.

To the Directors of the Vermont State Prison:

Gentlemen—In reporting to you for the second time, as Chaplain of the State Prison, I wish first of all to acknowledge the helpfulness of all the officers of the institution in making my duties pleasant and agreeable. Especially am I indebted to the Superintendent, Mr. Oakes, to the Keeper, Mr. Harpin, and to the Matron, Miss Durkee, for information and suggestions which have aided me in my ministrations to the prisoners.

From the responses that I have had from many of them, I am sure that my labors have not been in vain; while the truth that criminals are susceptible to kindness and can be reclaimed is given new beauty and demonstration. In sickness and in special cases of want I have found the real manhood that after all dwells unwasted and forever in the human race. I find two distinct classes of criminals; those who are criminal by nature, and those who are criminal by mishap and circumstance. Very little can be done for the former, while the latter can be reclaimed in large measure. If the two classes could be separated in their imprisonment and in reform measures, it would be a great gain in prison reform.

I have addressed the prisoners each Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, and a more eager and attentive and responsive audience one could hardly desire. The service for the women on Thursday afternoons has been increased in interest and effectiveness by the assistance of the chaplain's wife. It demonstrates anew the fact that a woman's love and sympathy can best reach the unfortunate of her kind.

The library has been replenished by 168 volumes, the best that we could select for the prisoners. The books have been sorted, and many old ones have been discarded, so that the present number is 880. The selection of new books and the preparation of a catalogue soon to be printed have involved considerable time and labor; yet it has been cheerfully given, and the delay we trust will result in the greater efficiency of the library. The prisoners read a great deal, and receive much comfort and blessing in so doing. Pamphlets and books have been contributed by kind and thoughtful friends outside, and these have been distributed and are gratefully received.

A male quartet, under the leadership of the long-time chorister, Mr. Daniel Payson, with Mr. Herbert Wood, accom panist, have rendered faithful service.

One thing impresses me more and more, and it is the fact that more time and strength could well be given to this office by way of helping discharged prisoners and in informing and interesting the public as to the needs and possibilities of prison reform. The Vermont State Prison is a credit to the State. Its officers are wise and humane, and a practical Christian atmosphere pervades the institution.

Respectfully submitted,

JONATHAN K. FULLER, Chaplain.

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1902.

Physician's Report.

To the Superintendent and Directors of the Vermont State Prison:

GENTLEMEN—There has been much more work for the Prison Physician the past two years than for years before, due to the unhealthy condition of many of the convicts on entering the prison. There has not been a case of epidemic disease or typhoid fever, but many cases of chronic ailments of various kinds, and a large per cent. have suffered from subacute rheumatic trouble, mostly muscular.

There have been four cases of tuberculosis, two of which were conditionally pardoned, and the other two died. One man was pardoned, having cancer of rectum, and one woman, also pardoned, who had been confined to her bed some years suffering from spinal disease.

There are at the present time three patients in the hospital. The hospital has been improved the past year by the addition of six new hospital beds by the Superintendent, to replace the old wooden beds, which had seen service for many years, and which was a much needed improvement, but the hospital still needs much more expended upon it to make it fully up to its needs, and in any way equal to the hospital at the House of Correction at Rutland.

The expense for medicine the past two years has been much increased, but this could not well have been prevented, considering the number of calls for medicine has been greatly augmented.

There have been six deaths among the prisoners: Two from acute tuberculosis, two suddenly from heart disease, one general peritonitis, caused by chronic appendicitis, and who died while undergoing an operation; one female prisoner died from cancer of stomach.

The number of insane prisoners has been smaller than for some years, there being only one new case of the five cases sent to the asylum at Waterbury, four having been sent before and returned to the prison pronounced cured or greatly improved.

The sanitary condition remains the same, and the absence of all preventable disease proves this to be in good condition. The water supply was examined in 1901 by the State Bacteriologist and pronounced of good quality.

In conclusion I wish to extend my thanks to all the prison officials for the kindness and consideration shown me in the discharge of my duties as prison physician during the past two years. I also wish to thank Dr. Deane Richmond for performing my duties for four months in the fall of 1900, while I was suffering from an injury to my knee.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN DENSMORE BREWSTER, M. D., Prison Physician.

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1902.

Rules, Regulations and By-Laws

FOR THE Government and Discipline of the Vermont State Prison, Windsor, Vt.

DUTIES OF THE KEEPER.

The keeper is the principal assistant of the superintendent.

It shall be his duty to attend to the opening and closing of the prison; to be present during divine service; to have a constant care and oversight, under the direction of the superintentendent, of the internal affairs of the prison; to see that every subordinate officer strictly performs his duty; especially to attend to the police and discipline; to see that the rules and regulations of the institution and the directions of the superintendent are enforced.

He shall constantly be moving about the interior of the prison, inspecting the cells, yards, shops and other apartments; take every precaution for the security of the prison and prisoners; see that the shop-keepers and guards are vigilant and attentive to their duties, and report to the superintendent every neglect of duty and all impropriety of conduct on the part of any of the officers.

He shall attend to the clothing of the convicts, see that it is whole, properly changed and in order.

He shall see that the cells, shops, yard and all other apartments of the prison are kept in a proper state of cleanliness; that the rations are such as are allowed and required to be delivered to the convicts, and that they are properly cooked and served. He shall, morning, noon and night, see that all the convicts are locked in their cells before dismissing the officers from the hall or giving the signal calling the guards from the walls. And, in the absence of the superintendent, all the duties and powers of the superintendent, so far as the same relate to the discipline of the prison and the safe keeping of the prisoners, shall devolve upon and be executed by the keeper.

He shall see that the persons visiting the prison are treated with attention and politeness, and that they are admitted and conducted through the several departments at all proper times.

He shall see that the guards on night duty are vigilant and faithful, and report to the superintendent all delinquencies of any of the officers.

DUTIES OF THE SHOP-KEEPERS.

The shop-keepers and other officers shall act as the immediate agents of the superintendent and keeper in enforcing the police and discipline of the prison, and carrying into effect the provisions of the law for the government and punishment of convicts, and at all times while in the employ of the State are to be subject to the rules and regulations adopted for the government of the prison, and are to govern themselves in strict conformity thereto. They shall take charge of the shops and remain there during the working hours; and in no case shall they be allowed to leave the shop during the time the convicts are therein without being relieved by the keeper or guard. They shall require from the convicts a uniform, industrious, sober and orderly deportment. It shall be their duty to instruct them in all the rules of the shop and prison necessary for their government, and to admonish them upon the least appearance of insubordination, and report them to the keeper whenever they shall refuse to obey the rules. They shall not allow them to leave their work or shop without permission, or allow them to speak or to look at visitors, and no correspondence or conversation shall be allowed between them. The shop-keepers shall act as turnkeys, and in no case shall they leave the prison until dismissed by the keeper.

No shop-keeper or any other officer shall receive any present or purchase anything from, nor shall they deliver to, any convict, any paper, book or other articles without permission from the superintendent or keeper.

No shop-keeper will be allowed to read any book or paper, or do any writing, except to make the necessary entries, nor to engage in any other employment calculated to interfere with constant watchfulness and vigilance; neither shall he hold any conversation with contractors or others in the presence or hearing of the convicts, while on duty, other than relates to the business under his care and management. No officer shall beat, strike or punish corporally any prisoner except in self-defense or defense of others.

When prisoners refuse to obey the orders of any officer, firmness coupled with evenness of temper and impartiality shall be exercised in such a manner as shall secure instant and silent obedience.

DUTIES OF THE GUARD.

It shall be the duty of the guards to be at the prison during the whole time, day and night; to be vigilant and active; and when not on duty on the wall to repair to the guardroom, and there remain ready to relieve the shop-keepers when sent for; to show visitors through the prison; to attend to opening and closing the gate, and to perform all other duties and services as they shall be directed by the superintendent or keeper, at all hours of the day or night.

They shall at all times maintain towards each other, and all persons visiting the prison, a gentlemanly deportment. They shall not allow any person to go upon the wall without permission of the superintendent or keeper; nor shall they allow, under any circumstances, any intoxicated or riotous person to pass into the prison.

They are not to leave their posts on any pretext without being relieved, and are not to suffer a convict to pass through the gate or guardroom except in charge of a proper officer; and it shall be their duty to keep the arms clean and in good order, ready at all times for use, and they are to prevent, at all hazards, any convict from making his escape. No guard shall be allowed to hold any conversation with a prisoner except to direct him in his duty, nor shall he receive from or deliver to a prisoner any article or thing without the knowledge or consent of the superintendent or keeper.

It shall be the duty of the guard having charge of the hall while the convicts are in their cells, either at meal times or during the night, to use his utmost endeavors to suppress noise of any kind, and to report to the superintendent or keeper any violation of the rules of the prison by the convicts while in their cells. He shall examine the doors after the turnkeys have left the hall, and see that all are secure. He shall suffer no convict to speak to him except to make known his immediate wants, and, while on duty about any part of the prison, the guard shall keep a strict and vigilant observance of the convicts and not for a moment have his attention abstracted from the object of his charge, but be in readiness at all times for an exigency.

No person shall be admitted into the prison while the convicts are in the cells save the officers while on duty.

DUTIES OF THE CHAPLAIN.

It shall be the duty of the chaplain to conform in all cases to the general rules and regulations of the prison, subject to the superintendent as to his intercourse with the convicts. It shall be his duty to see that each convict is furnished with a Bible or Testament; to preach to the convicts every Sunday, or, when necessarily absent, to engage some regularly ordained preacher to fill his place. It shall be his duty to visit the sick and minister to their spiritual wants.

He shall have the liberty of visiting any prisoner who wishes to see him at any time, subject to the control of the superintendent. He is to use his best exertions to promote the moral and religious welfare of the prisoners, as well as the harmony and general interest of the institution. He shall not furnish the prisoners with any information or intelligence in relation to secular matter except by permission of the superintendent. Nor shall he have any intercourse with the prisoners other than such as shall be necessary and proper in teaching them the branches of education authorized by law, and imparting such moral and religious instructions as are best calculated to promote their subordination, reformation and spiritual welfare.

He shall have charge of the prison library and report to the directors the condition thereof in his biennial report, or oftener, if required to do so.

If any prisoner desires communication with the minister of his particular faith, on proper application to the superintendent, and at his discretion, it shall be allowed, under and in conformity with the general regulations of the prison, but such minister, on such occasion, must in all things conform to the rules and regulations for the government of the chaplain.

CONTRACTORS.

Contractors, their agents or foremen, shall hold no intercourse with any convict other than those employed or superintended by them, nor upon any subject whatever other than the business carried on by them.

They shall not be permitted to deliver to or receive from a convict any letter, paper, package or parcel whatever. They are to confine themselves strictly to their business, and are not to leave the shop where their business is carried on to visit any other part of the prison.

They are not, under any circumstances, to inflict any punishment; neither shall they apply any opprobrious epithets to convicts, nor use any profane language in their presence, but shall report to the shop-keeper having charge of the convicts in their departments all violations of the rules and regulations of the prison. No foreman shall be employed by contractors, within the prison, without first obtaining the consent of the superintendent.

Teamsters or other persons in the employ of the contractors, who occasionally visit the prison, shall not be permitted to speak to, deliver to or receive from a convict any package or parcel whatever without permission from an officer. All scraps, shavings, chips, sticks and other waste must be disposed of each day, either for fuel or by removal from the prison grounds. No old trash or other material not necessary to carry on the business of the contractors may be permitted to accumulate within the yard or shops or on the prison grounds. All officers are expressly charged with the execution of the above orders, and directed to report any neglect or violation of the same.

VISITORS.

All persons not connected with the prison, except contractors, their foremen and employes and such persons as are authorized by law to visit the prison, are regarded as visitors and subject to the same rules. Visitors will not be permitted to enter the prison unless accompanied by an officer or guard, and when in the prison will be under the surveillance of the officer or guard accompanying them. Visitors will have no intercourse whatever with the convicts, and, when passing through the prison, will conduct themselves in a quiet and orderly manner, loud talking, laughing and personal allusions to convicts, by remarks, pointing or otherwise, being positively prohibited. Visitors must enter and depart through the guardroom.

It shall be the duty of any officer or guard when persons are found within the prison contrary to or in violation of any of the above rules, to see that they are at once stopped and leave the prison.

DUTIES OF THE CONVICTS.

The first duty of the convict is obedience, and it will be for his interest, as it is his duty, to be respectful and obedient to the officers, and conform to the rules and regulations established for his government.

At the ringing of the morning bell, he must turn out, dress, wash and comb, make up his bed neatly, sweep the cell and be ready for going out. At the signal he will open the door gently to the wall and march as directed.

On entering the workshop convicts will go directly to their several places of labor, and commence at once; and must be industrious and faithful in doing the work assigned them. In shops and other places of labor, they are to obey all orders promptly, exhibit no ill-temper when admonished by an officer; must not indulge in laughter, have no conversation whatever with another convict, nor communicate any intelligence in writing or by looks or signs, nor stare at visitors, nor speak to or answer them, nor receive from or give to them anything whatever. They must approach their keepers in a respectful manner and be brief in their communications; they are not to speak to them on ordinary topics, nor address them except when it becomes necessary in relation to their work or their necessary wants. He must not leave or go out of his place of labor without permission, and, when permitted to go to any other department, will take the "pass" and go and return directly without unnecessary delay. If sick or unable to labor, he will make it known to his officer and act as he may direct. At the signal from the officer and not before, without permission, they will leave their work, wash and take their places in divisions, for marching, as directed by their officers, and in passing the tables will take the first dish the hand is put upon and be careful not to spill or drop the food.

On entering the cell he must close the door and stand with his hands through the bars until the count is made.

He must be cleanly in person, clothing and cell, and must be quiet, orderly and decent in his behavior and never indulge in profanity, vulgarity, nor be guilty of any kind of indecency whatever; must use the spittoon when necessary and not spit on or through the door, nor on the wall or floor; must not wilfully or carelessly injure his work, tools or wearing apparel, nor mark or any way mar or disfigure the cell, nor injure, mark or misuse any book, dish or other article whatever allowed in his cell; nor work in his cell without permission of the superintendent, given through the keeper, nor make any change, either by bringing in or carrying out any article from the cell contrary to regulations; nor call the guard except in case of sickness or absolute necessity: nor pass any article or thing to another convict while in prison without permission. At the ringing of the bell at night every convict shall go to bed immediately and observe a profound silence from that time until the ringing of the morning bell.

They shall always march in such order as may be designated by the officer in charge. While in the cells and while marching and at all other times, all unnecessary noise must be avoided. No convict shall sleep with his clothes on, but shall lay each article separately, that the guard on duty can see if this rule is complied with. All convicts are required to attend religious service in the chapel on Sunday, unless they are sick or excused by the superintendent.

Before entering the chapel they must remove from their mouths any tobacco or gum they may have in it; and when in the chapel will take seats as directed by the officers in charge and while there give strict and silent attention to the services. All disposition to cough, as far as possible, to be suppressed, and no shuffling with the feet, spitting on the floor, or movement of the body, calculated to disturb the order and quiet of the chapel, to be indulged in. Whenever the convicts are turned out, all whose cells are unlocked must go out, unless they are sick or excused for other reasons.

Convicts obeying the rules will be allowed to see their relatives who wish to see them, and also such of their immediate friends as the superintendent shall, for any reason, allow them the privilege.

Interviews of relatives or friends with convicts shall not be oftener than once in four weeks, except for some special reason, and must be in the presence of an officer and not exceed twenty minutes at one time. At such interviews convicts must sit apart from their visitors and their conversation must be distinct, so that the officer can see or hear whatever is done or said, and he will allow no article to be passed from one to the other except it goes through his Each convict, if he obey the rules, will be allowed to write to his friends once in three months at the expense of the State and but one letter per week at his own expense, except by special permission of the superintendent. All letters to be sent unsealed to the superintendent's office, with the name the writer is known by signed in full. victs will write as distinctly as possible, so that their letters can be easily read before mailing; must never write between or across the lines and never on more than four pages of note or three pages of letter paper in any one letter. No correspondence for publication will be allowed, and all letters containing profane, obscene or disrespectful language, false statements or misrepresentations will be destroyed, withheld or returned at the discretion of the superintendent: and the writer thereof forfeits the privilege of writing or receiving letters, and may be punished as the superintendent may direct.

Convicts will be allowed to receive such newspapers, periodicals or magazines from the office of publication, and such transient papers as the superintendent may permit, but they will not be allowed to send them out to be taken away from the prison.

On being discharged, convicts will not be allowed to take away with them any letters, newspapers or pamphlets they have received, nor any writing or memorandum they have made while in prison. Any money a convict may have when he enters prison, or that he may receive afterwards from his friends or other sources, must be placed in the hands of the superintendent, an account of which will be kept, and if well behaved will be allowed to draw against it to pay for such articles as convicts are allowed to use, and the balance, if any, will be paid to him on his discharge. No convict will be allowed to use tobacco who had not contracted the habit of using it before coming to the prison; and only such an amount of tobacco will be allowed to any convict as the superintendent shall direct.

Anyone detected in receiving or sending out letters, papers, or any writing by any person, or in any other way than through the superintendent's office, forfeits the privilege of writing or receiving any letters or papers; or if detected in whistling, talking, or in any way making a disturbance in his cell, or in defacing these rules, or any book which he has been furnished with, will be deprived of privileges or be punished therefor as prescribed by the superintendent.

For all violations of any of the above rules, convicts will subject themselves to severe punishment. It is the duty of officers in charge of convicts to see that the rules are promptly observed, as no officer except the superintendent has authority to suspend them or excuse their violation. Convicts should not forget that in proportion as they conform to these rules will they be likely to receive the "deductions" and "discharge money" allowed by the State of Vermont, printed below.

Section 26, Chapter 123, of the Revised Statutes: "If any person in the State Prison for a limited time shall escape therefrom, and shall be retaken and returned to the prison, the term for which he was sentenced to be confined shall be deemed as commenced at the time he is so returned, and he shall be confined after his return the whole term for which he was sentenced."

An act in relation to the discipline of the State Prison.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. All persons who have been or shall be hereafter convicted of any offence against the laws of this State, and confined in the State Prison in execution of the judgment or sentence upon such conviction, who shall so conduct themselves for any month of such sentence that no charge for misconduct shall be sustained against them for such month, shall have a deduction of five days for every such month made from the term of their sentence, such deduction to be reduced five days whenever in any month such charge for misconduct shall be sustained against them, and shall be entitled to their discharge so much the sooner, upon the certificate of the superintendent of the prison, with the approval of the governor.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved November 21, 1867.

An act to aid and encourage discharged convicts.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. Every person who has been or shall be hereafter convicted of any offence against the laws of this State, and confined in the State Prison in execution of the judgment or sentence upon such conviction, who shall so conduct himself or herself for any month of such sentence that no charge for misconduct shall be sustained against him or her for such month, shall have paid to him or her at the time of his or her discharge from such confinement, by the superintendent of the prison, in case such discharged convict is poor and destitute, the sum of one dollar for every such month; but such sum shall be reduced one dollar whenever in any month a charge of misconduct shall be sustained against him or her, provided that the sum paid to any such discharged convict shall not exceed one hundred dollars; and the State treasurer. on the order of said superintendent, shall furnish the moneys required for the carrying out of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved November 24, 1874.

An act in relation to the State Prison.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. If any person employed in or about the State Prison or House of Correction as officer, guard or employee in whatever capacity, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any prisoner confined in such prison or House of Correction to go at large, or be visited, conversed with, comforted or relieved within the prison, or shall convey to or from any prisoner any communication, newspapers, matches or any article without the approbation of the superintendent, he shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding ten years.

SEC. 2. Section 20 of Chapter 223 of the General Statutes is hereby repealed. Approved December 8, 1880.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

OFFICERS

VERMONT

House of Correction,

RUTLAND, VT.,

TO

July 1, 1902.

VERMONT HOUSE OF CORRECTION, RUTLAND.

Directors' Report.

To His Excellency, Hon. W. W. Stickney, Governor of Vermont:

We, the undersigned, Directors of the House of Correction, hereby submit our biennial report for the term ending July 1, 1902. At the beginning of the term we appointed D. L. Morgan Superintendent and Dr. E. I. Hall Regular Physician, and for the financial and other conditions of the institution we beg to refer you to the reports made by the various officers.

ADDITIONS.

In the spring of 1901 there were so many females sent to this institution that we found additional room to be an absolute necessity. The enlarging of the institution was not such work as would be construed (as necessary repairs) such as the Superintendent was authorized to make, and the matter was called to the attention of Governor Stickney and Hon. Fletcher I). Proctor, Speaker of the House, who, seeing the needs were so urgent, furnished the money for the additional room, the cost of which was $960, and we can say that without this addition, the number of female prisoners having been so great the past winter, the crowding would have been almost inhuman. The lower part of the addition is used for the manufactuing department and was greatly needed.

A reference to the manufacturing report will show that this business has expanded greatly and the additional room came none to soon.

Superintendent's Report.

VERMONT HOUSE OF CORRECTION, SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE.

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit herewith the twelfth biennial report of the Vermont House of Correction, the same being for the two years ending June 30, 1902.

Realizing that the busy hours of a legislative session afford little time for the careful study and comparison of tables and statistics, I have selected and summarized briefly the most important for your consideration.

EXPENSES.

The entire net cost of the House of Correction to the State, which includes care and maintenance of prisoners, salaries and board of officers, repairs on buildings, boilers and machinery, steam power, electric lighting, heat, fuel and water, stable, farm and all other expenses was for the two years ending June 30, 1902, $4,519.81.

Received from State Treasurer			$ 31,310 29
Paid State Treasurer			4 0-,0-0 -0
Due from State (for Rutland	• /
County Jail)	2,157	25
Due from United States (board)	•

Balance cash on hand	207	2 6
			26,790 48
Balance			$4 ,519 S1

The report of the State Treasurer will show the receipts from this institution $30,612.97, or $6,618.20 in excess of the figures given above, as a check for that amount, remitted on the last day of the last biennial term, was credited upon the present term instead of the preceding one.

POPULATION.

The total number of inmates of the institution	was 1,305; a daily average of 160\(\frac{1}{4}\).
Inmates of House of Correction June 30, 1900	114
Inmates of Rutland County Jail June 30, 1900	5
Committed to House of Correction during term	791
Committed to Rutland County Jail during term	396
. Total number of prisoners from June 30, 1900, to June 30, 1902	1,306

COMMITMENTS AND CRIMES.

The following show an increase over last term: For intoxication, 116 to 192. For breach of the peace, 112 to 145. For crimes of a lewd nature, 33 to 78.

The following show a decrease: For larceny and burglary, 136 to 121. For violations of liquor law, 170 to 162. For tramping, 207 to 140.

Of the above prisoners sentenced for intoxication, 115 were to the Rutland County Jail, and spent their time in idleness, with board and lodging at the State's expense.

"TRAMPS AND TRANSIENTS."

Transients committed for breach of the peace and persons sentenced as tramps still form a large part of our population and increase the State's criminal record and expenses. Wise legislation, I believe, would largely reduce this class of commitments.

PAROLES, PARDONS AND TRANSFERS.

On May 29, 1901, certain sections of acts 126 and 127, Laws of 1898, creating a Board of Prison Commissioners, and establishing a parole law, were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court and ceased to be effective.

The purpose and intent of the parole law has been carried out by Governor Stickney, who has issued conditional discharges to fifty-four prisoners, that had made good records, at the expiration of their minimum sentence.

Conditional discharges were also granted to two male and two female prisoners on account of sickness; also two men, old and imbecile, and properly town charges, were each pardoned twice by the Governor. One of these has since received his third pardon from the Governor.

Digitized by Google

Three prisoners, boys, originally sent from the State Industrial School, were transferred back to that institution in order that they might be paroled.

Two conditional discharges were also granted by Governor Smith and seven paroles by the Prison Commission early in the biennial term.

Two United States prisoners received pardons from the late President McKinley.

IMPROVEMENTS.

To relieve the crowded condition of the women's department and of the men's work shop, a brick building 40 by 60 feet, two stories in height, was erected in December of last year. The work, with one exception, was entirely prison labor. This addition gives an increased floor space in our work shop of 2,200 square feet, and the second floor is utilized for cells, a bathroom and commodious, well-lighted work room for women, and also gives a large carpenter's shop and boxing room.

THE WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT.

Is now in charge of Mrs. Agnes Roberts, who succeeded Mrs. Allen St. John as matron. It has been during the past two years somewhat overcrowded, at one time having forty-two inmates and at present twenty-five.

HEALTH, EDUCATION AND RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

For full and detailed statements on these subjects I would refer you to the very complete reports of the Physician, Dr. I. E. Hall, and the Chaplain and Teacher, Rev. E. M. Haynes.

Assistant Superintendent Willis H. Richmond, who for twenty-two years had been a faithful and devoted officer of this institution, died on July 14th of the present year, after an illness of two months.

Mr. Daniel Bree, an officer of the institution for over fourteen years, has been appointed to the vacancy caused by Mr. Richmond's death.

In closing I desire to express my thanks to the Governor and Board of Directors for their uniform kindness and courtesy. Also to the House of Correction officers for their loyal and able efforts to maintain the efficiency of the institution.

Respectfully submitted,

Chaplain's Report.

VERMONT HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

To the Honorable Board of Directors of the Vermont House of Correction:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit the following biennial report. Religious services have been conducted each Sabbath during the biennial term with little variation from former years. No changes have been made either in the order of service or the time of holding them; and the inmates gather under their officers for Divine service in the prison Chapel at 10.45 a. m. every Lord's day in the year.

The services are of the simplest order, consisting of reading of the Scriptures responsively, the recitation of the Lord's Prayer in concert, singing Gospel Hymns by a choir selected from the inmates of the prison and an address by the Chaplain in which there is an honest endeavor to present moral and religious truths appropriate to the needs of those held in captivity by command of the law.

A Sunday School has been conducted during most of the time for the past two years in which the International Series of Lesson Papers, generously furnished by the Superintendent of the institution, have been used. The school is held for one hour each Sabbath morning at a time not to interfere with other religious services of the day. Although the attendance is voluntary, the average has been about thirty-five, and marked interest often appears, as shown in the regularity of the attendance of the same men, who are encouraged to ask questions and are freely permitted to discuss the matter under consideration for the time being.

Of course there are no means of knowing how far the influence of preaching or of teaching affects the lives of those who are the subject of these Christian endeavors, nor may this be fully determined of any charge, but surely there are conditions of both preaching and of teaching the Word of God, making it possible for that word "not to return unto Him void," and under which "it shall accomplish that which He pleaseth and prosper in the thing whereto He sends it"

Thus we are permitted to hope that our work is not in vain.

The Chaplain desires, in connection with this report, to place on record a sincere tribute of respect and express his high appreciation of the services of the late Assistant Superintendent, both in the regular chapel exercises and the Sunday School. Although Mrs. Roberts, the Matron, now fills the place of Mr. Richmond at the organ with great acceptance, yet his absence from our Sunday gatherings at which he was always present to give aid is a distinct loss.

While constantly faithful in the discharge of his official duties, he was deeply interested in the moral improvement of the men under his charge and did all that he could for their well-being.

To him credit is due for the establishment of the first Sunday School in the House of Correction which for a time he conducted alone. He was vigilant in seeking out and diligent in drilling in music and singing for the prison choir such as were found capable of participating in this part of the religous exercises on the Sabbath, and to all of these services he gave a helping hand.

Thanking the Directors and Superintendent for their uniform courtesies, I am, gentlemen, with great respect, your obedient servant,

E. M. HAYNES, Chaplain.

Teacher's Report.

To the Honorable Board of Directors of the Vermont House of Correction:

Gentlemen—The report of the teacher of the Evening School is herewith most respectfully submitted. My connection with this school as successor to Mr. Harley M. Chatterton, who was the successful teacher for several years, began on the 1st of January, 1901, and has been continued without intermission since that date until the present time.

Within seventeen months three score and seven different pupils have been enrolled and given instruction as required by the statute.

A year ago last January the school was refurnished with an entire new set of books and with other equipment necessary for properly carrying on its work and for the convenience of its classes.

The branches of study and practice pursued are reading, spelling and arithmetic. Penmanship is practiced one evening in the week, and lessons are given to a few in English grammar and United States history. Also for a short time, one evening in the week, an exercise in writing sentences is given for the purpose of practice in spelling, punctuation and the use of capital letters.

As far as practicable all are given the same and only one study at the same time in the school, which is conducted from an hour to an hour and a quarter five evenings in the week. This course, it is thought, gives better results than could be attained by taking up several studies on the same evening.

Most of the pupils, or at least a large percentage of them, have had a very slight acquaintance with the textbooks used in our common schools, and they are woefully deficient in the kind of application and discipline required in order to make half an average progress in school instruction. Yet some progress is perceptible and useful knowledge acquired. When it is considered that some of our pupils have never seen the inside of a schoolroom until they came here, and have to begin their studies in arithmetic with the notation of simple numbers and in reading with the alphabet, who at the end of one year can do small sums in short division and read from book with words of two syllables, and in less time learn to fairly write their names, which they could not do before, it is evident that the maintenance of the school is a wise provision of the law. Of course the majority of our pupils have had some training in our public schools, and these make more than a corresponding progress.

On the whole it is believed that this school is of great advantage to those who attend it, and of much greater value to them than the expense of its maintenance.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

E. M. HAYNES,

Teacher.

There have been two deaths during the above period, viz.:

Dong Ak, a Chinaman, cancer of the rectum, and pulmonary tuberculosis.

James Carrol, typhoid fever.

The following prisoners were given conditional pardons on account of ill health: Jerry Race, E. T. Spencer, John Myers, Patsy Kennedy, Belle Stevens, Rose Laflash.

The following were taken to the State Hospital for the Insane: Daniel Leary, Alloyer Russier, Udore Dufrense.

There were two prisoners operated upon for appendicitis at the Rutland City Hospital, one of whom was pardoned, the other is serving the remainder of his sentence. Another was pardoned in order that he might be operated upon for the removal of gall stones.

It will be seen from the above report of cases that the amount of illness has been considerably greater than during the preceding two years. I think this may have been largely due to the overcrowded condition of the institution during the winter, as the sanitary conditions seem to be certainly as perfect as in former years.

The Superintendent has tried to favor those who could be trusted, and who needed especial care, by giving them outside work to do, and all cases of illness have been promptly reported and cared for.

A great many minor cases such as small injuries, colds, etc., have not been reported as not interfering with the work in the shops.

Following is a table of the various diseases classified:

Infectious diseases, including la grippe, tonsilitis, pneumonia, diphtheria and erysipelas	103
Venereal diseases	22
Acute diseases, digestive organs	41

Outbreaks of la grippe and of tonsilitis are responsible for the large number of infectious diseases. There was but one case each of diphtheria, typhoid fever and erysipelas, as the isolation rooms enabled us to promptly check infection, although the hospital itself was used as a dormitory during the winter owing to the large number for whom there were nocells.

There has been very little illness among the women in spite of the overcrowded condition prevailing during the winter, and the fact that the hospital had to be used as a dormitory. This speaks well for the ordering of this part of the institution.

The new dormitory provided during the spring months has removed the fear of a similar overcrowding in the near future.

Our table of illness suffers from the number of old and decrepit men sent to us who should properly be taken care of at some poor farm. These enfeebled persons appear again and again in hospital, and when out of it are of little value as workers.

I note also the frequency of so-called diathetic diseases, such as scrofulous or tubercular, rheumatic and skin affections, largely due to lack of variety in work, foods and the absence of exercise in the open air and sunlight.

I am also sure that a much better condition of health would follow a better plan for the ventilation of the cells, as one need only walk into a cell during the night to realize what it must be to breathe that foul air for any length of time. Men who go in strong and well, with no history of tubercular affections, develop enlarged and suppurating glands and become pale and anaemic, to perhaps never regain a full measure of health.

In the comparatively short time I have been connected with the institution I have seen a number of times repeated the development of such cases and also tubercular affections of the lungs.

I believe that the State would be the gainer in the long run if the men could have an hour or even a half hour a day in the open air and sunlight, to say nothing of the benefit to the individual and those depending upon him.

I believe the institution to be well officered and well managed, and a credit to the State, and, with the exceptions above noted, see little that need be improved.

Respectfully submitted,

EDGAR I. HALL,

Physician to House of Correction.

We have to report during the term one item of extraordinary expense in the way of permanent additions to the property of the institution. The trustees, acting under the advice of the Governor and under authority of Act 130, Laws of 1900, purchased the Hanneman place, so called. property consisted of a house and barn and about 15 acres of land and was practically surrounded by lands belonging to the institution. The purchase price of the place was $1,800. With the balance of the $3,500 appropriated by said act, supplemented by the labor of the older boys and the officers and employees of the institution, the house has been removed back about 20 rods from the highway and put upon a good foundation with suitable basement and converted into a good substantial cottage large enough to accommodate from 35 to 40 boys. The building is plain but warm and conveniently arranged with a good system of heating, plumbing and ventilation. We are satisfied that this purchase will prove a wise and profitable one for the State. The land alone with the good orchard that it gives us will pay at least 4 per cent net on the entire cost of the property. This purchase makes the farm belonging to the institution symmetrical in form, transforms an unsightly spot over which the State had no control into a useful and ornamental addition to the property of the school. The new cottage is being used as the home of about 30 of the younger boys in the institution boys that, in the judgment of the Superintendent, should be kept as much as possible from the companionship of boys older in years and older in all that is vicious and demoralizing. By this arrangement better results are attained and the congested condition that existed in the main building is relieved. From a sanitary standpoint with this limited "Cottage System" the institution is in much better condition than ever before.

Our expenses, per capita, have been slightly more than in some previous years, but they compare favorably with the expenses of similar institutions in any of our sister States; and we feel that we have something to show for the extra expense.

The straw beds which have been used for the boys in the past have been cast out and good spring beds and mattresses put in their place, a change appreciated by the inmates and we believe a wise sanitary measure.

The buildings are in good repair and the stock and farm in a most satisfactory condition.

We have had very little sickness during the past year. Fifty dollars will cover the entire expense for medical services in that time. This is an exceptional record, and we attribute it largely to the fact that for the past year or more the school has been supplied with water for drinking purposes from a small spring that was discovered on the farm and piped to within pumping distance of the main building.

We are paying $300 a year for the water supplied by the city. We think that the price is too much. The idea of taking steps to secure an independent supply of pure water sufficient to supply all the needs of the institution is worthy of consideration.

Remarks.

The past biennial period has been an uneventful one and little can be said more than has been in former reports.

HEALTH.

The health of children has been good. Only one death, Flossie Prince, who died December 24, 1900, of typhoid fever. One case of scarlet fever developed in November, 1901. By prompt and close quarantine it was confined to the one case. During the past year we have had no sickness of a serious nature. We attribute it largely to our water. A spring was discovered not far from the building, which proved of excellent quality, and for a small expense was piped to the boys' dining-room and furnishes sufficient quantity for drinking and cooking purposes.

SCHOOLS.

Good work has been done in school. We aim to give all a practical common school education. Many come to us that know nothing or little of books, which proves how lax some communities are relative to school attendance. Faithful and earnest work has been done by our teachers.

Sabbath.

Sunday morning Sabbath school is taught by the lady officers of the school under the direction of the Superintendent, using undenominational helps. We regard the school as a most efficient means of moral and religious reformation. We expect much from the intelligent training of our day schools, we recognize the force of good habits acquired as agents for future good, but if reformation is to be permanent and lasting there must be underlying all a firm rock of Christian principle. Under the direction of Mrs. Andrews the song service has been made prominent Sunday afternoon and at the evening chapel service during the week. This has an uplifting effect. As in the past, the children attend public worship at the city churches, where they are heartily welcomed by the pastors. Alternating in their attendance, children of Catholic parentage attend the Catholic service twice each month.

BOYS' COTTAGE.

The Legislature of 1900 appropriated $3,500, with which in the discretion of the trustees and approval of the Governor. to buy the A. Hannaman property, to build or repair the so-called "Arsenal," for a cottage or home for the younger The Hannaman property, consisting of 142 acres of land and a sizable two-story house, with barn was purchased for $1.800. The house has been moved back from the street and placed upon a substantial foundation, addition 22 x 30 feet, two story, for school and sleeping rooms and verandas, The work of excavating, quarrying and drawing stone, as well as the common carpenter work and painting, was done largely by the older boys. The building is not elaborate in finish nor has it expensive fixtures, but it answers the require-April 4th it was occupied by twenty-eight of the vounger boys, mostly truants, under the supervision of a master and matron. This is not an experiment, for it is the unanimous opinion of those who have had to do with juvenile delinquents that the cottage is much better than the congregate system, especially for the younger; they are taken from the environments of the older.

FARM.

The farm is in good state of cultivation, yields large crops and materially decreases the subsistence account. It furnishes employment for the larger boys. Many of them must necessarily become "Hewers of wood and drawers of water," and what they learn of general farm work, the care of teams and stock will be of help to them. Our herd of Ayrshire cows is improving, and yields a large quantity of milk which is largely fed to the children and which in part accounts for their health. I have frequently called attention to the need of more room for hay and grain. With our increased acreage and yield we have thirty or forty tons of hay stacked. This is, we think, poor economy. The barn should be enlarged or the piggery, which is not suitable, be converted into a stable and hay loft and a new piggery built.

WATER.

Water from the city water works is of poor quality as it comes from the Otter Creek and is at times necessarily filthy. The price paid the city for it seems exorbitant and some measure should be taken for a new supply of better quality at less expense.

GIRLS' DEPARTMENT.

We have long felt that more attention should be given to instructing the girls in cooking, laundry and general housework that they might be fitted to go into families and earn better wages. Spring of 1901 a matron was secured for this purpose. We are pleased with the result. As heretofore they have made their own and the boys' clothes, besides the repairing.

FURLOUGHS.

About the usual number have been furloughed and the majority have done well. A less number have been returned to the school. We have largely looked after them and their interests by correspondence. Doubtless personal visits would be better.

CONCLUSION.

We wish to thank the publishers that have kindly sent us their periodicals. If our administration has in any degree been a success it is largely due to those who have been connected with us and to the gentlemen of the board of trustees for their advice and counsel.

Respectfully submitted,

S. A. ANDREWS, Superintendent.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of Vermont:

The Trustees of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College respectfully present their Nineteenth Report, for the collegiate years 1901, 1902.

THE TRUSTEES.

THE DEATH OF JUDGE WALES.

Although the actual date of the death of Judge Wales was a few days later than the close of the collegiate year, it seems appropriate to refer to it at the present time rather than to postpone mention of it till the publication of the next Biennial Report. Judge Wales—better so known than by any other designation—was one of the oldest living graduates of the University, having received the degree of Λ . B. in 1841. He has always been a loval and devoted son of his Alma Mater, and has been since 1887 one of the trustees, and since 1892 a member of the Executive Committee. A student under the old régime, and, like all men of his time, a firm believer in the superiority of that time honored discipline, he sympathized heartily with all the modifications which educational progress has brought to this institution, and was ever ready to move with the movement of thought and methods in the collegiate world. In the community amid which he has spent his life his name has been a synonym of unimpeachable integrity, of wisdom in affairs, and of kindliness of spirit. As Judge of Probate of Chittenden County for thirty six years; as a charter member, and, from its origin to his death, treasurer of the Mary Fletcher Hospital board; as director in various financial and philanthropic institutions; as a member and officer in the Christian church; he has won from those who were associated with him and from all the many who knew him a degree of respect, esteem and confidence which it is reserved to few men to attain.

No other removals or changes have taken place in the Board of Trustees since the publication of the last report. The three members whose terms expired by limitation in 1901, Messrs. Ormsbee, Proctor and Fisk, were elected by the Legislature to serve another term of six years. It will be the duty of your honorable body to elect the successors of the trustees whose terms expire in 1903, Messrs. Dillingham, Chaffee and Cleveland, and we trust that you will see fit to give to the Institution the benefit of the experience in office and the intelligent interest of these gentlemen by reappointing them for the next sextennial period.

THE FACULTY.

DEATH OF PROFESSOR BARBOUR.

The institution has suffered a very great loss in the death of Professor V. G. Barbour, who died in June 1901, at Minneapolis, whither he had gone for recuperation and hospital treatment. Professor Barbour began his work in the early days of the institution as reorganized under the Land Grant Endowment Act, was practically the founder and was up to his death the life and soul of the Department of Engineering, and of all that branch of the institution which comes under the general name of the College of the Mechanic Arts. Intellectually well endowed and highly trained both in the theory and practice of his specialty, he added to the learning of his subjects—which it is not difficult to secure gifts and powers as a teacher such as any institution finds to be among the rarest and most precious of its possessions. As an instructor, he had not only the power to help brilliant men to make the most of their abilities, but the insight and patience and loving interest which made many useful and successful men out of youth whom other teachers might have found dull and incapable. Few engineering departments of equal age have sent out more men of mark in the profession, and "Professor Barbour's men" would one and all testify that they have owed the largest part of their success to the faithful instruction and stimulating influence of their beloved and now revered professor.

PROFESSORS AND INSTRUCTORS.

But few changes have been made in the corps of professors and instructors since the last report. The bulk of the Faculty of the institution is made up of permanent professors. In the Collegiate Departments out of a Faculty of thirty-three only five are young instructors under temporary appointment. And in most cases the members of the lower classes come into contact with the older teachers. At the same time, without disparaging the superior value of instruction and influence coming from teachers of experience and of accumulated attainments, something may be said in favor of having in the corps of instructors a fair number of younger men. Such men bring into an institution the new ideas and new methods they have acquired in the great schools of learning from which they now generally come, and in which the latest and highest results of learning are concentrated. They have not fallen into the ruts which are the bane of teaching as of all other pursuits. They bring enthusiasm from the newest attainments in science and philosophy. They are nearer to the students in age and sympathies. They are candidates for promotion and have every reason for exertion both in study and in teaching. On the whole it may be said that that institution is best equipped as regards its Faculty which can afford to give both its older and younger students the benefits of tuition by mature teachers, and which has a corps of young instructors in training for higher positions in the same or in some other institution. In respect to the ability and efficiency in teaching of its body of teachers this institution need not fear comparison with others of its kind.

COMPENSATION OF TEACHERS.

The recent articles of Professor Münsterberg comparing American and German institutions of learning have called public attention to the inadequate payment of the higher teachers in our colleges and universities. The salaries of such teachers are about the same as the incomes of ordinary professional men, lawyers, physicians, clergymen and local government officials. It would seem that in order to secure the kind of men desired as leaders of thought, and masters of research in their specialties—and such men the head professors in a college should be-the salaries should rather compare with those of judges, higher government officers and the leading men in the learned professions. An additional reason for increased salaries in our day is the greatly increased cost of the apparatus of learning in all departments. Large public libraries and well-equipped laboratories do not do away with the necessity for the costly private apparatus for study which an ambitious and progressive teacher cannot forego without loss to himself and to the institution he serves.

STUDENTS.

For several years the number entering the freshman class in all the Collegiate Departments has been about one hundred; the number graduated has been between fifty and sixty. This large falling off in numbers from entrance to graduation has been the subject of much solicitude and study on the part of the Faculty. A part of it is inevitable, due to inadequate preparation, resulting in discouragement and failure when the tests of scholarship come; to lack of ability for the more advanced studies; to lack of the moral purpose and energy required for a four years course pursued often in face of obstacles and hardships; to the superior attraction tions of business to those whom even a partial education, especially in the technical departments, makes available in the profitable industries of a prosperous time. It is surprising how few fail from ill health or from pecuniary disability. But when all these deductions are made there would seem to be still a large salvable margin, and to the rescue of these the Faculty have given much thought. It is hoped that something is being accomplished by the system of "Advisers," giving the student the benefit of the counsel of some member of the Faculty designated in accordance with the student's own choice; by the effort to cultivate a more cordial relation of intimacy between students and instructors; and by regular and frequent intimations, cautionary and suggestive, based on reports from instructors regarding the students' standing, dangers and needs from time to time.

DISTRIBUTION OF STUDIES.

In view of the large range of studies which by the terms of the Congressional Grants the institution is required to offer, it is interesting, and on the whole gratifying, to see what choices students make of the courses and subjects within their reach. Using the classification prescribed by the Bureau of Education at Washington for the reports annually made to the Superintendent of Education, we find the number pursuing classical studies (for the A. B. degree) to be sixty-five; studies of general culture (for the degree of Ph. B.) sixty-three; civil engineering, thirty-seven; electrical engineering, thirty-two; mechanical engineering, nineteen; chemical engineering, thirty-six. Those studying the modern languages were: French, one hundred and one; German, one hundred and thirty-five; Spanish, eighteen; Italian, seven; the higher mathematics, one hundred and one; physics, forty: political and social sciences, sixty-six; biology, sixty-seven; other natural sciences, fifty-four; philosophy, seventy-four.

GYMNASIUM AND DRILL HALL.

This much needed and long labored for building has at last been secured and completed. It is a structure of brick with brownstone trimmings, measuring 100 by 140 feet, containing a large hall 86 by 100 feet, designed for gymnastic and drill exercises, a bowling alley, shooting gallery, running gallery, lockers and bath rooms, swimming tank, armory and instruction rooms. It is a plain but architecturally well designed and pleasing building, grouping well with the other buildings upon the campus. It is located so as to be easily accessible from the street and to be available as an assembly room for college and other functions for which it is admirably adapted and likely to be much used. It has already been found serviceable for the meeting of State Teachers Association and of the American Institute of Instruction and of the State Musical Festival. It is being gradually equipped with the best modern apparatus required for physical culture. The cost of the building, grading, etc., has been about $25,000, and $5,000 will be needed for completing the equipment and apparatus, half of which has already been expended. The Alumni and friends of the University have furnished about half of the total expense, leaving about $15,000 as a debt until some liberal friend or the State Legislature come forward and cancel it. view of the fact that Senator Morrill once made an earnest plea to the Legislature for an appropriation to build such a hall, especially for military drill in which he was greatly interested, and that there is now in the State no building or other public monument to commemorate Mr. Morrill's great services to education, it would be a fitting and graceful act on the part of the Legislature to appropriate a sum of $15,000 for this purpose, on condition that the Trustees would name the building "The Morrill Hall," a condition which they would undoubtedly be most happy to fulfil.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL CULTURE.

As a natural sequence to the building of the gymnasium, or rather as part of the same general plan, the Trustees have appointed a physical director, Mr. A. H. Cloudman, formerly assistant physical director at Bowdoin College and an athlete of repute, and will hereafter require all male students to take part in prescribed physical exercise. The Trustees regard this step as one of the most important which they have taken in recent times, and one which will in their judgment conduce materially to the physical health and development of our young men and to the morale and wholesomeness of college life.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

During the past two years the Secretary of War has not been able to detail military officers on the active list to the Land Grant Colleges as professors of military science and tactics. By an order of the War Department in February last, Major John H. Duval, retired, was detailed to this duty, but unfortunately just as he was prepared to enter upon his service, his health completely broke down, so that he was compelled to resign his appointment, and the Trustees have not succeeded in filling the vacancy. During most of this time, however, the military organization has been kept up with a very gratifying degree of proficiency by undergraduate officers of the student battalion. The military impulse imparted to the Cadet Corps by Lieutenant now

Captain C. J. Bailey during his term of service in the institution has not ceased to be felt—which accounts in part for the success of the Department in the absence of a United States officer in command. Special credit is due to Royden E. Beebe, now a lieutenant in the regular army of the United States, and to Don M. Rice, who respectively commanded the student battalion as majors during their senior years.

It is understood that the Secretary of War will, with the beginning of the coming collegiate year, detail active officers of the regular army to the national colleges as before the Spanish war, and in that event we may hope again to secure an officer who will give to the Department the importance which was contemplated for it in the Act of Congress founding Colleges of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

MECHANICAL DEPARTMENT.

The growth of this Department requiring an extension of its buildings and apparatus, the building hitherto used as a foundry has been added to the forge room and an extension is being erected for the foundry. The forge room will be equipped with twenty new down-draft forges, which will be donated by Mr. Eugene N. Foss, class of '81, of the "Sturtevant Blower Co.," and the remainder of the apparatus and new tools required will be given by Mr. John H. Converse. As was predicted in a former report the attractions of this Department for bright boys of a mechanical turn, and the high character of the training it affords, both educational and technical, are being more and more appreciated in accordance with their merits.

THE LIBRARY.

To the 59,433 volumes in the University Library reported in 1900, there have been added during the past two years 4,779 volumes, making a total of 64,212 bound volumes. The number of pamphlets, including unbound serials of all kinds, has been increased from an estimated number of 30,000 to 31,393.

At this rate of increase, the shelf room of the Billings Library, which at the time of its erection seemed ample for a long time to come, will in a very short time be fully occupied. The question is already pressing upon us whether it will then be advisable to make over the present book room with its commodious and inviting alcoves into a stack room, or to build a stack room annex, or wing, running eastward parallel to the Marsh Room. One or other of these changes will soon be necessary. The greatly increased cost of maintenance and service, now far outrunning the Billings endowment, also raises a serious financial problem.

A few years ago almost any college librarian or library committee would have said that the most urgent need of a library is the means for purchasing books. A more serious consideration which now perplexes curators of libraries is the cost of caring for books. Since library management became a profession, the cost of caring for books has been greatly increased—carrying with it, of course, the greatly increased usefulness of the books so cared for. Libraries cannot now afford to accept miscellaneous gifts of books, if accompanied with the condition that they must receive the costly attention given to books of real value. The time has come when libraries must make some sort of classification of books as being of greater or less value-some not being worth the cost of cataloguing, shelving, and inventorying from time to time—and relegating those of inferior value to some out station where they will require no further supervision, or to the refuse heap or the flames.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The great need of the Medical Department at this time is a new building, and the condition and prospects of the Department are such as to justify and even necessitate the call for such a building. The attendance which was, accord ing to expectations, somewhat diminished in consequence of the change to a full four years graded course with higher entrance requirements, has already recovered its former numbers, and bids fair to be steadily increased in the future. But the new standards of medical education require facilities for class instruction and for individual laboratory work in anatomy, chemistry and microscopy which the space now at command cannot provide. It has been proposed in connection with the Fiftieth Annual Commencement of the Medical Department occurring in 1903, that an effort be made among the Alumni of the Department and the friends of medical education to start the raising of a fund to be devoted to the erection of at least a part of the required building, which to meet the full demands of the Department would involve the expenditure of at least $100,000.

THE BOTANICAL DEPARTMENT.

Two Notable Herbaria for the University.

During the past year the University has become possessed of two additions to its botanical collections which are unique in character and of the highest scientific value. These are the collections of the two great botanical authorities of Vermont, Cyrus G. Pringle, the famous collector, of Charlotte, and Charles C. Frost, the "shoemaker botanist, of Brattleboro." We cannot better describe these collections than by condensing first an article written for the University Cynic by Prof. L. R. Jones, and secondly a contribution to the Free Press by Hon. G. G. Benedict, of Burlington.

THE FROST COLLECTION OF CRYPTOGAMOUS PLANTS.

Charles C. Frost was born in Brattleboro, Vt., in 1805 and died there in 1880. His father was a maker of and dealer in shoes and the son continued in this occupation, occupying the same store for forty-nine years. He was a respected and successful business man, accumulating a modest fortune, but throughout his life he devoted his spare moments to scholarly pursuits. His preparatory work was limited to the village school and was terminated abruptly when he was fifteen years old by some difficulty with a teacher. From this time on he was self-educated. In his earlier manhood he was an ardent student of mathematics and astronomy and his library contains a considerable series of books on these sub-He was also interested in physics and chemistry, as well as botany. It is said that his carnest attention to botany began with the advice of his physician that he spend at least an hour at a time twice each day in out-door exercise. preferably botanizing. This regimen conscientiously followed not only speedily altered Mr. Frost's health for the better, but soon developed an eager but quiet enthusiasm in the study of plants which continued and increased throughout the remainder of his life. He soon began to specialize upon the lower plants, which were apparently the more fascinating to him because of the great difficulties their study presented. appreciate these one must recall that he began working some seventy-five years ago, when his microscope must be imported from France at large cost, the literature was fragmentary and difficult to obtain and his American associates were a half dozen men scattered in as many States. obtained the standard works in English he soon found it imperative if he were to continue his studies that he secure and consult others in Latin, French and German. daunted he did this, and it is said that in six months after buying his Latin grammar he had mastered it sufficiently to read the scientific works in this language. The oldest citizens of Brattleboro relate how when a customer called at his place of business he almost invariably laid down a botanical or other book in order to wait upon him and took it up again immediately on finishing. Every spare moment was thus utilized for his studies. His son relates how he frequently spent several hours in the woods in the fresh early morning before the time for opening the store, and a half hour at noon was regularly passed in his attic study.

As a result of his quiet, industrious, critical study he came to be recognized in his later years as the best American authority on certain groups of the lower plants, and he numbered among his correspondents noted specialists in similar lines in the various universities of Europe as well as Amer-He was a modest man, who repeatedly declined honorary degrees and offers of membership in scientific societies. He was apparently reluctant to publish much, and his library contains a number of carefully written papers never sent to the printer. His chief contributions are two or three monographs upon groups of the fungi, a list of the flowerless plants of northern New England, and largest and most important, the cryptogamic portion of the "Catalogue of Plants Growing without Cultivation within Thirty Miles of Amherst College." This was a very exhaustive list, published under the editorship of Prof. Tuckerman, the veteran and able professor of botany of Amherst College in 1875. It is a high tribute to Mr. Frost's genius that he, the Brattleboro shoemaker, should be chosen to prepare the most difficult chapters in this list of the plants of Amherst, the home of two colleges.

After Mr. Frost's death his botanical library and collections were transferred to the Brattleboro Society of Natural History, and kept in the public library building until this spring. Their transfer to our University was upon the recommendation and with the aid of the officers of the local society, especially Mrs. E. V. Davenport and Judge H. H. Wheeler, and it was made possible by the generous attitude of Mr. Wells S. Frost, the son of the botanist.

The collection in the Williams Science Hall consists of the botanical library and the herbarium. The former includes about one hundred books. Most of these bear dates between 1825 and 1860. Many of them are rare and of much scientific interest and value, because now difficult to obtain. The herbarium includes several thousand specimens, largely well labelled and packed in boxes. The majority of these are mosses, lichens and fungi, and thus admirably supplement the collections of the University and also those to be brought by Mr. Pringle.

THE PRINGLE HERBARIUM.

Cyrus G. Pringle is a native of Charlotte, in this State. His love of plants was inborn in him, and interest in botany marked his boyhood. In his manhood he became a horticulturist, taking especial interest in the originating and development of new varieties of grains and other plants by hybridization, in which branch of his profession he was a pioneer in America. He developed new varieties of oats and wheat, which became and remain standard varieties in the grain-growing regions of our country and have added untold wealth to the great West. He became, among other things, a popular grower of seeds and bulbs for the wholesale trade, and when he disposed of his business in that line, some twenty years or more ago, he had the greatest variety of hily bulbs, not in America alone, but in the world. Before retiring from his seed and bulb business he had begun the search for and collecting of rare ferns and other little-known plants on the slopes and in the rarely visited notches and ravines of the Green Mountain range. His success in such researches brought him into relations with Dr. Asa Gray, of Harvard College, known through the scientific world as one of the ablest and most philosophic of botanists, and author of a number of the most valuable works in botany. Dr. Gray induced him to make extended collections of Vermont plants for Harvard and other scientific institutions in this country and Europe. Unknown to the great majority even of intelligent Vermonters he was for years discovering hitherto unknown plants, and forwarding specimens of these and of the Vermont flora generally, selected and preserved with rare skill, to the botanic laboratories of England, Germany, France and other European countries, as well as to those of our own land, till Vermont as a botanic region of rare interest and productiveness, became perhaps better known to scientific botanists everywhere than any other region of like extent in America. In time he pushed his searches into the St. Lawrence valley and the Maine woods, adding all the while to his successes and distinction as a collector.

In 1880 he was engaged by the United States forestry department to explore the forests of various distant States, in which work he was associated with Dr. Sargeant, of the famous Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University. A little later he was made the official botanical collector of that university. In this work he has explored the Rocky Mountains and Pacific coast ranges, and for some eighteen years past has made annual exploring tours in Mexico, the hitherto richest unexplored field in America. For this service he qualified himself by acquiring the Spanish language. secured the protection and patronage of the Mexican government by becoming the official botanic collector for that country, without which protection he could never have prosecuted his researches in the wild and unexplored regions of that country. From these visits he has brought back each year many thousands of specimens of plants representing hundreds of different kinds, a large proportion of which have been wholly new to botanists everywhere.

While he has been continually forwarding his specimens to the leading scientific institutions of Europe and America, and has thus become recognized by botanists everywhere as the ablest living field botanist, he has reserved the choicest specimens of each plant and flower for his own herbarium. This now comprises fifty thousand mounted specimens, some sixteen thousand of which—or ten times as many kinds of the higher plants as exist in Vermont—were collected by him in Mexico. Many thousands of other most interesting and valuable specimens he has secured by exchanges. Hundreds of newly discovered plants have been named after Mr. Pringle in recognition of his unique service. His collection is valuable not only on account of its extent and character but by reason of the peculiar skill exercised by Mr. Pringle in selecting and preserving the specimens. In such skill, it is not too much to say, he has no peer in this country or in Europe.

Mr. Pringle's herbarium has hitherto been housed in his farm house in Charlotte, where, of course, it has been in a measure out of reach and exposed to the risk of destruction by fire. He has received valuable offers to transfer it to other States, accompanied by flattering appointments for himself. But with laudable loyalty to his native State he has been unwilling to have it leave Vermont, and recognizing the fact that the University of Vermont is acquiring a high standing as a scientific center, and that it possesses in the Williams Science Hall one of the best and most thoroughly fire-proof buildings in the country, he has accepted offers from the University which will in the course of a few weeks bring his herbarium to the University, where a suite of rooms is in process of equipment in the Science building for the proper preservation and development of the collection. Mr. Pringle has also accepted an appointment as the official keeper of the herbarium. He will continue his explorations and the collection will increase from year to year in interest and value. Taking into account the especial care used in the selection and mounting of the specimens, the collection is pronounced by competent judges the best large collection of its kind in existence.

In order to secure the herbarium as above described as the permanent property of the University and to provide for its care and enlargement and to retain the services of Mr. Pringle in connection therewith, a special fund for the benefit of the Botanical Department is being raised, to which Dr. W. Seward Webb, of Shelburne, has contributed $6,000 and other friends have added generous sums.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND ECONOMICS.

In accordance with the announcement made in the last Report the new Department of Commerce and Economics was organized in October, 1900, and has been in operation

Two teachers have given their time for the past two years. wholly to subjects in this department—Prof. Seaman, who has conducted classes in Economics, Government Finance. Banking and American Civil Institutions, and Mr. W. T. Jackman, who has taught the practical branches. Accounting. Stenography and Typewriting. As many-probably a majority—of students do not choose their life work before entering college, and as it is intended to make the course the sequel of a liberal rather than a strictly technical education, the comparatively small number of those who have thus far enrolled themselves for this course is not an indication of the importance which it is certain in time to attain. much as the whole purpose and aim of the project are new. not only to the general public, but even to scholastic circles. to teachers and to preparatory schools and others who may give advice to young men choosing their educational career, reference is here made to the Bulletin setting forth in detail the plan, objects and methods of the course. We repeat the general statement made in the last report:

This course is in no sense a reproduction or a rival of the "business college," but is designed to give a liberal education which shall be introductory to a business career, or in the words of Prof. James Bryce, of England, to institute "a system of higher education which stands in the same relation to the calling of the manufacturer, the merchant and other men of business, as the medical schools of the universities to that of doctor—a system, that is, which provides a scientific training in the structure and organization of modern industry and commerce and the general causes and criteria of prosperity."

CHEMICAL DEPARTMENT.

This department, with its splendid equipment of extensive laboratories and complete apparatus included in the Williams gift, and with its efficient corps of instructors, is attracting an increasing number of students, and is sending out a body of young men well trained in their specialty who are making their mark in both scientific and industrial chemistry. A valuable addition has recently been made to the resources of the department in the form of a special chemical library, consisting of 400 volumes, mainly complete sets of German chemical journals. The fund for securing this collection was raised by subscriptions among the friends of the department, the largest contribution, $1,000, being made by Mr. Frederick F. Ayer of Lowell, Mass. The same generous friend has sent his check for $2,500 to be invested for the purpose of securing the annual volumes of the several series of journals.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

This department still adheres to the policy mapped out some ten years ago, placing it, as regards preparation for admission, upon a par with the other scientific departments of the University. Its entrance requirements to day call for such maturity of mind as will enable the incoming student to do collegiate rather than high school work. The course of study, while broad in its scope, has for its fundamental conception the teaching of agriculture and cognate subjects. The methods pursued to that end, however, have in view more the development of the thinking power than the accumulation of facts. The aim is to enlarge rather than to crowd the brain. Emphasis is placed upon scientific principles rather than on empirical methods, on reasons rather than ways, and the student is taught why a thing is done that he may the better know how to do it.

One of the serious difficulties which has confronted the department has been its inability to furnish enough of its graduates to meet the demands for them. At one time during the past winter six applications from parties desiring farm superintendents were for lack of available material referred to one student, and that one not a graduate. There were other men on the grounds or among the graduates, but their tastes or aptitudes did not run in this particular line. Within three days from the present writing four letters have been received asking for graduates to fill positions, one, a twelve hundred dollar position as a dairy teacher, another, a responsible place in a large cream separator office, and two, farm superintendencies on large farms. A graduate of a recent class had within a year three opportunities to go into experiment station work in as many different States, but preferred to take up farming. The head of the office of Experiment Stations at Washington states that the Agricultural Colleges of the country are not turning out agricultural graduates fast enough to supply experiment station and departmental needs. Other institutions report the same condition, a dearth of graduates for responsible positions which are open to them.

The superficial observer might think this a proof that collegiate agricultural training educates away from the farm. Such a surmise, however, would be unwarranted. Half of the entire number of living graduates of the past ten years from this department are to-day farming; a fifth of them are employed in agricultural college teaching, in experiment station work, or in the National Department of Agriculture; nearly three-fourths are engaged in pursuits which are directly allied to agriculture; and but a quarter, at the most, can be said in any sense to have been weaned away from farm life. Much the larger share of those non-graduates, who during the past ten years for one reason and another (generally financial stress) have been unable to complete their course, are engaged in farming operations to-day, and mostly in Vermont. It should be said, moreover, that of the six hundred or more dairy school students nearly every one is to-day busied in dairy, creamery or cheese factory work or is engaged in farming.

It is felt that the results of the past ten years' work have amply justified the policy of the department in raising its standards. Its students to-day are more in number than ever before, although still far too few; its standing on the campus was never better; and its graduates and under-graduates are esteemed as men among men. Yet it is realized that attention is due to those whose opportunities for extensive preparation for entrance are limited, or who cannot afford the investment in time or money needed for the prolonged residence of a four years' course. To such are offered selections of special studies of a more purely agricultural from the regular four years' course curriculum for terms of from a few weeks to two years in length.

Tuition is free in the agricultural department. Incidental fees are remitted, as well as those for required chemistry. A limited number of rooms in the college dormitories are offered at a free rental, and others are available at a low rental. There is opportunity for a limited number of young men to do work which will in part defray expenses for board. Considering the character of the instruction given, the opportunities for graduates, and the low cost to the student of the instruction, it would seem as if there ought to be a great many young men in Vermont who could afford to put in the time (for that is the main investment) needed to take the agricultural course.

THE DAIRY SCHOOL.

For eleven successive winters fifty or more men—young, middle aged and old—have gathered at the University to study modern dairying. Instruction has been given by lecture and by lantern work, by text book and by quiz, by practical manual labor with separators, churns and testers, and by head work over creamery mathematics. From half-past eight until dark, or later, six days in the week, the work goes Much has been done that was worth doing; but what has been done is far less than what might have been accomplished had it not been that the dairy school building is small, ill-fitted for the purpose, and inadequately equipped. There are few more urgent needs at this University than for an enlarged opportunity to afford dairy instruction. Every year more students apply than can be admitted, and every year more are admitted than can be taught properly in the overcrowded rooms. It is lamentable that in a State so largely given over to dairying as is Vermont, better facilities and better instruction in this line cannot be given. The Vermont school opened its doors in 1891. It was the second institution of its kind in the country. It was for a few years, as compard with other schools, of high grade; but its lack of advantages has now pushed it far in the rear. In material things it is no better off to-day than it was ten years ago.

Dairy schools are now established in almost every State in the Union. In a few, where the industry is unimportant, the school is of small account. In every State where dairying is a prominent industry, except Vermont, there is a well equipped building, erected with State funds, for the purpose, in part at least, of dairy instruction. Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Tennessee, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, California, have erected good dairy school buildings. The list might almost be doubled without exhausting the number of the schools that are better equipped in this way than is the Vermont school.

It is a common notion that the national grants to agricultural colleges are available for the construction of buildings. On the contrary, not a cent can be thus spent. The institution must supply all buildings from its own funds; or the State must erect them. Vermont stands alone among the States of the Union in that it never has invested a dollar in bricks and mortar at its State College. Every other commonwealth has appropriated something towards buildings at its educational center.

Few dairy schools have had as large a number of dairy students; few, if any, teach classes more earnest or more eager to learn; and none are more sadly handicapped for lack Dairying is the principal industry in this agricultural State, the cow a central figure in her State seal. What more appropriate grant could be made to education in Vermont than properly to habilitate her dairy school? Architectural elegance is not needed, but the means whereby the school can do what it ought to do for the dairying interests is an imperative necessity. This need has been called to the attention of your predecessors each term for the past four sessions. It is sincerely trusted that this reiterated request will not much longer be denied.

EXPERIMENT STATION.

The work of the Experiment Station during the past two years has been along the same lines as those hitherto pursued, viz.: Dairying, animal husbandry, analyses of commercial fertilizers and feeding stuffs, plant diseases, horticulture, etc. Its limited income and its well grounded policy of strengthening existing lines rather than of taking up new ones will doubtless prevent much further expansion.

The following bulletins and reports have been issued since the last biennial report to the Legislature:

1900.

December. No. 83. Apples of the Fameuse Type, 12 pages.

1901.

January. No. 84, Analyses of Commercial Feeding Stuffs, 16 pages.

February. No. 85. Potato Scab and Its Prevention, 12 pages.

March. No. 86. Analyses of Commercial Feltilizers, 24 pages.

Thirteenth Annual Report, 256 pages.

May. No. 87, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 48 pages.

October. No. 88. Analyses of Commercial Feeding Stuffs, 16 pages.

November. No. 89. Plum Culture, 12 pages.

December. No. 90. Apple Growing in Addison County, 8 pages.

February. No. 91. Analyses of Commercial Feeding Stuffs, 15 pages.

April. No. 92. Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 24 pages.

Fourteenth Annual Report, 233 pages.

May. No. 93. Commercial Fertilizers, 56 pages.

May. No. 94. Vermont Grasses and Clovers, 48 pages.

June. No. 95. A Poisonous Plant, the Common Horse-tail (Equisetum arvense), 8 pages.

During the two years there have been issued 788 pages of printed matter. The Fifteenth Annual Report, which will contain in the vicinity of 250 pages, will be distributed during the coming winter. A few poster bulletins and bi-weekly newspaper bulletins have been likewise issued. The latter have been quite generally printed by the State press and the agricultural papers of the country. The report and regular bulletins are printed in editions of 12,500.

This showing, however, does not indicate the entire range of the station's activities. It seeks to promote the agricultural interests of Vermont in a fivefold manner:

- 1. By the scientific investigation of matters pertaining to agriculture and the publication of the results of its experimental work in the form of bulletins and reports, and also through the medium of the agricultural, scientific and general press.
- 2. By sampling, analyzing and reporting the quality of the sundry commercial fertilizers, feeding stuffs, etc., sold in Vermont, and by supervising certain matters related to the conduct of the milk-test system at creameries and cheese factories.
- 3. By direct correspondence with individuals of all classes, particularly with farmers, and by the personal contact of members of the station staff with the farming community at institutes, fairs, through visitation, etc.
- 4. By analyzing miscellaneous agricultural materials for residents of the State in accordance with section 263 of the Vermont statutes.
- 5. By so conducting its farming operations that visible and tangible evidence may be shown of the usefulness of science in agriculture; or, in other words, affording daily object lessons in good modern farming.

There is every reason to believe that the station is proving more helpful to its constituency every year. This is shown by kindly words of appreciation, written and spoken, by increased calls upon it for advice and assistance and by the rapid growth of its mailing list. Indeed it is difficult to see how it would have been possible to have published as much and distributed as widely as has been done during the past three years had it not been for the appropriation for printing passed by the Legislature of 1898.

NEEDED REVISION OF FERTILIZER AND FEEDING STUFFS LAWS.

The Legislatures of 1886 and of 1898 passed laws commonly known as the fertilizer law and the feeding stuffs law. These enactments require the experiment station to exercise supervision over these two agricultural commodities, to sample them in open market, to analyze them and to publish results. No appropriation is made to the station to cover the expenses incurred in the execution of these laws, but license and inspection taxes are assessed, the proceeds of which are thus expended.

Up to two years ago and for several years the income from fertilizer licenses has varied from $1,700 to $2,000. This sum has sufficed for a fairly satisfactory execution of the law. The recent merging of several of the companies into one cut down the income from license fees for 1901 to $900 and for 1902 to $800, without in any respect whatsoever reducing the obligations of the station under the law or lessening the cost of its execution. This condition is obviously unfortunate. The funds received from the National grant cannot be used in the enforcement of State laws. Your honorable body will therefore be asked so to modify the fertilizer legislation of the State as to provide a remedy.

Vermont was the third State to pass a feeding stuffs inspection law. It was more or less of an experiment. Four years' experience with the law, as well as the passage of enactment similar in intent but different in character in eight other States during this time, have disclosed several imperfections. The most serious feature of the law as it exists at present is that the burden of expense rests upon the local retailer rather than upon the manufacturer. So far as the inspection is concerned it is thought that the law has thoroughly approved itself. There is clearly less adulteration of feeds than there were some years ago, and the feeds as sold to-day are of distinctly better grade than they were prior to the enactment of the law. A change in the method of raising revenue, however, shifting it from the retailer to the manufacturer, it is thought, will be of advantage. It is hoped that a bill of this character may be favorably considered by the Legislature.

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

The following items taken in part from the reports of the Treasurer to the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture, and in part from the reports of the same to the Trustees of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College, will sufficiently set forth the financial condition of the institution during the last biennial period:

The figures are for the fiscal years ending June 1, 1901 and 1902. The finances of the medical department and of the Experiment Station are not included.

CONCLUSION.

Again reminding your honorable body that the institution which we represent, as being the State University, is under the wardship and is entitled to the special consideration and patronage of the official guardians of the interests and honor of the State, and bespeaking your studious attention to the condition and prospects of the Institution as herein presented and your watchful regard to its welfare in every way within your province, the Trustees respectfully submit, as above, their biennial Report, as required by the charter of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College.

For the Trustees,

M. H. BUCKHAM,
President.

REPORT.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., August 21, 1902.

To His Excellency William W. Stickney, Governor of Vermont:

SIR:-We have the honor of submitting the following (partial) biennial report of the Board of Dental Examiners. A complete report cannot be made at this time as another meeting of the Board for the examination of candidates to practice will be held in October.

The present law regulating the practice of dentistry has now been in operation four years, and we think is very effective, satisfactory to the profession and a protection to the public. It has been the aim of this Board to raise the standard of our profession and bring it to a level of what it is in adjoining States, although we have been handicapped some-Inasmuch as we would like to have every candidate to practice dentistry exhibit before the Board his skill in prosthetic or mechanical dentistry, so far we have been unable to bring this about.

All candidates have been required to pass a written examination in anatomy, physiology, bacteriology, chemistry, metallurgy, pathology, therapeutics, surgery, materia-medica, anaesthesia, operative and prosthetic dentistry, also to fill one or more teeth with gold for a patient in the presence of the Board.

Since the appointment of the Board of Dental examiners by your Honor four meetings have been held, one special March 20, 1901, when the Board organized by electing Thomas Mound, Rutland, president, and George F. Cheney, St. Johnsbury, secretary and treasurer.

Three meetings have been held for the examination of candidates to practice dentistry. All three meetings were at Montpelier; the first July 10-12, 1901. At this meeting fifteen presented themselves for examination; twelve passing a satisfactory examination were licensed; two were rejected; one was held over until he performed a satisfactory operation for a patient.

The second meeting was December 11–13, 1901.

candidates were examined and licensed.

The third meeting was July 9-11, 1902. Thirteen candidates were examined, nine were licensed and four were asked to perform another operation in gold filling at some future meeting.

Receipts and expenditures are as followed	lows:

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE F. CHENEY, Secretary and Treasurer.

THOMAS MOUND, President, Rutland.

Vermont Dental Law.

An Act to Regulate the Practice of Dentistry. Vermont Statutes, Chapter 191, and as Amended in Act 114 of the Legislature of 1898.

Smc. 1. A Board of Dental Examiners is hereby created, which shall consist of five dental graduates or practitioners, to be appointed by the Governor in the months of November biennially and to hold office two years from the first day of the following December, and until their successors are appointed. Vacancies shall be filled by the Governor.

SEC. 2. The meetings of the Board shall be held annually, or oftener, on the call of three members, who shall give thirty days' notice thereof in at least three dental journals circulating in this State.

SEC. $\overline{3}$. The Board shall at its meetings examine applicants and grant a license to such persons as they find qualifled, on the payment of ten dollars.

- SEC. 4. Members of the Board shall receive three dollars a day and necessary expenses for time spent in examining applicants and granting licenses, if the fees received from applicants during the biennial term in which such service is rendered are sufficient to pay the same; and at the end of each biennial term the Board shall file with the State Auditor a report of its receipts and disbursements, verified by oath, and shall pay to the State Treasurer any excess remaining in its hands.
- SEC. 5. If a person without a license practices dentistry for a compensation or reward, he shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars and not less than twenty-five dollars. But this section shall not apply to extracting teeth by a physician or surgeon licensed under the provisions of chapter 190 of the Vermont Statutes.
- SEC. 6. The Board shall keep a book in which it shall enter the name of each person licensed.
- SEC. 7. A person who receives a license from the Board shall, within thirty days from the date thereof, cause it to be recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall be entitled to twenty-five cents for recording the same.
- SEC. 8. If a person does not cause his license to be recorded within the time required by the preceding section, he shall forfeit the same, and shall not be relicensed until he has paid the Board ten dollars.

SEC. 9. This law shall take effect from its passage.

Approved November 8, 1898.
